

of eight or ten young ladies wearing the letters "W. G. I. A." They came without escorts, hence it took but little talent to divine that "W. G. I. A. meant "We Go It Alone." The new society had a brilliant but brief existence. After shining as stars of the first magnitude in the reception, the members were scared out of their wits by a cow, on their way home, and were utterly routed by the appearance of a stray dog. A tumultuous and inglorious flight to the maternal domicile was the last act of the W. G. I. A. society. Peace to its ashes.

A meeting of all the students was called last week to consider the advisability of publishing an annual. It was the unanimous opinion of the meeting that it would be a most pious scheme to get up as blood-curdling a publication as possible. After some discussion it was decided that each class should elect an editor, and that there should also be two editors-at-large, chosen by the whole body of students. The elections of editors resulted as follows: Senior, Holmes; Junior, Warner; Sophomore, Jones; Freshman, Fulmer; editors-at-large Clark and McMillan. It is our first attempt at this kind of thing, but if the spirit of our old Putton Buster can animate the thing, it will be a volume of so called "priceless" value to every student. Every one should give it a hearty support in the way of suggestions and subscriptions.

VACATION POINTS.

Warner fed hogs at Roca.

Forsyth loafed in Lincoln.

Al Wagner went home to stay. He is now teaching school near Beatrice.

Breech masqueraded as a dude among the pretty school mams of the State Association.

Miss Schell returned after the recess, but only long enough to bid adieu to the institution.

Knight, Gambee, Cunningham, Wonder & Co. sojourned under the paternal ridge-pole at Blue Springs.

Munger, the infant first prep, was taken to Nebraska City and tenderly nursed through the week by his mamma.

The maeds. scattered with great unanimity at the close of last term and are engaged in the peaceful pursuit of the wherewith to attend the next sesion.

The ubiquitous "Fatty" Child is no longer under the jurisdiction of the principal of the Latin School. He failed to "show up" after the vacation.

Miss S. Glen Talbot secured a good rest and a huge pair of goggles, when at home. The latter acquisition is now one of the sights of the institution.

Al. Williams, the pitcher of base ball curves, will not return this term. His absence will render the national game comparatively safe in this vicinity.

Lichty went west to visit his brother in Norton Co., Kan. The famine that usually follows his peregrinations in that direction is said to be very severe this season.

Will Richardson went home and has not been heard from. It is safe to say that he is quietly enjoying rural life on the banks of the romantic Weeping Water.

Smith, F. E., spent his time working during the day in the office of architect Roberts. The evenings he devoted to minstrel shows and theaters of all grades of morality.

C. G. McMillan talked so much during the recess, extolling the merits of his fraternity, as to bring on a severe attack of dyptheria. It left him with a more longitudinal appearance than ever, but his fluency of speech remains.

Clark and Bisbee put in twelve nights of revelry and debauch in church sociables and other free entertainments in the city. They tapered off with Peck's Bad Boy and a temperance lecture, and are now perpendicular again.
