A Missouri editor who handles the truth with an abandon that is positively shocking, tells of a farmer in his country who has been bothered with black birds. Seeing them perched on his barn one morning he ran to the house for his shot gun. Quickly proceeding to load it he discovered he was out of shot Grabbing up a paper of tacks he poured the contents into the gun, and then hurrying to the barnyard he turned both barrels loose on the flock. Imagine his surprise when he found that he had farmer at Osmond, Nebr. The horses tacked ever last one of the birds to the belonged to a man named York. He barn roof. Ex-County Commissioner Costello was here from his home in the Irish settlement Wednesday, and in conversation with the writer said he had never seen winter wheat prospects better, and that there wasn't a poor piece in his neighborhood.

Wednesday forenoon a rather seedy looking fellow, followed by three ill-fed dogs, walked into town and later in the day gave an exhibition on the street. consisting of slight-of-hand work and Indian club swinging, which was not bad. The dogs also did several clever tricks, although one of the animals had to be pulled out from under the sidewalk a couple of times by its master before it would carry out its part of the program. A small collection was taken up after the performance.

and causing him to envy the possessor. can be seen on the farm of Chas, Wooster, three miles weet of town. By the courts y of the owner, on Tuesday last Mrs. Davis and the writer drove through the most beautiful peach orchard it has ever been their lot to behold. Situated near the bank of the Platte in an almost perfect state of cultivation. Mr. Wooster has 800 peach trees, set in seven rows, each about a quarter of a mile in length, and when we viewed them, they were nearly all in full bloom, and such magniticent blossoms were never excelled in their fullness and perfection. Their fragrance lingers in our nostrils and their beauty in our vision as we write this, and, O, what a satisfaction they will yield to the ever greedy stomach when the ripe fruit shall be plucked, the ever proverbial frost does not pre vent the fulfillment of our hopes!

Two young bloods by the names Turner and Golding, claiming to re present the Omaha Y. M. C. A. Omaha, alid into town Monday night, with empty stomachs and sore feet They stated that they were on their way to walk to San Francisco for a prize, the winning of which required them to make the journey on foot within 70 days. They made a brave start, getting 110 miles in 6 days, and then laying over here two nights and a day to recuperate. It is the honest opinion of Sand that they will get as near to San Francisco as Clarks, unless some kind mamma picks them up and spanks them. They haven't enough gumption to get out and follow a corn a spare bed in the Sand office.

tion of being the least expensive countries in which to live, and this is owing not only to the price of foodstuffs, but also to the extreme care with which everything is used.

An example of this studied economy, which, in time, becomes second nature, is their use of bread. In both countries mentioned only enough bread is cut to provide the family with one piece each. Should any one else wish for bread, two pieces are cut, and this process is repeated until the meal is over.

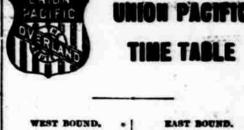

By this method there is no bread left cut from the loaf to dry in the box and one baking lasts four full days, not two days and a haif.

Perhaps it sounds too economical: perhaps the generous hostess might think that it was not true American hospitality. Indeed, it is the best treatment for guests and family alike, for bread that stands but a short time in the dish is sure to be just a

To remove the very disagreeable odor of naphtha from gloves, or in fact from any waist or gown that has been returned from the cleaners, the article should be placed as close as possible to a steam heater, or directly upon the radiator if possible. The steam heat thoroughly dries out whatever of the fluid may have remained in the material, and does so without the danger of explosion which makes it impossible to dry a naphtha-cleaned garment anywhere near an ordinary stove or fire.

After naphtha-cleaning gloves, laces, ribbons, etc., at home, they may be placed directly upon a steam radiator, and will be found to dry in half the time ordinarily required, and the odor will entirely disappear in less than an To The Public.
