IN THE FIELD OF SPORT

Cycling Notes. Don't forget your league tickets! Everybody come and see the races.

About a dozen members pedaled out to Raymond last Sunday morning. Good work may be expected from Condon and little Pixley of Omaha.

Several bicycle manufacturers in the east have donated valuable prizes for the meet. Arthur Sullivan promises to surprise some of his friends as he is riding in fine form.

Much credit is due Messrs. Reiersen and Seifert for their efforts in making the meet a success. The boys are training faithfully every evening at the fair grounds' track and are showing great speed.

There will be a big bicycle parade on the morning of the Fourth; there will be fully 1,000 wheels in line. There promises to be an elegant prize list. Twelve hundred dollars worth of prizes are already secured.

F. G. Barnett winner of the 10 mile road race was married last Tuesday evening. Success old man. There will be a smoker at the Grand hotel the evening after the races; a good time may be expected.

Chas. Kilpatrick, champion one leg rider of the world, is in the city, and giving exhibitions at Lincoln park. There will be about twenty racing

Hastings, Grand Island, Fremont, Plattsmouth, Nebraska City, Seward, Beatrice, Superior, Falls City, Fairbury, Stromsburg, Red Cloud and Chatham will send delegations.—World Herald, June 25.

The board of officers wish to announce that only League of American Wheelmen members will have the free privileges of entrance to grounds, smoker, etc., in this city on the Fourth. Badges will be distributed to all league members upon presentation of membership tickets or upon identification by one of the league officials. These badges, when displayed, will gain you admittance to the grounds and smoker and other entertainments given by the division during the day and evening. All others, not members of the league, must pay the regular admittance fees. League men will be made to feel that they are privileged characters through the league's influence.

Lacrosse Notes. W. A. C. Johnson and two or three other members of the Lincoln club will visit Kearney on July 4 to witness the match between Omaha and Kearney.

Since the Kearney game the Lincoln boys have been putting in some hard practice and are confident that they can defeat the "Midway Guests" the next time they meet. The stalwart gentlemen from Kearney will visit Lincoln about the end of July at which time the home team hopes to capture the pennant which now floats above the club house of the Kearney lacrosse club.

The secretary of the Shamrock lacrosse club of Montreal, the champion lacrosse club of the world, has written to the Lincoln boys for a date for a match to be played about the middle of July in the water—no club offer or anything else. But then it is so far off I guess they think there is plenty of time. I shall be on hand if Corbett is agreeable and if I don't win I imagine I shall render a good account of myself.

Races at the Fair Grounds. The Lincoln Roadster club will give a matinee Tuesday afternoon, July 4, at the fair grounds. There will be five races and a prize of $50 for each race.—two trots, two paces and a free for all mixed trotting and pacing race.

Boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 20, who furnish their own bathing suits, will be admitted to the great plunge in the new sanitarium, Fourteenth and M streets, ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE, Tuesday and Saturday mornings, July 4 and 5, upon the presentation of a COURIER coupon. Tuesday morning from 9 to 12 o'clock, for boys; Saturday morning, July 5, same hours, for girls.

The beauty and attractiveness of the Columbian souvenir of the cadet battalion of the University of Nebraska for 1910, is due to the energies of Lieutenant J. J. Pershing, and Mr. H. G. Whitmore, who managed the advertising. The cover is bound with cream and scarlet ribbons, the university colors, with the title in beautiful embossed gold letters. It contains a history of the battalion, written by Mr. H. B. Peterson, instructor in literature at the university. It also contains pictures of the various departments of the battalion with separate pictures of the officers and an excellent view of the campus.

give it the time it demands and will not stay in the way of some one that has more time than he.

"Alphabetical" K. will no doubt wear his uniform the next time, and by the way, he has not sent in his "resign". Strange the way different people look at a matter of this kind.

The "Comrade" denies the report that he is to make his first appearance this fall with our minstrels as he is an old timer at the "biz" and doesn't want to be classed with the other amateurs.

We have been drilling at the capitol grounds for the past few weeks and find it the coolest place in the city. We thought we would be away from the crowd, but always have an audience of fifty or more.

From the way several of the daily papers took up the resignation of one of our members one would think that the company was on the eve of disbanding, but such is not the case, and the present outlook for the company I think is better than any time since its organization.

Captain Campbell returned last Monday from the windy city and reports a big time. He saw several of the crack companies of the country drill and feels confident that with hard work (and plenty of it) we would stand a good show.

Pallor, languidness, and the appearance of ill-health being no longer fashionable among ladies, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is more largely resorted to as a tonic, alterative, nerve, stomachic, and builder-up of the system generally. This is as it should be. Ayer's is the best.

IN AMUSEMENT LINES

"The very pens that wrote of Edwin Booth an unlovely misanthrope during his life, are now vying with one another in an attempt to picture in the most brilliant hues the sweet and human sensibility that characterized him. Borrowing figures from every literature and rendering language a bankrupt in his behalf, they do not hesitate to attribute to him qualities that were never dreamed of in his philosophy."

The writer of the above, the dramatic critic of the Chicago Herald, gives in brief compass, a comprehensive sketch of the tragedian. He credits Booth with being a gentleman, and to a limited extent a scholar; but he insists that he was neither genial nor profound. "Inheriting from his father some part of that gloom which, in the case of that singular genius was to madness near allied, he passed through life an earnest star-steeped not alone in the almost baleful madness of the elder Booth, but in introspective philosophy of that Hamlet whose counterfeit presentation he so often was." One can readily see with this writer that the distinction Mr. Booth achieved in the role of Hamlet was one in which personal fitness had much to do. "In ordinary he lived the life of a modern Hamlet, his supersensitive nature so fully alive to every varying phase of the art and social life about him, and so warped by the habit of introspection from which he could not escape, that no great change of habit or manner was required to represent the melancholy Dane upon the mimic stage. During the last years when the shadows of the hereafter began to gather thickly and the need of human sympathy pressed upon him, Edwin Booth, for the first time, permitted his soul to mellow under the influence of that personal friendship first expressed in a significant manner by Lawrence Barrett. But it is not as a genial man, with his heart alive to the loves and hates of all mankind that he is to be remembered. The elder Booth, Forrest, the noblest Roman of them all, and Edwin Booth, the great trinity whose names will long stand unrivaled, brought to us that strange, sometimes forbidding gift of genius, and as the children of genius we must keep their memory green."

Sol Smith Russell's new play, "April Weather," is a most pronounced success, and the success of this touching comedy is another proof that vice need not necessarily be the corner-stone in the foundation of a modern play. All of the French comedies which have been reproduced in this country have exhaled an odor of infidelity, and the characters have moved in an atmosphere of vice. American playwrights have been directly affected by the French idea, and there has been a French suggestiveness in nearly all recent productions. Somehow the idea seems to be widely prevalent among dramatic authors that a comedy or drama, to obtain a hold on the public, must in some way hinge on some phase of the social evil; hence we have vivid stage pictures of men invading women's bed rooms, and vice-versa; thinly veiled nastiness in dialogue, and the portrayal of men and women in a hundred compromising situations. But it has been most emphatically demonstrated that purity is compatible with popularity in stage production, and "April Weather" is once more a striking evidence of this. Mr. Russell's new play is absolutely free from taint. There is no suggestion of the particular form of vice that is so continually exploited on the stage—and yet the comedy, with its delicate pathos and quaint humor is one of the greatest successes of the year. Because people read Zola and go to see filthy plays, it does not necessarily follow that they care nothing for books with less realism, which is only another word for filth, and plays which do not reek with immorality.

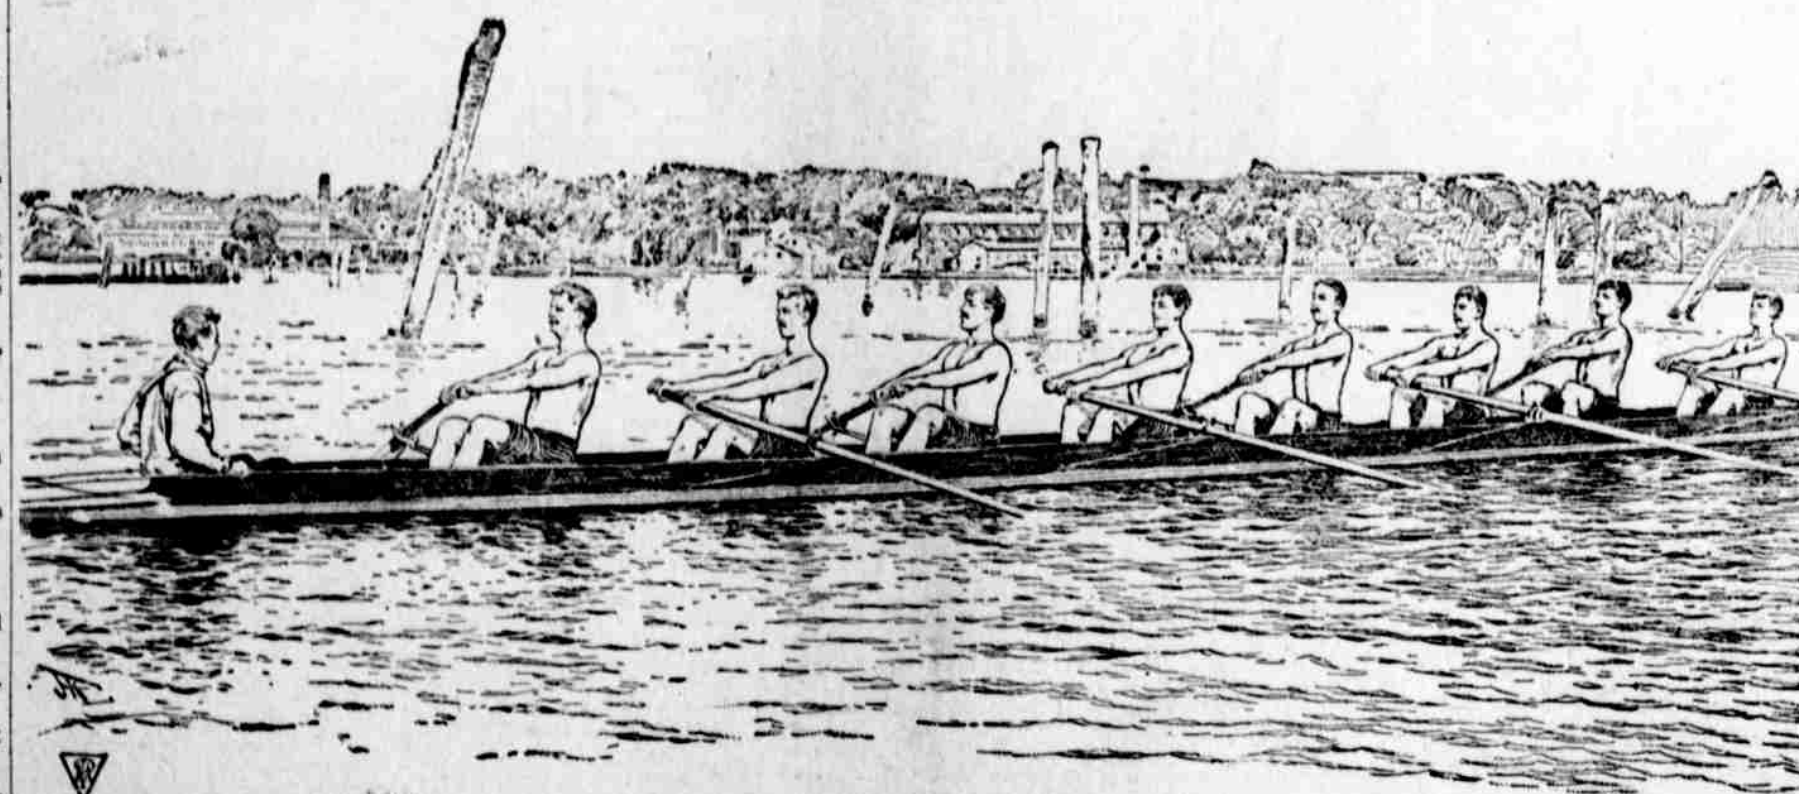

Sells & Rentfrow's circus, with its drove of one elephant and its laundry advertisements, gave a one-ring performance Wednesday afternoon and evening. A story of a joke can be so old that it is new, and a circus can be so bad that it is positively good—from the standpoint of amusement. Sells & Rentfrow's wasn't so bad or as good as that. There were a number of really meritorious features and some that a critical spectator might have given some other name. The tent wasn't very large and it wasn't very full at either performances.

Manager Ed A. Church, of the Lansing theatre, who is now in New York making bookings for the forthcoming season, writes very encouragingly of the outlook. He has already succeeded in filling nearly all of his open dates with first-class attractions, and he assures the patrons of the Lansing through THE COURIER that the season of 1910-11 will eclipse all previous records.

One of the newest dramatic organizations is known as the D-w family. This company will present "The Rivals" and similar lays the coming season. It includes Mrs. John Drew, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, Mr. and Mrs. McKee Rankin, Miss Phyllis Rankin and Charles Ed. Verrier.

The Nebraska state band will fill a Fourth of July engagement at Beatrice. E. H. Sothorn will produce "Shendan," by Paul M. Potter, the coming season. Two more circuses are due in Lincoln this season—Forepaughs and Sells.

The Lansing will not be open again until the latter part of July.

men down from Omaha to defend the honors of the city on the big muddy.

Mockett is training hard and looks as if he were still able to do the championship honors when we now hold.

Several fast men will leave the night of July 4 for Fort Scott, Kansas, where they will ride on the Fifth for the Kansas championship.

The championship races promise to be a big success. Entries have been received from all points of the state and several from Denver.

The Omaha Wheel club has seven or eight men training for the Lincoln meet and the Tourists twelve or fourteen. A good showing, is it not?—Omaha Bee.

Look out for records on the fourth. C. E. Seifert and D. M. Small made a century last Sunday to Beatrice and return by way of Crete, making 104 miles in about 10 hours.

The local club has built one of the finest and fastest tracks in the west at the Lincoln park ball grounds, where the championship races of the Nebraska division of the L. A. W. will be run July Fourth.

Every L. A. W. member will be presented with an elegant souvenir badge which will entitle him to the freedom of the track grounds and in fact the city. All who are not members will be extended the same courtesies if they will hand in their applications.

There is one more week to get ready for the Lincoln meet. It takes quite a while to get everything in readiness for a two or three days' stay, and there's no such a thing as commencing too early. Lincoln men are adding more to the already big program and it's going to be the event of the season among the bicyclists. Omaha, South Omaha, You Lincoln. The Shamrock's are at present visiting the world's fair and are going to make a trip to the coast and will lay over in Lincoln for two or three days to play the local club and take in the points of interest in this vicinity.

The Lincoln club has been strengthened by several new players who are playing strong games. Peats and Reisenbeck formerly of Barrie, Ont., have strengthened the defence of the local team and McBride, Perrin and Lottridge have made the home team invincible. N. J. Robinson the veteran captain of the Lincoln club is training carefully for the next match and claims to have made a new record of 125 yards.

The Prize Ring. As for Corbett, the Chicago papers tell us that he will continue as an aspirant for Booth's mantle until the time arrives when it will be necessary for him to begin training for his fight with Mitchell. What fight? The champion is cunning if nothing else. "After my fight with Mitchell," the actor is made to say, "I will be open to meet any man in the world, Jackson preferred. I am anxious that the question of superiority between myself and Jackson be decided."

Charlie Mitchell writes that he is in good condition, barring a lame knee. Things are very quiet on the other side and he is anxious to return to this country. He will not come over, however, for several weeks, as he does not feel disposed that Corbett should harvest a new grist of ads at his expense. The two have not been matched and there is about as much chance of a battle between them as there is between Johnny Bull himself and Uncle Sam. In conclusion Mitchell adds: "I've read your account regarding my alleged contest with Corbett from your side of

LINCOLN LIGHT INFANTRY

The company will go to Beatrice July 4. Sargeant Covert returned the first of the week from his trip through Colorado.

Sargeant Clark has a surprise in store for the boys. Some one ask him what it is.

Sargeant Ten Eyck of the Omaha guards, was in the city last Thursday between trains.

Private C. M. Camp starts for the world's fair soon. While gone he will visit his old home in eastern Iowa.

There are only sixty-five guesses in the box as to who the tall man in the first four is that is to be married this fall.

It was reported that the Omaha guards were coming down to spend Sunday, today but I have not been able to get it officially.

Our big picnic will no doubt take place in the next two weeks. So bear it in mind and be sure and go. We will assure you a big time.

Reports from Sam Low who is at present in Colorado in search of health, are very encouraging, and we hope to see him home again soon.

I understand that several of our members contemplate a trip to Africa. It may be all right but I think they will wish for Room 8 before they are gone long.

I am told that Lieutenant Hickey intends to resign his commission and return to the ranks. The boys will be sorry to see him go as he has made a good officer. Sam Low says he can't

Do not forget THE COURIER'S two free days at the sanitarium. Boys and girls with COURIER coupons admitted free to the great plunge Tuesday, July 4 and Saturday, July 5. Be sure and cut out the coupon.

June the caterer, Thirteenth and O streets is anxious to serve all parties, picnics and festivals with ice cream, ices, cakes, etc., and will appreciate a call from all intending entertainers.

Canon City coal at the Whitebrest Coal and Lime Co.

Something good. "White Loaf Flour" $1.40 per sack. Miller & Gifford.

The Sunday train on the Union Pacific between this city and Manhattan will be discontinued commencing today.

After the theatre call at "The Annex Cafe" for a lunch. Everything nice, new and attractive. Prices reasonable.

There may be some nicer and cooler places to enjoy a plate of delicious ice cream than Chas. June's pavillion, but they are not to be found in this neighborhood.

Reports from Sam Low who is at present in Colorado in search of health, are very encouraging, and we hope to see him home again soon.
