

THE CRETE ASSEMBLY.

An actor of mediocre ability can take the emotional roles if he has a good voice and a trick or two of the eyes. But it takes a man with leisure intellect and a peculiar temperament to be a comedian. Mr. Chas. Underhill, who will impersonate comic characters at the Crete chautauqua in July has devoted himself entirely to the sympathetic study of the delicate, classic comedy of Shakespeare, and the homely human comedy of Charles Dickens. He is without a rival as an impersonator of the roles of Falstaff, Malvolio, Picwick and Pecksniff. The sense of comedy is not a small thing, and it needs to be cultivated. It is a matter of regret that so little is known of Shakespeare's comedies. Even Shakesperian scholars neglect them. The greater part of the cultured world has yet to discover the sunnier side of the master's genius. There will be nothing more attractive at the Chautauqua assembly than Mr. Underhill's delightful impersonations.

M. Hammerly, a well-known business man of Hillsboro, Va., sends this testimony to the merits of Ayer's Sarsaparilla: "Several years ago, I hurt my leg, the injury leaving a sore which led to erysipelas. My sufferings were extreme, my leg, from the knee to the ankle, being a solid sore, which began to extend to other parts of the body. After trying various remedies, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, before I had finished the first bottle, I experienced great relief; the second bottle effected a complete cure."
