LINDSAY.
From the Post.
Miss Alice Lyons spent Sunday with relatives and friends at Columbus.
Mrs. W. B. Miller and sister-in-law, Miss Clara Miller, visited at Columbus Tuesday.
Numerous friends of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Howard, formerly of this place, but now of Perry, Okla., were present to learn of the death of Miss Berntha Howard at that place on October 29, 1908.

LEGISLATION.
From the World.
The west-bound freight last Saturday morning was wrecked about four miles west of this place and eight cars were derailed. Several of these cars were so badly wrecked that they had to be burned.
Albert Hofek, a promising young man who resided with his father on a farm several miles southeast of here, had a stroke of apoplexy and dropped dead while about the barn doing chores. The funeral was held Sunday and the body was laid to rest in the Schuyler cemetery.

ALBION.
From the Argus.
Aug. Heinrich was in town Wednesday. He says he was nearly done husking for this year and his corn went forty-eight bushels per acre.
Phil Russel met with a very serious accident Friday of last week. He was moving a hog wigwam and in doing so the team scared at a hog. He made a rush to hold his team and in doing so caught his foot in an old sled. The horses jerked and tore the ligaments from his ankle, breaking the bone and dislocating the ankle.

BELLWOOD.
From the Gazette.
The E. & M. has a force of men at work damming up the Platte river north of town.
In an almost unknown canyon of the wild "black country" of San Diego county, California, stands the smallest postoffice in the world. It resembles an undersized nest-box or an overgrown dog kennel, and measures 32 by 43 inches, with a height of seven feet.
As the winter comes on the question of where to keep the milk is one that has to be considered. On many farms during the summer the milk is kept in a tank of water in a building made for the purpose but when cold weather comes some other place must be provided. The cellar is the first place suggested. When milk is kept in the cellar very particular attention must be given to cleanliness. See to it that all the cobwebs are swept

FROM THE DEMOCRAT.
Announcements are out this week announcing the marriage of Miss Mary Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Weber, of this city, to Lou Schroeder of Columbus. The marriage will take place at St. Francis church in this city next Wednesday morning, November 11th. They will be at home to their friends after December 1, at Columbus.
Franz Sherrer has resigned his position as manager for the Nye-Obenauer-Flower Co. of this place. Mr. Sherrer is undecided as to what he will do in the future, but it is certain that he will not be out of employment long because he is not the kind that lays idle long. During his long residence here he has proved a valuable man for the company, and he has won many friends who regret to see him leave here.
One of our local doctors was the victim of a Halloween prank down on Shell Creek last Saturday night. While making a sick call two wheels of his buggy were taken off and rolled into the creek a mile away. This was not the worst of the deal, the bars were thrown away and could not be recovered, so that it seemed a wait of several hours before the aforesaid doctor could reach home. However, the doctor is of such a loving and cheerful nature that he does not at all mind the mean pranks which were played upon him.
Practically all Humphrey went over to Cornelia Wednesday to attend the dedication exercises of the new Catholic church. Never before in the history of the town was there a larger crowd in the town and a grand time was enjoyed by everybody. The ladies of the congregation served dinner and supper to the hungry, the gentlemen looked after games and different kinds of sports and the young people aided every way possible. The people of Cornelia are to be congratulated upon the beautiful church structure they have labored for so incessantly for so long. Father Edwin the pastor of the new church is very popular among his congregation so there is no doubt there will be much good result for the cause of religion by reason of this new church and congregation.

PLATE CENTER.
From the Signal.
Mrs. John M. Sheridan of Monroe, and Miss Maggie Regan of Columbus, are spending a few days here with their mother, Mrs. J. J. Regan.
Mrs. E. E. Fisher and daughter Ella, Mrs. H. C. Scheidel and children, Mrs. Geo. Scheidel, jr., and daughter Edna, Mrs. Clint Welber and Mrs. R. W. Parkinson were guests of their various friends at Columbus Wednesday and Thursday.
Frank Glodowsky met with an accident Monday which will incapacitate him for active work for several weeks. He was driving onto the Burns meadow for a load of hay when the wagon struck a stump and the driver broke. The team pulled Frank by the lines against the front of the rack with sufficient force to fracture a bone in the back of his left hand. The team broke loose and ran around the field a short time and was captured without doing any further damage.
His Decisions Were All Accepted.
"Uncle Jim Hastings umpired the game between the Stars and the Comets." "What! Say, how did he look when he got through?" "He looked all right. Uncle Jim stands six feet two, and weighs 240."
Modest Precaution.
"Why do you insist on so much red tape in your department?" "Because," answered the official, "we're only human and liable to make mistakes, and we want to put 'em off as long as possible."—Exchange.
Duty and Usefulness.
Only to find our duty certainly, and somewhere, somehow, to do it faithfully, makes us good, strong, happy and useful men, and tunes our lives into some feeble echo of the life of God.—Phillips Brooks.
Twice Told Tales.
"Binks, of all young fathers, is the one I most shun when he begins tales of his offspring's remarkable sayings." "Why so?" "Because Binks' offspring are twins."
A Word from Josh Wise.
"You are in luck if you can say: 'What shall I eat to-day?'" The very rich, often, and the very poor, always say: "What can I eat to-day?"
Opium Users in New York.
There is evidently a large growth in the use of opium in New York city. It is estimated that at least 5,000 white persons use the drug.

FROM THE SIGNAL.
Botanists in the employ of the United States department of agriculture hope to bring into being an orange tree which will be as sturdy as the apple tree; an orange tree that will not perish in the chill of northern winter, which in December will bear its wreaths of snow and in May its garlands of bloom, and when summer comes will yield fruit as good as that sweetened in the south sun.
This may seem to be an unnatural proposition, but it only seems so. No violence upon the laws of Nature has been or will be attempted. It is simply an effort to make the citrus tree which bears the sweet table orange as hardy and insensitive to cold as the citrus tree which bears the bitter, inedible orange. By crossing a citrus tree which grows in the north and which bears the inedible fruit with the citrus tree of the south it is sought to beget a plant in which will be combined the good traits of each.
Government botanists are confident that the results of this citrus marriage will be a scion that will grow and fruit at a latitude midway between the northern limits of the sweet and bitter orange. If this should be there might be groves in central Virginia, middle Kentucky, southern Indiana, southern Illinois, central Missouri and central Kansas. Think of orange groves around the homes in Richmond, Louisville, Cincinnati and Kansas City!—Technical World.
NEW DIET HAS MANY FRIENDS.
Converts to "Sanitarianism" Being Made Every Day.
Sanitarianism, or half vegetarianism, has gained many converts since Minister Wa coined the new word. The theory of the stomach's being the seat of all disease is banishing meat from the bill of fare of many homes.
Cereals and fruits, vegetables, curries, rice prepared with meat extracts and gravies, the various pastes from Italy daintily cooked in the Tuscan manner with tomato essence and cheese, all these foods are gaining in popularity as the steak and chop furore diminishes.
The sanitarian does not banish meat from his menu, but neither does he make much of it, and the red meats and pork are rarely used. Chicken and fish appear to be the least harmful of dietetic solids, in his opinion.
The person who resolves to cut down the meat diet with a view to improving his general condition will be amazed, the sanitarian declares, to find that after a few days he will feel lighter, better in mind and capable of more effort. And hot water taken internally in quantity each morning upon rising produces such effects in conjunction with a restricted diet that one who persists in the treatment for a few weeks will never go back to the old program.

REMEMBERED ONLY TOO WELL.
Farmer Used Well-Learned Phrase at Unfortunate Time.

A certain wealthy farmer, who owned broad acres in an aristocratic section of the Bay State not so far distant from Boston, figured among his neighbors as something of a diamond in the rough. One of his strongest predilections was to exploit his rather stiff opinions of persons in terms that could not be mistaken. His two daughters had social aspirations, in the interest of which they had to give frequent lectures on the social usages of the community.

"When you find that you simply must let out your opinions of the people you meet," the dotting parent was instructed, "please always preface your remarks with the qualifying clause, 'present company excepted.'"

It happened that the aspiring daughters were giving a dinner that same night at which they fondly hoped to give the family a big social boost. Papa got a severe drilling as to his table manners, and sat at the head of the family table with no little trepidation. Under the inspiring influence of the wine, however, he thawed out perceptibly, and soon was unburdening his soul of all the opinions that had accumulated in the course of the dinner. Incidentally he gave a vivid account of all that impressed him the day before when he attended the county fair, which was something of an event in the countryside.

"Yes, sirc," went on the loquacious family head, "I seen things that was with goin' miles to see. And one thing I see was the best pen of hogs I ever see—present company excepted."

The speaker could not understand how it was that none of the guests enquired over the live stock display—not until his daughters got a chance to tell him.

How to Become Plump.
The fat-producing foods are principally milk, cream, eggs, butter, olive oil; the sweets—sugar, honey, sweet desserts, jams, sweet fruits; the starchy vegetables—potatoes, peas, beans, corn, beets; wheat bread, rye, cereals of all kinds, rice, sago, etc. Of the fruits, peaches, grapes, bananas, prunes and figs are especially recommended. The only foods cut out of a thin person's diet are the condiments—pickles, pepper, mustard, curry, salt, etc.; the acids, including acid fruits, the vinegar in salad dressing, etc.; the stimulants, tea and coffee. It must not be forgotten that although the tissue-making foods, such as meats, fish, etc., are not fat-producing, they are required for their own special functions. Some of the green vegetables and fruits are not fat-producing, but they are needed for other purposes. The fat-producing foods should be indulged in principally, but not to the exclusion of others.—Harper's Bazaar.

The Delicious "Burgoo."
There are few men living to-day who know how to make a genuine burgoo. There are those who have had the smell of the big wood fire in their nostrils, the sights and odors from the big kettle boiling away on top of the fire, who would give much to again experience the ecstasy of the breath-cooled first spoonful or feel upon their tongues the savory taste of its satisfying mixture of meats, vegetables, spices and condiments. How was it made? Well, you take half a dozen chickens, a portion of beef, bacon, veal, pork, all varieties of wild game available, put them in a 40-gallon kettle. Then add potatoes, celery, cabbage, parsnips, onions—oh, anything from the garden. Put in herbs and spices, salt and pepper. Boil for from 24 to 36 hours. The proportions of each ingredient? Alas! That's the secret!—Kansas City Star.

South Africa Becoming United.
England's dream of a united South Africa is coming true. The premiers of Cape Colony, the Transvaal and the Orange River colony recently moved, in their respective legislative assemblies, the adoption of the resolution of the intercolonial customs and railway conference calling for an early union under the British crown. Natal is no whit behindhand and the resolution of the conference specially referred to the inclusion of Rhodesia in the great South Africa state at a convenient opportunity.

No Lie, Either.
Mrs. McSwat—Billinger, how did you like the decorations at the church this morning?
Mr. McSwat—All the decorations I could see, Lobelia, were worn by the young lady in front of me. I liked the grand sweep of the brim, the floral display and the general arrangement of the ribbons, but I thought the dead bird looked out of place.

The Cause of His Going.
"Wow!" growled the old man, returning to the bedroom, "I stubbed my toe."
"Well," replied his wife, "that's what you get for going down stairs in your stocking feet."
"That's so; if I hadn't gone down in my stocking feet that young man of Edith's might have heard me and got away before I reached him."

The Modern Way.
"Advertisements on the scenery!" exclaimed the star. "That's carrying commercialism really too far."
"It isn't commercialism," exclaimed the manager. "We want the scene to look like a real meadow, don't we?"—Tit-Bits.

New Work for Women.
The auto inn is the latest outlet for the energies of women, suggested as a means of income. One near Philadelphia is called the Tulip Inn and everything about it is in Dutch style, as might be supposed. Parties going out from the city telephone for lunches and dinners if desired, and when they arrive they find the tables awaiting their pleasure. There are hundreds of people who motor now who are not members of country clubs and such wayside farmhouses would, no doubt, attract many.
