PERSONAL

Gerwig did not go to Omaha this vacation. Didn't want to.

Joe Schofield, the tuba man, vacationed, as usual, at Geneva.

L. Chapin, '89, will not be with us this term, for which we are sorry.

C. Sumner Allen spent part of his vacation with his parents at Valpraiso.

E. C. Wiggernhorn is at Ashland at this writing enjoying a well-earned rest.

Miss Grace Pershing has been elected a member of the Palladian June class.

Miss Daley has been spending her vacation with Miss Dell Stratton at Ashland.

Anderson, '88, vacated at Genoa, the seat of the Indian School. Suggestive.

Our esteemed friend, Conny McMillan spent his vacation in his usual way—loafing.

Paulie Clark's papa did not send him money enough and he did not vacate at home.

Miss Julia Edgren, niece of Professor Edgren, returned to her home in Stromsburg last week.

Spurlock carries an "Annual" and so made several trips down from Plattsmouth during vacation.

The streets of Lincoln begin to be thronged with happy students. It does our heart good to see them.

Every member of the class in Electricity and Magnetism passed, in spite of some gloomy forebodings of Brainy people.

G. A. Beecher broke bread under the paternal ridge pole at Kearney while resting for a final onslaught on Prep. studies.

Ex-Supt. Bowers, formerly of Lincoln, but now principal of the Pawnee City schools attended the Association Thursday.

Miss Swischer, a former student, but at present a teacher in the Nebraska City schools, attended the meeting of teachers.

S. Glen Talbot has also concluded that there is no place like home, and will remain under her father's roof the coming term.

Miss Nora Gage remained in the city during the vacation, contrary to her usual custom. She is engaged in making up a little Greek.

The inter-state contest is to be held at Lawrence, Kansas, next month. It is expected that the University will send quite a delegation.

Among the old students of the University who were in attendance on the Teachers' Association we noticed Foote, Sullivan, Marsh and others.

Hugh T. Conley, formerly of '86, made us a call during vacation. He is about to launch out in the legal line at Nelson, the county seat of Nuckolis County.

Our fierce captain of the cadets, Roy George Coddington, hied himself to his manor in Kansas to spend his vacation and rumor has it that he will not be with us this term.

Alfred Pizey, he who had a long enough pole to knock off a persimmon in the shape of a Dutch grade of 98, went over to Tabor, Iowa, to revisit his old haunts while resting for next term.

F. E. Shepherd has become a brass collared minion of that soulless corporation, the B. & M. R. R. He is out with a surveying party, but where he is located no one but the B. & M. knows at this writing.

L. Charles Gambree went down to give the inhabitants of Blue Springs the benefit of his famous German translation. Barring his demonstrations in that line his conduct was satisfactory to the good people of the Gage County village.

W. C. Knight has at last received some patronage from the government. It is in the shape of a commission from the Smithsonian, and brings the young gentleman about twenty-five dollars in return for a pile of useless looking fossils. Congratulations.

David Dutchman Forsyth remained in the city "to do some work on a debate." Of course. The student who is in such a financial condition that he cannot buy a ticket to his home always finds that he has work on hand to keep him here during the vacation.

W. N. Fletcher is at home again after a hard term of study at the State University. Willie is known as one of the most studious young men of that institution and is determined to make his mark in the world. In January he was one of the arators in a contest of the famous Palladian society, and his effort was highly spoken of by all.—Thayer Co. Call.

From the Omaha Progress, the official organ of the Knights of Labor, we clip the following: "Mr. Frank Wheeler returned from the State University last week for a short vacation. He is known as one of the nicest young men connected with the University. Our readers will be glad to know that he is thinking seriously of joining the K. of L., his work as a student demonstrating clearly that he is a full fledged laboring man."
