The ceremony will take place at O'Neill, and the judge will be in the position of the beaushful swain asking for the required license, instead of issuing it, as has been his custom for the last few years.

That Columbus appreciates a good minstrel, especially home talent, was certainly proven beyond a doubt this week. As the concert given by the ladies of Grace church choir, assisted by a number of their lady and gentlemen friends Thursday evening was well attended and the play in every respect was a splendid success, so much so, that the players were requested to reappear, which they did last evening. This entertainment also received good patronage, and it has been announced that the minstrel company has been requested to visit Schuyler. This they have decided to do, the date being definitely arranged for Friday evening, May 14.

It has been definitely decided that the 1909 Glidden tour will pass through Columbus during the great endurance contest. This annual event, which has been arranged by the automobile manufacturers of the country, has heretofore been pulled off in the east, but by a strenuous effort it was landed in the west this year. The pathfinder for the tour, which left Detroit April 9, and was delayed by snow and bad roads, reached this city last Saturday and stopped at the Columbus Automobile Co.'s garage for gasoline, and also to make arrangements for taking care of the cars in the contest when they arrive here, which will be some time in July. The pathfinder was accompanied by a car sent by the Denver Automobile club to meet it at Omaha and pilot it to the mountain city. The route of the tour will be from Detroit to Minneapolis, Omaha, and then to Denver, winding up the tour at Kansas City. This contest is the great event of the year in automobile circles of the country, and is an endurance test, not a speed contest, although the schedule through this city calls for twenty-five miles an hour all day. The runs in Nebraska are from Omaha to Kearney, and from Kearney to Julesburg, Colorado. Over one hundred cars will pass through here in the contest, and nearly every automobile maker in the country will be represented.

Last week the poles for the new arc light for the city arrived, and a gang of men are busy placing them. They expect to have this work completed, and when they are installed Columbus will have the most up-to-date street lights in the state, in fact the only ones that have been installed in Nebraska. They are luminous arcs and are of 6000 candle instead of 2000 candle power, which the city originally contracted for. There will be twenty of these arcs in the business portion and seventy-two candle power tungsten lamps in the residence portion. These latter will give three times as much light as the present lamps. Another improvement scheduled for completion by June 1 is the condensers on which work has been delayed on account of material. This is one of the important parts of the plant and will add much to its efficiency. At present the day plant has 300 horse power in motors to take care of, and this is the result of an increase from month to month since the installation of the service. For the last thirty days the plant has been pumping the city water, and this has been a success. In speaking of the present plant, it may be of interest to know that very few power plants installed in the west have made as good a showing in a short time as the Columbus plant.

Between three hundred and fifty and four hundred delegates will attend the Grand Council of the United Commercial Travelers, which will be held in this city, Friday and Saturday of next week, May 21 and 22. There are ten local councils in the state and each of these will be represented. On Saturday the Des Moines Zeus Guild No. 10 will arrive with a carload of equipment and put on the degree, "Bag Men of Bagdad." At this meeting the officers for the coming year will be elected. The local committee have ample funds for the entertainment of ten visitors. A good many of the delegates will be accompanied by their wives, and the large attendance will tax the local hotels to more than their capacity. It is up to the citizens of Columbus to see that ample accommodations are furnished, and any private family having spare room they are willing to rent during the two days will confer a favor on the local secretary Frank Kersanbrock, by advising him.

Major Bradner D. Slaughter, of the United States army, but formerly of Fullerton, died at his home in Omaha of heart trouble. Major Slaughter was at one time prominent in republican politics in Nebraska, having been chairman of the state central committee. He was one of the early settlers in Fullerton, and for a time a resident of Omaha, when he held a federal position. After the Spanish-American war he was appointed to a second lieutenant in the regular army, and at the time of his death was a paymaster with the rank of major. He had a large acquaintance in Columbus and Platte county among those who were living here prior to fifteen years ago.

About the middle of June the work of remodeling the First National Bank building will be commenced, and when finished that institution will be housed in one the neatest and modern bank buildings in the state. The new building will be four feet higher than the present one, and will be of pressed brick, and the stairway between the present building and the Sam Geas saloon has been bought by the bank and will be included in their enlarged room. The floors will take the place of the present wooden ones, and the upstairs will also come in for some important changes, which will include glass partitions.

I have used a Herrick Refrigerator since last summer and find it is a refrigerator. It is the first sanitary refrigerator I have seen, and the only one which will show a current of cold air to be introduced into the box. The temperature is lower than any I have used, and the articles kept within show no contamination from any source. It is also very economical, its consumption of ice being very much less than the average. The box is absolutely dry, which is the most important part to be considered. I take pleasure in recommending your refrigerators to the public.

Besides the special committee appointed for the purpose, a number of representative business men of the city attended the meeting at the Hahn school house, in Clear Creek precinct, in Polk county, to discuss the Platte river bridge question. About forty interested farmers of the locality were present and Columbus was represented by Messrs. A. R. Miller, L. F. Phillips, H. A. Clarke, G. W. Phillips, W. N. Hensley, Thos. Jaworski, Adolph Czapski and Otto Kummer. The Columbus men asked the co-operation of the south neighborhood in building a permanent Platte river bridge, either by voting bonds or securing an appropriation from Polk county. The farmers are all anxious to see the new bridge built and expressed a willingness to assist in building the bridge. But they are all financially interested in the Platte bridge project at Duncan, and until this is settled they would not promise anything definite. The meeting for the latter project will be held sometime this month, it is understood. A similar meeting to the one held at the Hahn school house will be held in Island precinct in a few days.

Mrs. Marguerite Ivan, living fourteen miles southwest of Columbus in Island precinct, Polk county, died last Thursday afternoon as a result of injuries received by being knocked down by a bull. The accident occurred Thursday morning about 10 o'clock, when Mrs. Ivan was driving the cattle in the pasture. The animal came up behind her and knocked her down. She was near a wire fence and succeeded in getting on the other side of it, so the animal ceased his attack on her. She succeeded in reaching her home, about a quarter of a mile away, and told then what had happened. Medical aid was called at once, but before it arrived she was dead, her spine having been injured. Besides a husband she leaves a family of children. Mrs. Ivan was born in Austria fifty-seven years ago. Funeral were held at the Catholic church on the Island near her home, and burial was in the Catholic cemetery at the church.

Mrs. Sarah Dolena Dexter, for twenty-two years a resident of Clear Creek precinct, Polk county, died last Thursday from a stroke of apoplexy. Mrs. Dexter was born in Pennsylvania, November 25, 1837. She later moved to Lee county, Ill., where on May 21, 1857, she was married to Mr. Dexter. In 1857 she came with the family to Clear Creek precinct, Polk county, where she has since resided. Her husband died on March 23, one month and thirteen days ago. She leaves three sons, Elsiea Dexter, who is at home, Ira O. Dexter of Stockham, and Caleb Dexter of Denver, Col. The funeral was held Monday from the home and burial was in the Shelby cemetery.

Monday evening of this week the two largest engines ever built passed through the city, enroute to the Southern Pacific where they will be used for hill climbing. The two monster machines, which weigh 600,000 each, are numbered 4000 and 4001, and their arrival here was awaited by a large crowd. Several local photographers managed to get good pictures of the engines.

A Treat for Columbus People.
For some time past the special committee of the Y. M. C. A. on entertainment course have been studying the field and the several courses offered them by a dozen different Lyceum Bureaus. They submitted a report to the board of directors last Monday evening which was unanimously adopted. This action of the board closes a contract for one of the strongest entertainment courses ever offered in Columbus. Secretary Jones is highly enthusiastic over the success of the committee in picking the course. He says that it is one of the strongest he has ever had anything to do with. It will consist of five separate entertainments. The first to be given about the first of October and the others to follow about a month apart.

The first attraction will be the Royal English Hand-Bell Ringers. There are eight or nine men in the company and this is their first appearance in this country.

For the second number, George W. Thompson, a dramatic lecturer of nationwide fame, will give his lecture on Ways that Win. Mr. Thompson, who is a leading member of the bar of Indiana, will also speak during the winter at one of the Sunday afternoon meetings. His subject then being The Trial of Jesus the Christ from a Legal Standpoint. He is the author of a book on this subject, having made a special study of this for a great many years.

The Chicago Boy Choir and Sarah Washens Brown, the harpiste of national fame, will be the third number. Theirs is said to be a very strong company in their line.

For the fourth number the committee have responded to numerous requests and secured Adrian M. Newsens, the monologist. This will be his third appearance in Columbus and his work in presenting the character of real men and women, needs no words of praise, for he is well known to the people of our city for the very best in his line.

The last number on the course will be given by Strickland W. Gillilan, the magazine, newspaper and platform humorist, poet and philosopher.

This entertainment course will cost $2 per course ticket, admitting to all the numbers. But those who will call at the association building or write the general secretary before the 5th of June, asking that course tickets be reserved for them, will be able to secure them for $1.50. Every member of the Y. M. C. A. will be entitled to one course ticket at members' rate, which is $1. The sale of the tickets will be limited in number, so that those who expect to enjoy this feast of good things will do well to attend to the pledging of their tickets. The actual delivery and sale of tickets will not be made until early in September, when those who have asked for the reservation of course tickets will redeem their pledges.

The City Council.
One of the important meetings of the city council was held last Friday evening, at which time the contract for the coming year for supplies for the city were considered and let. This year there was only one bidder for the different classes of work, with the exception of cement side-crossings, and the two of Jacob Glur and McCord & Johnson were both for twenty cents per foot. The sprinkling contracts were awarded to W. Whitaker, C. J. Barthelomew and Tom Kush, the printing awarded to the Columbus Telegram, and the cement crossing bids referred to a committee.

Max Gottberg requested permission to raise a banner across Thirteenth street and at his garage, which was granted.

A proposition from an oil company to furnish the city oil for use on the streets, instead of sprinkling, was also referred to a committee.

James Nelson, night policeman, was allowed pay while he was in Dakota, and the vacancy caused by his resignation was filled by the appointment of F. A. Hagel.

A number of petitions for side walks were read, and the bonus of the officers and Dunsell & Son's plumbing license acted on favorably. The city treasurer's annual report was also presented to the council.

The committee having in charge the buying of a grader for the city reported in favor of buying a King Junior grader, and the report was adopted.

A resolution by Councilman Ryan, providing for six foot wide cement crossings in the business portion of the city, instead of four foot crossings, as at present, was adopted.

Walker Township.
The dust storm of last week was very hard on winter wheat, and in places it is entirely killed out.

Emil Johnson, son of P. P. Johnson, is troubled with sore eyes, but then the dust is thick enough out here to trouble us all a little some times.

John A. Johnson, who has been visiting in the east for some time, has returned and is staying with his brother-in-law August Dahlberg for the present.

Miss Minnie Johnson closed her school in district 65 Saturday. An interesting program was rendered by the children, and each child was presented with a beautiful souvenir.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.
Mr. Wedge, the fighting parson, will preach at the meeting Sunday, the 23d, speaking to men only.

At the regular meeting of the board of directors last Monday evening, the kind offer of Mr. O. L. Baker was accepted to furnish ice for the summer, so that men may find clear and pure ice cold water to drink in the building.

Sunday afternoon, May 16, will be an open meeting at which all the reports of the association work for the winter season will be given by the chairman of the different committees and the officers of the association. Everybody is invited to attend and learn of the work the association has been doing.

The annual election of five members of the board of directors will occur this Wednesday. The ballot box will be open at the association office from twelve o'clock noon until eight o'clock in the evening. The annual meeting of the association will be held at eight o'clock Wednesday evening, to be followed by a special meeting of the board of directors.

Last Sunday's meeting was attended by more than 125 men and women and Rev. Roush of the Methodist church delivered one of the strongest addresses that has been given in the association building, taking for his subject Sacred Motherhood. The choir of the Congregational church furnished the music, rendering a beautiful anthem and the two solos by Mrs. Rathburn and Miss Weeks, were well received.

More than fifty men and young men members of the association met in the association parlors Monday evening in response to the invitation of the physical committee and the special sub-committee on base ball, to consider putting an association league in the field. It was by far the most enthusiastic meeting that has been held in the building since the opening week last fall. V. H. Westver was elected chairman and O. H. Walters secretary of the meeting. After considerable discussion it was determined to have a league of four teams, each team to consist of about twelve to fourteen men including substitutes. Although this puts several extra men on a team, the meeting thought that better ball would be played with a smaller league. John Neater, Hugh Todenhoff, Otto Kumpf and Arthur Linstrum were elected captains. And it was decided that the captains, together with the general manager of the league, should constitute the executive board, who shall decide all questions relative national league rules to be used. The assistant secretary of the association, Earl Kiessel, was elected general manager. At the close of the general meeting the executive board met and selected and formed their teams. Games will be played after six o'clock in the evening, probably twice a week.
