

IN SOCIETY.

The following from the World-Herald, will be noted with interest in this city: "An engagement was announced during the week which pleasantly stirred the summer lethargy and gave society something to talk about. It was that of Miss Gertrude Chambers, daughter of Mr. William Chambers, of Omaha, and Mr. Guy Parkes, of Decatur, Ill. Mr. Parkes is not a stranger here, where he lived until five years ago and was connected with the Bank of Commerce. It was during his visit here early in the week that he announced his happiness in capturing one of Omaha's loveliest and sweetest society girls." Miss Chambers visited in Lincoln frequently in the last two years, as the guest of Miss Leila Shears, and was much admired in this city.

Gasoline parties are rather an innovation in Lincoln, but the Ravola club was compelled to give one Wednesday evening. The electric lights flickered out early in the evening and the manager of the Beach secured gasoline flammes by the light of which the dance continued. The subdued light did not lessen the ardor of the merry party. Mr. John H. Farwell and Miss Agnes Sewall led the grand march, followed by Misses Kleutsch, Brooks, Ricketts, Fehet, Raymond, Whedon, Lottridge, Leland, Maude Oakley, Heien Burr, Green, Burnham, Coon of Omaha, Risser, Nance, Richards, Winger, Flo Winger, Terrell of Kentucky, Dethlefs, Mae Burr, Hargreaves, Hooper, Putnam, Graham, Rector, Harley, Duff of Nebraska City, Imhoff, Hammond, Hollowbush, Latta, Messrs. Lottridge, Marine, Sawyer, Ricketts, Wing, Raymond, Pulis, White, Mallalieu, Oakley, Evans, Barrett, Harley, Cooley, Risser, Cullen, Winger, Ourey, Sawyer, L. P.; Clark, Steiner, Meyer, Houtz, Wilkes, Putnam, Joera, Ward, Haughton, Walsh, Marley, Lansing.

Through July a number of small and thoroughly enjoyable swimming parties for ladies have been given in the mornings at the sanitarium. Mrs. Gere gave a small party Tuesday morning for Mrs. Little, and last Saturday morning Mrs. W. B. Ogden entertained a few friends at the sanitarium, the party comprising Mrs. Little, Miss Clark, Mrs. Carl Funke, Mrs. S. E. Moore, Miss Harris and Mrs. Charles L. Burr.

A correspondent at Milford sends me the following: "For some years past Milford has been visited by occasional parties of Lincoln people, and the people here have hoped that the day would come when Milford would come to be regarded as a distinctively Lincoln summer resort. Progress was made slowly until this year, when Lincoln people have encamped here in large numbers. The groves near the Sanitarium, now utilized as a soldiers home, and the shady banks above the dam have for some time been dotted with the tents of Lincoln campers, and while many returned this week, word has been received that a large number of new arrivals may be expected. At Camp Comfort I found a particularly jolly party of campers. This party was chaperoned by the popular sheriff of Lancaster county, Fred Miller, and Mrs. Miller, and included Misses Zoe and Freda Miller, Mrs. S. E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dillon, Mr. and Mrs. William Lawlor Al Bowen, Robert Chartres, Lute Morse, Miss Minnie Hale, Miss Bertha Larsen, Miss Lulu Krone, Miss Hallie Lawlor. The members of this party had many interesting experiences during their sojourn here, and some of them were fortunate in getting back to Lincoln with their lives. Al Bowen in particular was in deadly peril nearly all of the time, surrounded as he was on all sides by charming girls. It was the prevailing opinion in camp that Mr. Bowen's affections were pretty well distributed among the charmers. Mr. Miller, the host, was not at all concerned about politics, but busied himself caring for his guests. I would recount the bravery of Al Bowen in rescuing Miss Hale from the deep Blue, but I notice it was recorded in last week's COURIER. Mr. Bowen's friends are wondering whether he will give this episode the proper romantic ending. The ladies have had some genuine amusement at the expense of the men who promised them an abundance of fish. Every day the men would set out lines properly baited, but there was no catch to speak of, and it was necessary to purchase each day a supply of fish from an accommodating angler who happened by in the mornings. After several days it transpired that the fisherman obtained his supply from the setlines of the men of Camp Comfort, and there arose a coldness between the men and the fish pedler. Wednesday of last week Al Bowen in company with Miss Krone and Miss Lawlor drove to the station to meet the Lincoln train. On the return the party encountered three assertive little animals whose names are seldom mentioned in polite society. Mr. Bowen lost no time in whipping up and the party was saved. Next to Mr. Miller's camp was Camp Trinity, composed of Miss Etta Ross and her Sunday school class in the Trinity M. E. church, and her father, F. M. Ross. There were nine bright active boys in camp, and they enjoyed the outing immensely. One little fellow narrowly escaped being drowned while trying to learn to swim. He was rescued just in the nick of time by Mr. Ross. Some of the boys took home a liberal supply fish. Mr. Miller's party returned to Lincoln the first of the week."

Notable in the series of delightful entertainments which have been given for Mrs. Charles N. Little, of California, in the past few weeks, was the luncheon given by Mrs. C. H. Gere Wednesday at 1 o'clock. Those present were Mrs. S. H. Burnham, Mrs. Hurlbut, Mrs. W. B. Ogden, Mrs. R. C. Outcalt, Mrs. Little, Mrs. Carl Funke, Mrs. Charles L. Burr, Mrs. Otto Funke, Miss Sarah Harris, Mrs. Little expects to leave for California the middle of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Hargeaves and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Leonard intend leaving for New York in a few days, where they will join Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Sheldon for a few weeks sojourn at the Atlantic coast summer resorts.

Bert Wheeler left Omaha for New York last week, intending to meet Judge Cornish of St. Paul, for the purpose of taking testimony in the Union Pacific cases.

Ernest C. Ames, of this city, and B. E. Forbes of Beatrice, are in Chicago in attendance upon the 56th annual convention of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, holding at the Chicago Beach hotel, July 25-29. They are the delegated representatives of the University of Nebraska chapter.

Friends of Mr. C. H. Morrill have been having some amusement at the expense of that gentleman, who in addition to the distinction that has attached to him by reason of his services as regent of the state university and his zeal as a republican, has something of local reputation as a nimrod. Mr. Morrill and Mr. J. H. Ager have gone out on a good many shooting excursions together, and it is only a few days since that they went out on the last—Mr. Morrill is somewhat doubtful if Mr. Ager will ever be permitted to enjoy his society again. Ager is something of a joker, and an opportunity presenting itself, he had some fun with the chairman of the republican state central committee. Morrill had just purchased or had presented to him a fine new gun, and the twain went out to try it, Ager supplying the ammunition. Now Ager had two pockets in his hunting jacket, one containing bonafide shells, and the other, shells filled with salt. Mr. Morrill with his pretty new gun was impatient for a shot, and he asked for a shell. He got one filled with salt. He exploded the gun with no apparent result. He asked for more shells and got more salt and failing to hit anything he became a trifle excited. He tried wing shots and line shots, and even rested his gun on a rock; but the shells all coming from Ager's salt pocket, the only result was a little harmless smoke—and the words that Mr. Morrill did speak. Finally as Mr. Morrill was about to break his fine new gun to pieces on a rock, having reached this point when his companion using his new piece was able to hit everything in sight, Ager disclosed the secret of the shells, and the latter says, it looked for a few minutes as if he would take the place of the rock, in having the gun broken over him. Mr. Morrill is not talking much about his latest shooting experience.

Miss Daisy Tuttle will give a concert in Y. M. C. A. hall, August 6th.

SOCIETY THE COURIER'S regular correspondent in Omaha sends OMAHA the following:

I hear that Mr. Harry Lyman goes east in the fall to be present at his brother's wedding. He will take up his residence in New York and enter the college of Physicians and Surgeons, and when Omaha claims him again it will be as Dr. Lyman.

Miss Buck left for the east on Thursday.

There is no pleasanter drive around Omaha this warm weather than out the 19th street boulevard, through the parks and around to the Post. Every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings the 2nd Infantry band gives an open air concert and the roadway out to Fort Omaha is crowded with numberless vehicles and wheels. It is cool out there the music is excellent and one comes back very much refreshed for the outing.

General Coppinger and Lieutenant Hutchinson left for Idaho on Thursday. The Indian troubles in that part of the country have assumed such proportions that the cavalry has been ordered out and the general takes the field in person.

The engagement of Miss Gertrude Chambers to Mr. Parks, of Decatur, Ill., was announced this week.

Mr. Harry Knapp formerly of Omaha, now a resident of Chicago, was in town this week.

Mrs. Samuel Burns, Miss Burns and Mr. Charles Kountz will leave Saturday for York Harbor, Maine, where they will be Miss Kountz's guests for a month.

Mrs. C. W. Hull and Mrs. Warren Rogers will leave next Wednesday to spend a month at Kennebunkport, Maine.

Mr. Charles How left for the east on Wednesday. He will spend a month visiting relatives and friends in Boston, Hartford and Brooklyn.

Mr. Herbert Rogers returned from New York Wednesday where he has just completed his course in law at Columbia college.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Myron L. Learned entertained a few friends at a "Kensington" tea in honor of her sister, Mrs. Shannon.

Miss Colpetzer left on Wednesday for Lake Minnetonka where she will remain until the latter part of the summer.

Miss Maude Risser, of 1745 C street, gave a delightful "Golden Rod" tea
