Last Saturday morning about six o'clock Policeman Hagel discovered a man lying on the cellar door in the rear of Fred Schultz's saloon and boarding house, and on going up to him and making and examination, discovered that he was dead. Papers found on him showed that he was an old soldier and identified him as James E. Palmer of Sidney, Neb. Friday evening he came to the hotel and went to the room occapied by the brother-in-law of the proprietor, August Leuke, and laid down. Upon being asked if he wanted to remain all night, he said be had no money, but as it was raining and storming, Mr. Schultz gave sell your iron and junk. him a bed for the night. It is supposed that during the night he awakened and went down stairs and when he reached the cellar door, was stricken with an attack of heart trouble and fell down, and expired. He carried a lamp with him, and this was put out and broken by the fall. Sheriff Carrig took charge of the remains and wired the Sidney authorities, who requested that the body be sent there. It was thought at first that he might have fallen out of a second story door, but when Undertaker Gass embalmed the body there were no signs of any bruises, showing that he had fallen. When searching him, it was discovered that all his pockets but one were turned wrong side out, and that contained his papers, $9 in money, and a ticket to Sidney, where he was shipped to Saturday

There is a public horror of cramps Not one case of cramps in 1,000 is dangerous if the victim knows what to do and does it. Every long-distance swimmer entering a race expects to get cramps yet he doesn't drown and he doesn't stop swimming either. He keeps going until his legs are in knots; still, he doesn't sink. He pluge along until there ien't another kick in him, and even now he doesn't go down. Stretin the sand hills, between Duncan and ch out your arms or leg, as the case may be, until you are straining to the utmost. Then strain a bit harder, and watch the lumped mucle go down. The dangerous cramp is in the stomach. and you're not able to shout for help or even to articulate a sound. When you get that kind of cramp you may as well say your prayers, but you won't get it if you don't eat for two hours before going into the water. Professional swimmers go hungry half a day before entering a race, and they never know such a thing as a stomach cramp.

> A young man named O'Neill, who came from Platte Center several weeks ago to fill the position of local manager for the Horde Elevator Co.,, has dropped suddenly out of sight. Monday of last week he asked an acquaintance to take charge of the elevator during his absence, stating that he had business to transact at Columbus and would return on the next train. He has not returned. After waiting two days the man who had been left in charge of the elevator phoned the general manager of the company at Central Oity and informed of O'Neill's disappearance, and one of the company's men was sent here to take temporary charge of the business. It appears that O'Neill has been retailing flour and feed and blowing in the money thus obtained at Columbus-going to that city Saturday evenings and returning Monday. On several occasions, it is stated, he has entertained women of questionable reputation at the elevator. and conducted a booze joint as a side issue. fall construction will probably be commenced this year:

During a visit to the city yesterday of William L. Church, president of the Ambursen Hydraulic Construction company of Boston, and William P. Cox. financial agent for the same concern, announce ment was made that all necessary details have been completed to assure the construction of the Loup river power plant at Columbus with a capacity of 50,000 horse power and a secondary plant at Schuyler with a capacity of 30,000 horse

This appouncement was repeated by Mr. Church, Mr. Fox, John A. Wakefield secretary and treasurer of the Nebraska Power company, and by F. Jaeggi, who has for a number of years been representing a syndicate of bwiss stockholders. who owned the water rights, in an effort to float securities and finance the power plant undertaking. It is contained also in a report of H. E. Babcock, president of the Nebraska Power company, to his board of directors, made public yesterday. Mr. Babcock himself is out of the city at the present time. According to the statements of the above authorities the Amburson Hydranlic construction company has not only signed a contract to construct the plant, but has completed negotiations to finance the project.
