

carried and set up with all the ceremony that the tribes used in their wanderings. Great pains have been taken. Mr. Trester has made a careful historical study of Jewish tabernacle manners that the verisimilitude may be perfect.

Miss Jennie Morrison, who has for years been stenographer for the B. & M. supply house, and who has for some time past been preparing herself for the missionary field will leave in September for the Punjab district in northern India. On Friday evening the members of the Y. W. C. A. tendered Miss Morrison a reception at their rooms 141 South Twelfth street. The rooms were profusely decorated with golden rod and cut flowers. The program consisted of a vocal solo by Miss Mary Fox, a recitation by Miss Mary Hanes, instrumental music by Misses Rose Clark and Lillian Dobbs and a very interesting talk by Miss Morrison on her future work. The members of the Empire Auto Harp club furnished music during the entire evening and added greatly to the pleasure of all present. Miss Morrison has been secretary for the association since its organization and it is with sincere regret that the members bid her farewell and realize that they will sadly miss her services in their work for young women.
