A special from O'Neill gives the following account of the death of Charles Redmund, a barber, of St. Edward, who was killed by the the cars while on his way to O'Neill to register for the Tripp county land drawing. Redmund, up to one year ago, was a resident of Platte Center, where he conducted a barber shop: "The coroner's jury in the inquest over there mains of Charles C. Redmund, the barber from St. Edward killed by a Northwestern train here Wednesday night, brought in a verdict of accidental death, exonerating his companion, James McKelvey, who was with him at the time. The two men rode from Oakdale on the pilot of the engine and were said to be under the influence of liquor. As the train passed the stock yards a quarter of a mile east of the station Redman fell from the engine pilot and was ground beneath the car wheels, and head severed from the body and the limbs and body mangeled. A brakeman saw the man under the wheels and flagged the engineer, who brought the train to a standstill as soon as possible. Policemen were called and they took the remains to Undertaker Biglin's, who prepared them for shipment and burial after the inquest. The man's parents reside near St. Edward and they were notified and sent word to ship the remains to that place, which will be done today. Redmund was an unmarried man funeral of Mrs. F. H. pression regarding public improvements-the sewer proposition and park bonds, which will be voted on next Tucsday, and also the Platte river bridge and a new Union Pacific depot, for which the company is asking for a portion of Olive street. A. W. Clark presided over the meeting and R. G. Strother acted as secretary. The storm sewer proposition, which was the most important, was first taken up and discussed at length. That it is a necessity, is apparent to all, and the proposed plan and others were thoroughly dicussed. Andrew Rosewater of Omaha was present and explained the proposed plan, and answered all questions. The proposition is to be voted on next Tuesday will be for a sewer be ginning at Sixteenth and Olive and extending to the river. This will be the main sewer of the city and the foundation of the future system. After this is constructed laterals will be built by the various sewer districts and connected with it. It will be under ground until a point near the Pacific hotel is reached, when it will be made a surface sewer with brick or concrete bottom. There is a slight difference of opinion as to whether an all surface sewer or an underground system would be the better, but all are in favor of some improvement to drain the city properly.
