The indoor ball game between the Star Specials and the Business Men's specials resulted in a victory for the former by the score of 18 to 11. The second game between the County Team and the Y. M. C. A. Blues was one by the latter, the score being 29 to 3. The Blues made three big scores in the last inning, scoring fifteen times.

The following delegates were selected to attend the state convention of the Young Men's Christian association which is held in Hastings this week, beginning Thursday and continuing until Sunday. They are: D. Burr Jones, R. Raney, Earl Kienzel, F. J. Hilgert, John Babcock, Clarence Umland, Henry Ragatz, jr., Will Hockenberger and J. E. Erskine.

The third monthly banquet of the Business Men's Club of the Y. M. C. A. was held Tuesday evening at the building, about eighty being present. Carl Kramer acted as toastmaster and short addresses were made by C. J. Sheldon and E. J. Niewohner. Mr. White, foreign secretary of the Y. M. C. A., located at Burmah, India, was also present and gave an interesting talk on the foreign work of the association. Tuesday evening the association reported 291 members, three new ones being taken in that evening. The three hundred mark will easily be passed before March 1.

It is the misfortune of any great success, that unscrupulous persons attempt to trade on its reputation. Such is the case with the Holy City. Certain moving picture operators, in various parts of the country have been presenting pictures of the Passion Play and deceiving the public by advertising it as the Holy City. Thus the public, expecting to see this great play, have found the exhibition only a moving picture show, and hence were disappointed, and many of the less informed have gone away with the impression that this disappointing swindle was the original Holy City. This is a grave mistake and a great injustice to one of the finest plays ever written. The Holy City is a powerful drama, in four acts, presented with a cast of excellent actors, wearing the most elaborate and beautiful costumes and presenting the great play with a full equipment of splendid scenery. It is not a stereoscopic or magic lantern show; but a fine play—a drama, given on a regular theatre stage, with all the characters played by living men and women. At North Theatre Friday, February 19th. Prices 25-35-50-75.

KAVANAUGH & BERTERTON

Quite a number of promoters have endeavored to build a north and south railroad through this state, but so far none have materialized. But there is a possibility that some day such a line will be built—in fact, in recent years the project has been seriously considered on several occasions. But the following from the Norfolk Daily News would indicate that actual work on such a line is to begin next month and Columbus is to be one of the towns through which the proposed road will be built: The Yankton, Norfolk & Southern railroad, now being actively promoted, is to parallel the Union Pacific from Norfolk to Columbus, where it will cross the Platte. The road will then extend southwest to York, reaching Hastings with a short spur. It will enter Kansas at Smith Center and will follow the tier of counties to the south to the Oklahoma line, passing through the county seats. From Oklahoma it will pass through Wichita Falls, Texas, to Cisco, Brownville and Austin and thence east to Galveston. Unlike Fremont Hill's proposed Yankton Southern road, the Yankton, Norfolk & Southern will not pass through Wichita, Kan., but will go fifty miles west of that city. The projected line to the gulf is 1,200 miles long. The air line from Galveston to Yankton is 900 miles. While for the present at least operations will be carried on from Yankton according to the charter of the new road the general office of the company has to be located in Yankton. Norfolk, Columbus and York are the principal Nebraska cities through which the road is slated to pass. The company, it is announced in Yankton, is in the hands of W. P. Dickinson & Company of Chicago, who are financing the road and who have built the southern division of which 105 miles are in operation. It is said that while Mr. Graham is still at the head of the Norfolk, Yankton & Southern, a change of officers will take place within a week. Work on the bridge at Yankton is to begin by March 9. A temporary bridge is first to be thrown over the river to reach the gravel. The permanent bridge is to be forty-one feet wide, with a double railroad track, two wagon tracks and two footbridges. It will cost according to the promoters, $1,000,000.

John Deegan, a former Columbus resident, passed away at his home in Red Lodge, Montana, Saturday, February 6, after an illness of two days, death resulting from heart trouble. The deceased had up to the time mentioned enjoyed good health, considering his advanced age. The remains were brought to this city Thursday for burial, and the same afternoon funeral services were held in the Catholic church, Father Marcellinus officiating, and interment was made in the Catholic cemetery. The deceased was born in Roscoe, county Tipperary, Ireland, May 1836, and at the time of his death was almost seventy-seven years of age. In 1855 he left Ireland and came to America, stopping for a short time in New York, but later moving to Wisconsin, where in 1871 he was united in marriage to Miss Rose Duffy, who died in February, 1902. In 1875 accompanied by his wife he came to Platte county, settling on a farm a few miles from Lindsay, where he resided until several years ago when he came to Columbus, purchased a residence in southeast Columbus, where he lived until two years ago, going to Montana, Oregon and other places in the west to visit his children. The children who survive their aged parents are Miss Margaret and Messrs. George and Edward Deegan of Red Lodge, Montana, Miss Ida Deegan of Portland, Oregon, W. J. Deegan of Kirwin, Wyoming, Mrs. M. H. Maher of Hood River, Oregon. Pallbearers who bore the remains to their final resting place were Wm. O'Brien, J. S. Haney, John Curry, Thos. McTaggart, John C. Byrnes and Adam Smith. Relatives and friends who attended the funeral from out of town were, Jenny Deegan of Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Duffy of St. Joseph, Missouri, Mr. and Mrs. Deegan, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lewjohann of Lindsay, Miss Margaret Deegan and W. J. and George Deegan of Red Lodge, Montana, Mrs. Emma Riedel, John and James McPhillips, D. S. Hayes, Fred Ball, David Lloyd, John James, and C. Gudemeyer all of Lindsay, Matt Farrell and J. Gilsdorf of Humphrey.

In compliance with the action of the council at their last meeting, two hundred copies of the ordinance vacating twenty feet on the east side of Olive street for the use of the Union Pacific, were printed and distributed. At the head of the ordinance was a call for a citizens' meeting to be held in the council chamber Monday evening, and it was in response to this call that about sixty of the representative business men of the city met at the city hall on that date. The meeting was called to order by Mayor Phillips, and Henry Ragatz was chosen chairman with Daniel Schram as secretary. Attorney Cornelius, who drew up the proposed ordinance, was the first speaker, and he explained the various provisions of the ordinance. H. A. Clarke started the discussion by bringing up the point as to the time tracks could obstruct the street, under the provisions of the ordinance, and favored inserting a clause limiting the time to a few minutes before the arrival and departure of trains. There were a number who supported the ordinance in its present form and there were also those who opposed it quite strenuously, claiming that it would eventually close the street. Just before the close of the meeting a resolution was introduced to ascertain how the meeting stood on the question, and the vote finally taken was 35 for to 29 against. Some of those opposed to the ordinance claimed this did not fairly represent the sentiment. On Friday night the ordinance will come up for final action, and in the meantime those interested in the matter, either for or against, are seeing to it that the councilmen in the various wards thoroughly understand the opinion in the matter of those they represent.

After suffering for almost a year as a result of ruptured blood vessel, which occurred while he was assisting in the unloading of a heavy box of freight, Adamram J. Smith, for many years a Union Pacific conductor, died at his home in southeast Columbus Sunday morning. "Doc" Smith, as he was universally known to his friends, was born at Elmira, New York, June 1854, his father being a Baptist minister. In 1860 he removed with the family to Ottawa, Ill., and in 1867 to Afton, Ia. Here he resided until nineteen years of age when he began his railroad career with the Burlington at Creston, Ia., in 1871. In 1876 he quit the service of the Burlington and went to the Santa Fe with which company he held the position of yard master at two of the principal yards on the system for eleven years. In 1888 he resigned his position with the Santa Fe and came to the Union Pacific, locating at Council Bluffs, since which time he has been constantly in the employ of the company as either conductor or yard master. He was transferred to Columbus in 1896 and has since made this his home. In 1881 he was married to Mary J. Madden at Creston, Ia., who with three sons, Frank F. of Rawlins, Wyo., Eber H. and John J., of this city, survive him. Besides the immediate family he leaves an aged mother and two sisters, Mrs. T. H. Sess and Mrs. Florence Lumbeck of Denver, and two brothers, Grant Smith of Stillwater, Minn., and Eber H. Smith of this city. Mr. Smith was a member of the Order of Railway Conductors, Royal Highlander and Tribe of Ben-Hur. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning from St. Bonaventur's church, Father Marcellinus officiating and burial was in the Catholic cemetery.

Last year the members of Engine Company No. 1 concluded to have a smoker and invite all the honorary and active members of the company. And so well did they carry out their plans that the smoker was at once made an annual affair. Last Wednesday evening the second smoker was given by the company at Maennerchor hall and it was, if anything, a more enjoyable affair than the first one. Besides the refreshments and cigars an orchestra of fifteen members, composed of either active or honorary members of the Engine Company, furnished some excellent music. After the banquet was served there were short talks, Sam Gass acting as toast master. There were two out of town members of the company present, Gus Locker of Omaha and Mort Murphy of Seward, and the former who was a charter member of the company, to'd of fighting fires in early days. Short talks were also made by Fred Frischholz, Earl Galley, Louis Schwarz, C. G. Hickok, Bert Galley and President M. D. Karr of the Commercial club. Mr. Karr spoke in behalf of the business men of Columbus and voiced their appreciation of the efficient work of the firemen in protecting the property of the city and invited the members of the fire department to join the Commercial club without cost to them. Bert Galley, chief of the department, complimented the company on their good work whenever they were needed. The committee who had charge of the smoker worked hard to make it a success, and they succeeded admirably in vouching for by everyone who was there.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given of the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Nebraska Central Irrigation company, to be held at the office of Becher, Hockenberger & Chambers, in the city of Columbus, Neb., on Tuesday, March 2d, 1909, at 8 o'clock p. m.

In Honor Of Lincoln's Birth.

For a number of years the local Sons of Veterans camp, together with the Grand Army post of this city have observed Lincoln's birthday, but this year the Sons of Veterans put forth an extra effort for the occasion this year. A committee, consisting of H. B. Reed, O. E. Devlin and A. L. Rollin, prepared the following program, which was well rendered. Bert J. Galley acted as chairman for the occasion. The following is the program, which is published by request.

Opening remarks by Commander A. C. Boone.

Song—"Just Before the Battle, Mother," and "In the Prison Cell I Sit," were rendered by a quartet, composed of Oraig Turner, Mr. Wells and the Misses Lydia Turner and Hazel From, with Miss Louise Echols at the piano.

Invocation by the chaplain, Oraig Turner.

Song by the audience, Battle Hymn of the Republic.

Remembrances of Abraham Lincoln, Comrade R. L. Bossiter.

Recitation by Vernetta Devlin. Address on Abraham Lincoln by W. A. McAllister.

Reading Lincoln's Gettysburg address, Wm. LaRue.

Violin Solo by Helen McAllister. Toast to the Flag by Miss Katie Reed. Piano Solo by Mrs. W. A. McAllister. Our Memorial by A. L. Rollin.

Song by the audience, America. Instrumental music by the Drum Corps.

After the program a supper was served in the hall by Caterers Jones and L. A. Jenkins.

Some interesting war relics were exhibited, one of them being the cap and belt worn by Comrade R. L. Bossiter when spoken to by President Lincoln in Washington, D. C., in 1864, also a flag, now in the possession of Comrade E. O. Rector and valued very much by him, that was made by the girls of Salem, Wis., in 1861, and presented to the boys who enlisted from that place, provided they would erect a flag pole for it. So many a day it floated from a ninety-six foot pole at Salem, for which no doubt the boys of that company, far away from home, had sweet memories, while they marched to the tune of "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

The attendance at the exercises was quite large, and taken all in all, the occasion was a success in every particular.

Route No. 5.

The Valasek boys were hauling hay Monday and Tuesday.

H. L. Olcott is in Belvidere, Ill., where he is visiting with his aged father.

Quite a number of farmers on the route attended the horse sale at Columbus Monday.

H. J. Brian was getting ready for his sale, which he will have, and then move to Columbus.

There was a card party at the home of J. H. Hahn last Saturday night, but on account of the bad weather not many were present.

Claud and Miss Katie Kinsman came up from Lincoln Friday, where they are attending the State university, returning Monday.

Route No. 4.

Boys, get your tin cans ready for you may need them on Route 4 soon.

Pat Fuller was sawing wood last Friday, using the Iossi Bros. gasoline engine and saw.

Simon Iossi is missing. Someone says he is hunting a wife, but rumor says he is in Sherman county.

Mrs. Gertie Zimmer has commenced to move on the farm she has rented for the coming year, which is six miles north-east of Columbus.

On account of there being two sales on the same day on Route 4 last Thursday neither one was well attended, but everything sold fairly well.

Ernest Iossi says he is ready to begin planting potatoes on March 1. But there are some who think he will be obliged to shovel snow before he starts.

Chris Abegglen came down from Kearney last week and is shelling his corn, Donoghue Bros. doing the work. Ohas seems to be well pleased with his new home in Buffalo county.

Those who imagined that the cold weather for the winter was over were rudely awakened to the fact that Old Boreas is still here. When the record of thirteen below zero was made in January, it was thought this would be the limit for this season, but Monday morning the thermometer registered sixteen below, which went it three better. And now that the water in the river has been melting and freezing for some time, it looks as though the ice was heavy enough to make considerable trouble when it begins to move.

Immediate private sale of household goods. Inquire of Mrs. B. R. Cowdery.

W. L. Chenoweth left last Thursday evening for Chicago, in the interest of the dry goods department of the Gray Mercantile Co.

Tuesday morning at the German Reform church the wedding of Chas. DeLand, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. DeLand and Miss Alvena Lensechen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lensechen, of northeast of Columbus, was solemnized, Rev. R. Neumarker officiating. Only members of the immediate families were present at the ceremony, the wedding being a quiet one. Mr. and Mrs. DeLand left on the noon train for Denver and other points in the west, where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they will go to homekeeping on a farm ten miles west of this city on the south side of the Loup.

There is one event that is always looked forward to by the young people of the city, and especially those who enjoy dancing, and that is the annual masquerade ball given by Pioneer Hook and Ladder Company No. 1. This, the thirty-fifth annual ball, will be fully up to former ones, and Columbus people can anticipate a good time. This year, the boys are going to take extra precautions regarding the admittance of objectionable people, and those who mask are assured that they will not be apt to meet any such people. The boys are going to make this ball better than former ones, if possible.

A. M. Avery, manager of the Gray store at Fullerton, and Miss Nettie Miller of this city, were married at the home of the bride, on West Fifteenth street, this Wednesday morning, Rev. Roush of the Methodist church officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Miller, and for the last five years has been employed as trimmer in the Gray dry goods store in this city. The groom is a cousin of W. L. Chenoweth of this city, and for the last six months has been located at Fullerton as manager of the store at that place. Mr. and Mrs. Avery went to Fullerton Wednesday, where they will make their home.

There is always some reason for success. In this age of commercialism, everything must have some real merit in it to be a lasting success. Anything must be worth one's time and money, or the public will soon relegate it to the rubbish pile. This is as true of plays as of everything else. They must be real, sterling, sound and solid value to have a long continued success. The ever-growing triumph of Clarence Bennett's "The Holy City" tells its own story of the triumph of real merit and true worth. "One of the few, the immortal plays that were not born to die!" Mr. Bennett himself will be seen here in this production, which guarantees its merit. The dance of Salome is another drawing feature and is handled gracefully by Edna Barnhill. North theatre, Friday, February 19.
