MANY YEARS AGO.

Files of the Journal Sept. 17, 1874.

The happy and joyous school days have returned. They can be found at the new school building, No. 1. O. L. Hill, as principal of this graded school, will direct and conduct the pleasing exercises in the pursuit of knowledge. School opened Monday.

A great deal of hay standing out during the recent rain, will be found on examination, to be entirely spoiled. Those who have grain stacks that have not had good close tops on them would do well to examine them. We notice some grain in the stack has begun to sprout. It may be serious loss to some if the grain should go uncared for.

Rev. J. E. Elliott, who went east last week, showed us on Saturday a complete miniature Indian lodge with all the paraphernalia. A professor of Amherst College, Mass., has requested Mr. Elliott to send him some specimens of the Pawnee life, and Mr. Elliott thinks he can not take a better specimen than this which he had prepared. The lodge is two feet in diameter and one foot high, and is exactly proportioned, and built of the same materials which the Pawnees use. The little mats were made by the Indians, together with a buffalo head, cut out of stone; Mr. Peter Duffy contributing a tiny tomahawk with a pipe handle. The lodge contains miniature sacks of squaw corn, etc., the cooking apparatus, the mortar, the beds, the shrine, the steaming apparatus, toy ponies, etc. It must have taken a good deal of work on Mr. Elliott's part, to prepare this gift to his alma mater, and he could certainly present no better illustration of Indian life.

Any person desiring to register for the opening of the Rosebud lands in Tripp county, South Dakota, must go to O'Neill or any of the other towns designated in the president's proclamation, and there sign and swear to an application for registration which will be furnished by the officer before whom he makes his oath. This application must be sworn to between October 5 and October 17, 1908, and after it is sworn to must be enclosed unfolded, in an envelope, which will be furnished by the officer administering the oath, and the envelope must be addressed and delivered to "James W. Witten, Superintendent of Opening," at either Dallas or Gregory, South Dakota, before 4:30 p. m. on October 17, and not after that, either by mail or in person, or otherwise, but not by registered mail, and the envelope must not have the name of the applicant written on it. A drawing will be held at Dallas, South Dakota, on October 19th to determine who of the persons registered will be given the right to make entry. If a person draws a number smaller than 4001 he will be notified by mail, addressed to the post-office given in his application, unless he subsequently gives another, to appear at some date, probably in the month of March, 1909, when he will be permitted to enter one quarter section, or less, of these lands, for which he will be required to pay the usual fees and commissions and six dollars per acre. If the number drawn is between 4000 and 6001, the applicant will be notified in the same manner of some date in August, 1909, when he can make entry at $4.50 per acre, if any of the lands remain unentered at that time. The fees and commissions must be paid when the entry is made, and the remainder of the purchase money in five equal payments, without interest. At the time he makes final proof he will be required to pay the usual fees and commissions required of homestead entrymen for making proof.

Last Saturday the republican county committee met at the council chamber to select the chairman and secretary of the committee, select a delegate to the state convention at Lincoln and transact any other business in connection with the campaign. O. J. Garlow called the committee to order, and R. S. Dickinson was made temporary chairman and Geo. Fairchild temporary secretary. These two were made the regular officers of the committee, although David Thomas was mentioned as chairman, but his name was withdrawn before a vote was taken. E. P. Drake was elected treasurer and W. A. McAllister will represent Platte county at the state convention, which meets in Lincoln to draft a platform. C. J. Garlow was recommended for the congressional committee. David Thomas and Bruce Webb were selected to assist the chairman in conducting the campaign, and the central committee will meet every two weeks until election, to talk over and plan for the campaign.

Last Wednesday afternoon one of the largest and swiftest weddings that ever occurred in Polish circles was held at the church in Prairie Creek township. The groom is a prosperous farmer living near Columbus, John Zurobka by name, while the bride was Miss Adelaide, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Podroz of Newman township. Great preparation were made for the event, a string band from Columbus being one of the attractions. The reception at the home last night was attended by many of our citizens, the automobiles being in great demand as well as every rig in town. The parents of the bride are well known in this county and enjoy the respect and confidence of the business world. The young couple started on life's journey well equipped for the race of life, and their numerous Nance county friends will wish them much joy as they journey along.—Fullerton News-Journal.

Grand Island will be in gala attire to receive the guests for the Frontier Days and Harvest Festival to be held there October 6, 7 and 8. The citizens of the Sugar City have made elaborate preparations to give their visitors for the three days celebration the best of entertainment, a veritable reproduction of the early frontier days. Grand Island citizens have never taken upon themselves so great an undertaking and they have taken hold with the spirit which is bound to bring success. The event will be the equal if not better than the Frontier Days at Cheyenne. Besides the regular grand stands on the ground, additional seating capacity has been built to accommodate 5,000 more people, giving a good view of the mammoth arena as well as the race course.

The firemen were called to the home of John Marthin, who reside on 6th and Olive street, Thursday night at 11:30 to extinguish a blaze in a stack of alfalfa, which had caught on fire in some unknown manner. It is thought on account of the alfalfa being green that in the process of fermentation it set a fire from its own heat. The firemen experienced little difficulty in protecting Mr. Marthin's residence and other buildings from the flames. Damage to the amount of ten or twelve dollars was done. This was the third fire last week the other two were mentioned in last week's issue.

Olaf Hanson, aged 40, residing on a farm north of Monroe, committed suicide last Friday afternoon by shooting himself. Shortly after eating his dinner, Hanson took his shot gun and went to the barn where he loaded the weapon. About 4 o'clock he fastened the gun in the bottom of his buggy with a piece of wire attached to the trigger in such a manner that by pulling it the gun could be discharged. After all preparations had been made, Hanson stepped to the rear of the buggy, and placing his left breast against the muzzle of the gun and grasping the wire with his hand, called his wife to step to the door a moment. The supposition is that he desired his wife to witness his rash act, but when he called she was busy and did not at once respond. Evidently Hanson got tired of waiting for his wife to come and see him die, and pulled the wire. The charge from the gun entered his body near the heart and he died almost instantly. An inquest was held and a verdict returned in accordance with the facts given above. Hanson had been considerably depressed owing to business trouble and some of his friends had remarked that his mental condition was not exactly right. Funeral services were held Sunday and the remains interred in the Quaker cemetery west of Monroe. Deceased leaves a wife and three children.

For a long time it was evident to the casual observer that Dr. Edward Johnson had a longing for the banking business. In the years that he had been in business here he has stood at the very top in point of business ability, clear insight into every detail of the successful man of business. Always a money maker and a money saver, it will not be a surprise to those who intimately know him that he has decided on the course above outlined. He will be missed from the business life of this city with which he has been so closely identified for a quarter of a century. The good people of Columbus have certainly gained two men that Fullerton would rather not have spared. The Fullerton National was started by A. R. Miller on June 1st, 1900 with an capital of $25,000, and in eight years that he has been here he has seen it grow until today it reaches a business of a quarter of a million dollars. Mr. Miller may well feel proud of the record he leaves in Fullerton. Always kind, courteous and obliging, he is an ideal banker. Our people are loth to lose such men from our business world and regret that the wheel of time has taken them from this place.—News-Journal.

The tearing down of the Farrell building on West Eleventh street removes the remaining landmark in that portion of the city. Gruenther for chairman of the democratic state central committee.

Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Evans returned to the city Saturday evening after a short sojourn in Los Angeles, California, and other western points. On September third the Doctor and Miss Florence Whitmore were married at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Howard Gear in Los Angeles. Both Mr. and Mrs. Evans are well and favorably known and have many friends, who will welcome them home. Dr. and Mrs. Evans are now at home to their many friends at the groom's residence at 1421 North street.

L. H. North returned from the east Sunday morning, where he has been attending the race meets with Black Douglas, and considering the fact that he was compelled to race on half mile tracks, the horse made a creditable showing. Last week he disposed of Black Douglas to Al. Russell, who takes him to Wisconsin to finish the season. In speaking of the horse Mr. North said that he was confident he would easily make a record of 2:05 in 1909. Mr. North brought home with him King Lorin, the horse he took in exchange for Black Douglas, and will probably campaign him next year.

Ten carloads of men, horses and steers, the whole crew from Cheyenne—Hugh Clark, world's champion roper, Dick Stanley, world's champion rider, Steamboat, the outlaw horse, broncho busting, steer roping, real life and sport of the plains—these are just a few of the attractions that will be in Columbus on Frontier Days, October 1 and 2. Besides there will be $1,500 in prizes. Frontier life in all its realism will be in Columbus these two days. Special trains will be run, one from Albion and Spalding branches leaving Columbus at 9 p. m. on October 2. The management are sparing no expense or effort to make the Columbus Frontier Days the best ever held. Make up your mind to be in Columbus both of these days, as it will be the biggest attraction of the year.
