

which an open discussion was enjoyed. The Club then adjourned to meet in the Lecture room, 3:30 P. M. on the first Saturday of next term.

The Nebraska Wesleyan University is now a thing of reality. It is to be located in this city, and already the board of trustees are looking around for a faculty and a corps of instructors such as will insure it a grand success from its very beginning. F. A. Stuff is talked of for President, C. S. Kathan for the chair of Theology, E. C. Wiggenhorn for chair of Chemistry and Allied Sciences, E. B. Crippen, Political Science, D. D. Forsyth, Modern Languages, and P. F. Clark for Janitor and Dean of the Faculty. We understand that Harry, our assistant janitor, has been recommended as janitor of the new institution, but will most probably be chosen to the chair of English Literature in order to leave the way clear for Mr. Clark, who is very highly recommended to the janitorship. This completes the list so far as yet announced, but we will apprise our readers of new elections as they occur. The above gentlemen are all known to us, and have our best recommendations, and our best wishes for ultimate success.

It was a matter of no small surprise to us when picking up the current number of a certain noted eastern college paper, we found more than two-thirds of the editorial notes written upon the subject of athletic contests. These contests were things of recent occurrence, of course, and we doubt not of interest to the students of that particular college, since they had taken part in each of the contests mentioned. But we were surprised that athletic subjects should constitute the only topics of interest and editorial importance. Furthermore, we doubt if it is the province of the college paper to mention every little squabble occasioned by some unfair ruling. This is nothing more or less than our eastern college paper has done; and when done, what has been accomplished? The matter is less near an amicable settlement than before. We hope that western institutions will long be spared these petty troubles, and their papers continue, as now, to discuss matters more weighty and of larger significance.
