

ON THE WHEEL.

Will Miller, who came near losing an eye at the Kearney meet, is able to be on his wheel this week and says he is ready for the club runs now.

Pres. Ed M. Allen of the 4 C's and family will return tomorrow. He did not run the mileage he intended to on account of sickness.

Next Wednesday evening the 4 C's have their run to Rymer's water melon patch. It is only four miles with good roads and a large crowd is expected to turn out. The ladies are especially invited. Start from club rooms at 7:15. (The melons will be paid for.)

September 2nd and 3rd the cyclists of Fremont will hold a race meet. Good prizes are offered and a large delegation of Lincoln riders will be present.

Most of Lincoln's racing men are in Hastings this week taking in the races.

Sunday, September 8th the boys of the 4 C's will turn out one of the largest runs of the season. For the last month they have had no Sunday runs. The place has not been decided upon yet, but it will be a run which everybody will be able to make.

Last Sunday the 4 C's were to meet the Omaha boys in Louisville and a large run was expected, but owing to the rains it was postponed. Capt. Hoagland is corresponding with the Omaha boys and will probably have the run next month.

The Capital City Cycling Club has an emblem now and all members are wearing it. It is a circle with a red border and has four C's and a wing in the center.

Tomorrow the run of the 4 C's is called for Wilber. This is a nice run, 30 miles, and all members must try to be present. Start at 8 o'clock a. m.

E. E. Mockett, Lincoln's class B. rider, won first place in the five mile handicap at Newton, Iowa this week with a field of seventeen starters. Eb. is all right and from this season's races is building up quite a reputation as a racer.

Milmine & Clark received a Syracuse tandem Thursday evening which they intend to use for renting purposes.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

Edited by ALBERT SHAW

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

IT WAS

in April, 1891, that the first number of the American Review of Reviews was printed. The new idea of giving the best that was in the other magazines in addition to its own brilliant, original articles, took America by storm, as it had taken England—though the magazine itself was not at all a reprint of the English edition. It deals most largely with American affairs, and is edited with perfect independence, in its own office.

The Review of Reviews is a monthly, timely in illustration and text, and instantly alive to the newest movements of the day, to a degree never before dreamed of. Thousands of readers who offer their commendations, among them the greatest names in the world, say that the Review of Reviews gives them exactly what they should know about politics, literature, economics and social progress. The most influential men and women of all creeds and all parties have agreed that no family can afford to lose its educational value, while for professional and business men, it is simply indispensable. The departments are conducted by careful specialists, instead of mere scissors-wielders, and scores of immediately interesting portraits and pictures are in each number.

All this explains why the Review of Reviews has come to a probably unprecedented success in the first three years of its existence. For 1895 it will be more invaluable than ever.

Agents are reaping handsome profits. We give liberal commissions. Send for terms.

THE REGULAR DEPARTMENTS

Besides the special articles and character sketches of thrilling interest and timeliness, the Review of Reviews has these regular departments:

The Progress of the World.—An illustrated editorial review of the month's events which thinking, alert men and women should understand in their proper significance and proportions.

Leading Articles of the Month.—This department, and the succeeding one, The Periodical Reviews, embody the ideas on which the magazine was founded and named. All that is best in the other magazines, American and foreign, is here brightly summarized, reviewed and quoted from.

Current History in Cartoons chronicles the month's history through the picturesque means of the successful cartoons that are appearing throughout the world.

Other departments review carefully new books, give lists and indexes of all articles in the world's magazines, and furnish a terse daily record of current events.
