The selection of Mrs. Field and Mrs. Sawyer for the board of directors of the woman's department of the Trans-Mississippi exposition is a wise one. Their selection is a pretty sure sign that, as far as the women are concerned, Lincoln will do her part.

The Courier has received from Mrs. Stoutenborough of Plattsmouth a directory of the women's clubs of the state, for which it is very grateful. The book is very convenient, neat, and supplies a long felt want.

Sorosis met March 9th with Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Holyoke was leader, her subject being the Salvation army. She had spent last summer at Old Orchard, where she had attended a "Salvation camp meeting." The reminiscences of this occasion were very interesting.

Mrs. R. L. Holyoke sang some of the songs her sister had heard at Old Orchard, so that Sorosis ladies felt they had a better understanding of the evangelistic methods used by the army than they had before. Mrs. Holyoke gave a discriminating account of the work at large, dwelling particularly upon answered criticisms as to expenditures of the Booth family.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Barbour, 1724 L street. Miss Kingsley will lead, with Cripple Creek her subject.

Professor and Mrs. Kimball, Miss Susie Scofield and Mr. John Randolph occupied a loge at the Camilla Urso concert, Friday, March 5th.

Mr. George B. Harris spent Monday and Tuesday visiting his mother, and on Wednesday joined Mr. C. E. Perkins in a trip to the Black Hills.

The cooking class Thursday afternoon was very successful. There were about twenty in the class. Mrs. Everett showed how to make oyster soup, and Mrs. Ames baking powder biscuit. They explained just the little points that are most necessary in successful cooking, and the proof was in the eating, for both biscuits and soup were delicious. Next Thursday there will be a second lesson under the auspices of the Domestic Science Department of the Woman's Club. This time Mrs. Gage will show how to make angel's food and Mrs. Gund sunshine cake. A salad will also be illustrated. All who come will find it a profitable hour.

The Magazine Club meets next Wednesday evening. Miss Conkling of the University will describe the scenes of the Marble Faun. She was enjoyed so much a month ago when she described some of her experiences in Italy that all are sure of having an interesting evening. Anyone will be welcome who cares to come.

QUATRAINS.

BLIND MAN'S BUFF.

We grope blind-folded through the dreadful days,
A slow continual knell, rings muffled in our ears,
The earth beneath our feet deep scarred with myriad graves,
At last we fall and leave a legacy of empty years.

THE PESSIMIST.

He sees the heavens mirrored in the muddy puddle at his feet,
And deems the reach of his dust-blinded eyes
The whole extent: the feeble beatings of his shrivelled cankered heart
To him are echoes of the heart of God

GOD'S HEART.

God's heart is like a mother's heart,
He loves his wayward children best,
And those who wound Him sorest
He holds the closest to His breast.
