UNIVERSITY NEWS.

The last chapel exercise of the year at the state university was held Tuesday morning. The regular exercises were conducted by Chancellor MacLean. At the close he made announcements of the leading events in commencement week. The baccalaureate sermon will be preached Sunday, June 6, at 8 p. m. in the Lansing. Admission will be without ticket, but seats will be reserved for seniors and faculty.

The pluck of parents in sending their sons and daughters and the willingness of young people to get along with bare necessities has increased the number so that the freshman class is 20 per cent larger than ever before.

Prof. T. M. Hodgeman, who had been elected the evening before secretary of the local chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, announced the following as the second election from the senior class: J. V. Cortelyou, Benton Dales, Ada Graham, Ida Heise, S. M. Moss, C. S. Norton, Nettie Philbrick, Edwin Piper, L. C. Smith, G. H. Thomas, Julia Wort. The announcement was received by the students with applause.

The annual address before the college of law will be delivered by Judge Woolworth June 7, 8 p. m.

Edward Everett Hale will be the commencement orator. Arrangements have been made to have him speak also at 2:30 on Wednesday in the Lansing. There will be no tickets, but a few seats will be reserved for the faculty and members of Phi Beta Kappa. A reception will be held in his honor Thursday evening in the art rooms.

Mrs. H. H. Wilson will deliver the annual address before the alumni of all colleges.

The chancellor gave students a few statistics to carry home with them. The enrollment for the year was 1,653, against 1,509 of last year, notwithstanding hard times and raising of grade.

Kappa Kappa Gamma gave a tallyho party at the competitive drill on the campus Saturday afternoon.

Kappa Alpha Theta had a booth decorated with mats, pillows, rugs and colors on the drill ground, from which they watched the drill. They presented the captain of each company with a little banner of his colors as a souvenir.

The Delta Gamma's gave a coaching party Monday afternoon and evening. They went out to Ensign's farm.

A Pan Hellenic party was given at the Beach Friday night, all the fraternities taking part. Dancing was the feature of the evening.

Miss Laura Bridge went to Fremont Friday, where she will spend her vacation.

Miss Georgia Camp returned from Ithaca, N. Y., Tuesday, where she has been attending the Delta Gamma convention. Miss Blanche Garten who went with her will return in a few days.

Chancellor MacLean will hold a reception at his home next Monday evening for the faculty and senior law students.

Prof. F. W. Taylor has been in Chicago the past week.

The class of city teachers doing university extension work, under the direction of Jay Barret, presented him with a very fine willow chair at their last class meeting.

Examinations are about finished. Many students are leaving for their homes.

All who are interested in civil service examination should read the bulletins which can be found in Nebraska hall.

Many people have been wondering what makes the fruit trees look as if the leaves had been scalded. Wherever this is observed the fruit is blasted. This is due to a blight. There is no known remedy except cutting out the affected parts.

The university just now is sending out the summer school statements. There will be twelve subjects taught by seven heads of departments and four of the older instructors.

Prof. Sherman will give the instruction in English.

Prof. Adams, with his family, left for Lexington, Missouri, Wednesday night where he will take a short vacation. From there he will go to Cornell University. The students follow him with best wishes.

Mr. J. W. Crabtree, who was superintendent of the Beatrice High school, who has been appointed high school inspector, will be at the summer school.

Second vice-president, Mrs. H. H. Wheeler, 1517 H street.

The Omaha Woman's club met on Monday afternoon to elect officers for the ensuing year. After some work the following were elected: President, Mrs. Lillian R. Harford; vice president, Mrs. Andrews; recording secretary, Mrs. Hoobler; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Anna Herring; treasurer, Mrs. Clara M. Rosewater; chairman of auditing committee, Mrs. Tilden; chairman of constitution committee, Mrs. MacMurphy; house and home committee, Mrs. Squires.

On Tuesday the city improvement society met and listened to reports from the children who have been induced to take an interest in improving the school grounds. The reports were most interesting and showed that the children were taking hold of the work with a zeal that might be emulated. They have made flower beds and planted them, planted window boxes and kept them watered, and picked up garbage and refuse. Vandals will cease, in another generation, to be appropriate name for Americans. The children will be educated men and women and spitting and throwing papers and stealing flowers will no longer be permitted.

The W. and Y. W. C. A. wish to start a circulating picture gallery. The pictures are to be loaned from the rooms on 12th street, kept several weeks and then exchanged for others. Contributions are solicited from those who wish to aid in distributing sweetness and light. The committee in charge will accept anything suitable for the purpose, engravings, good chromos, photographs, anything that interests and pleases and elevates. There are enough pictures stored away in the garrets and closets of Lincoln to give each invalid one and aged in the city a change of scene, and it is earnestly requested that enough contributions will follow this request to enable the committee to make their offers at once.

SHORT STORIES.

The little girl sat before the fire which roared comfortably in the stove. The stove was a new one. It had been bought when she was sick with the fever and unconscious and her father had paid an extra sum out of his earnings, so hardly earned, to buy a stove, the door of which should have been in glass in it. He hesitated over this a while. He really could not afford it and the other stove was just as good, but Nannie had talked of the iron glass in the judge's hard coal burner ever since she saw it last winter. That was before she had the fever. And she had almost died, and now—a great something filled his throat and he hesitated no longer. So that was the way the stove was bought and Nannie did not know it until she opened her eyes one day and became conscious of the warmth and bright glow from the iron glass door. As soon as she was able she was pushed in front of the fire in the huge rocker which had been grandmother's. There she sat, bunched up in quiet until she became dizzy and had to lie down again. This evening she sat before the fire with her eyes fixed on the iron glass in
