

eroned by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Burr. The participants were the Misses Jessie Lansing, Blanche Hargreaves, Emma Outcalt, Margorie Winger, Addie Whiting, Miss Cline of Chicago, Bess Barker of Portland, Oregon, Houtz, Vancil and Macfarland. Messrs Bartlett, Barber, Korsmeyer, George and Harry Shedd, Wiggenhorn, Sawyer, McCreey, Manley and Westerman.

Mrs. Ina Taber (born Dillon,) whose sweet voice was once familiar to Lincoln audiences, is now residing in Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Taber have many friends in Lincoln. Several have visited them in Boston where they are very pleasantly located. Mrs. Taber writes that she has at last found a teacher with a perfect method in Olivieri the teacher of Jean de Reezke with whom she has been studying. Some of Mrs. Taber's pupils went to Olivieri and he was so pleased with the instruction they had had that when he was taken ill he sent some of his pupils to Mrs. Taber. Unfortunately the great singing master has been ill for many months with a cancer in his mouth which will probably be fatal.

Mr. and Mrs. Huffman also live in Boston. Miss Harriett is in Smith's college and is a pretty and charming girl.

On Monday Mrs. Ackerman gave a small card party in compliment to Miss Fanny Ehrman of St. Joseph, who is visiting Mrs. M. Oppenheimer. They played high five. Miss Aline Friend won the first prize, a silver hat brush. The consolation prize was a dainty old china shoe full of sweet peas. The guests were: Misses Aline and Pauline Friend, Bertha Seligsohn, Cora Schlesinger, Sallie Berkson, Ehrman, Mrs. Newmark and Mrs. Chas. Mayer.

Mrs. Carl Funke entertained the following guests in honor of Mrs. Boehmer on Thursday afternoon: Mesdames I. M. Raymond, A. S. Raymond, L. C. Richards, McFarland, Burnham, R. H. Oakley, C. C. Burr, Phillips, Henry Lewis, Boehmer, Coates, Ogden, Outcalt, Katherine Funke, Hudson Imhoff, Ed. Holmes, J. E. Houtz, S. E. Moore, Miss Harris. Mr. and Mrs. Boehmer were members of the small class that was the nucleus of the club which became the Patriarchs. This class the first year was taught by Prof. Mahler, the second year by Miss Hawkins, now Mrs. Frank Smith. It was Mrs. Funke's very clever idea to invite the charter members of the Patriarchs to meet and greet Mrs. Boehmer, who was one of the first. The ladies told old stories and revived old memories in delightful reminiscence the whole afternoon.

Mrs. Coates gave a pleasant afternoon party in honor of Mrs. F. A. Boehmer, her guest, on Tuesday. Those invited were: Mesdames Lewis, Richards, McConnell, Pound, Welch, Holmes, Beeson, Greene, Lippincott, Funke, Ogden, Boehmer, Imhoff, Bailey, I. M. Raymond, A. S. Raymond, Tilton, Ladd, R. E. Moore, S. E. Moore, Leonard, Phillips, Gere, Thompson, Mohrenstecher, L. C. Moore, C. L. Burr, Brown, MacFarland, Outcalt, Hargreaves, Houtz, Eddy, Armstrong, Hargreaves, Dawes, Miss Miller, a guest of Mrs. Leonard, Mrs. McEwen, Miss Harris.

When Mr. C. E. Magoon was in Washington a few weeks ago he met President McKinley, who, when he knew where his new acquaintance hailed from, expressed his appreciation of a dinner tendered him on a pre-nomination visit to Lincoln by the Commercial club. The president said: "I have always regretted having to leave that dinner, but engagements in another city had to be kept." The president's quick recollection of an incident which, considering the number of complimentary banquets tendered him, was unimportant, shows his tact and kindness. His social success in Washington is equal to Mrs. Cleveland's. He has a memory for faces, names and incidents that is most pleasing in the "first citizen." Perhaps his habitual gentleness and consideration have been cultivated by the care which Mrs. McKinley has required from him for years. It is said that at the state dinners Mrs. McKinley will not give up her place to any one else but presides in spite of her liability to be seized with an epileptic attack. With the shadow of this dread upon him and with his eyes constantly returning to the face of the poor mistress of the White House, the president does not neglect attention to those who sit next to him. He is an excellent listener, and a good raconteur, though he makes no pretensions to after dinner fame. His replies show that he is attentive even though he is on the alert for that moment when the mistress of the feast must leave it. Under these circumstances the president's deportment is admirable, and he is fast making friends, as Mrs. Cleveland did, because he possesses a rare sweetness and grace of character.

C. Bruce Smith, formerly the baritone at the First Congregational church, is said to be a teacher of singing in the Chicago Conservatory of Music at Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard will give a large party this evening in compliment to the young lady, Miss Miller of Beardstown, Ill., who is visiting them. The handsome house will be filled with the flower of Lincoln. To Miss Willoughby's always correct music they will dance. The wide porches will be filled with the white summer gowns and inky black suits, out under the stars, the velvet lawn, for the time being, will be a stage for the following dramatic personae: The guests were:

Misses—
Mae Burr,
Grace Oakley,
F. Farwell,
Alice Righter,
Olive Latta,
Dennett, of Omaha,
Marie Hooper,
Hollowbush,
Lucie Griffith,
Mae Prentiss,
Mabel Miller,
May Moore,
Sadie Baum,
Stella Curtis,
Eliza Miller,
Emma Outcalt.

Messrs. and Mesdames—
C. L. Burr,
J. Dorgan,
G. Woods,
F. Houtz,
R. Curtice,
Lew Marshall.

Messrs.—
Ray Welch,
Guy Hurlbut,
John Farwell,
B. Joyce,
G. Bartlett,
J. Lottridge,
Stebbins,
F. Cowdery,
C. Magoon,
F. C. Zehring,
W. Yates,
H. Yates,
J. Mallalieu,
C. Y. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Brown gave a porch party last night in compliment to Miss Dennett of Omaha, Mrs. Brown's sister, and Miss Smith, guests of a week. The coterie, the members of which are almost as well acquainted as brothers and sisters, were present: Miss Grace Oakley, Mae Burr, Mae Moore, Guy Hurlbut, Joe Mallalieu, etc., etc., until the list reaches twenty, and Lincoln's juvenile limit is reached.

Miss Edith Edwards, business test medium, meets the public daily with readings. Spiritual advice given. Also seance, Wednesday evenings. Room 43, Halter Bldg.

LADIES

THAT OLD FUR GARMENT is worth almost as much today as the day you bought it; but you don't know it. As long as the hair is on the skin it is GOOD. Moth eaten or worn poth can be taken out without even showing a seam. The only question is what can be done with it? Its out of style and worn. Maybe it needs a new lining, or should be stylishly trimmed. That old coat would make a beautiful cape, and capes are just the thing this season. There's that old fur garment you haven't worn for years, because it is all "fagged out." Why, that will make a beautiful collarette; just the thing for fall and spring wear. Then just look at that garment. It is entirely "gone up," the hair stands the wrong way on it, and it is worn and matted. "Its no earthly use." Well, it does look bad, but by the process of glazing the fur is brought out and cleaned and then, when remodeled, it is like new.

During July and August

This year we will make a specialty of Alterations and Repairs. Our system of measurement is such we can fit you as well by mail as by personal measurement. We have a large stock of new furs, all our own make, at very low price. Write to us.

F. E. VOELKER, Practical Furrier,
Cor. 12th & N Sts., Lincoln, Nebraska

This afternoon from 4 to 6 Mrs. John B. Wright gives an afternoon tea to Halsey and Willard Yates.

Miss Marie Hooper entertained a small company Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Seba Case and Mr. Wall of Fairbault, Minn. Miss Hooper's guests were:

Messrs. and Mesdames—

Ilex Marshall,

A. F. Walsh.

Misses—

Burr,

Hollowbush,

Miller,

Case,

Hooper,

Ketchum.

Messrs.—

Hurlbut,

Knox,

Wall,

Cowdrey.

Miss Louise Pound's tennis victory in Chicago gives her a national reputation and is very gratifying to her family and friends here. Miss Cowes, the young lady whom she defeated, is a social favorite on the North side and an heiress to many dollars. Of course the sympathy of the spectators was with Miss Cowes and the disappointment was great when she lost. Yet in true sportsman fashion they cheered Miss Pound and presented her the prize racket and silver cup gracefully.

Mr. Louis Storrs of Denver, is visiting friends in the city. Mr. Storrs was a social favorite when he was an undergraduate at the university. He is now geologist for the Northern Pacific in a state where geological products are of the first importance. His visit does not create the excitement it would have occasioned among society girls two years ago, because he is now married.

Dr. Sheldon E. Cook is in Toronto, Canada, where, it is said, he will be married. This may be just newspaper gossip; anyway it lacks confirmation.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Leighton gave a pretty lawn party on Wednesday evening at their home, 1704 R street.

The B. Bs will give a card party at Mr. and Mrs. Schlesingers, corner K and 16th streets on Monday evening.

Miss Clara Walsh has been appointed art instructor at the Wesleyan. It is considered a strong appointment as Miss Walsh comes back from the east with prizes and scholarships and commendations enough to place her in the front rank of Western artists.

In McClure's Magazine for September, William Allen White, whose story of "The King of Boyville" has been read with delight the country over, will relate "An Episode of the Swimming-hole at Boyville," wherein "Peggy" Pennington and his devoted subjects further reveal themselves.

Wilt's Grocery. Always the lowest priced. 1258-1230 O street.

DRAMATIC NOTES.

The greatest photographic feat of the present century was unquestionably that performed by Mr. Enoch Rector at the ring-side at Carson City on the 17th of March last, when he took a complete set of pictures of the Corbett Fitzsimmons contest. These pictures were taken on a film specially prepared which measures, now that the pictures are complete, nearly two miles and one third in length, and there are one hundred and forty-three thousand and seven separate and distinct photographs, which show each and every detail of the contest, no matter how minute. After having secured the pictures, Mr. Rector proceeded to invent a machine which is called the veriscope, an intricate, delicate piece of machinery which is used to throw the pictures of the contest upon the screen. Mr. Dan A. Stuart is the president of the veriscope company, which carries not only the machine, but the only genuine pictures of this great athletic contest which are now before the public. Thus far these pictures have only been shown in three of the great cities of the country—New York, Boston and Chicago. Three weeks ago the pictures were given their first exhibition at the Grand Opera House in Chicago, and since that time, despite the fact that there have been two daily exhibitions, the theatre is crowded at each performance and even now the seats are being secured at the box office five weeks in advance. Mr. Duncan B. Harrison, manager of the Veriscope in Chicago, has secured the rights for the west and will exhibit these pictures in the various cities throughout the country. It is a most interesting and entertaining exhibition, for the contest is seen exactly as it really happened in the ring at Carson City, the figures moving about precisely as they did on that momentous occasion. In the theatres of the three cities where the pictures are now running, it has been especially noticeable that the audiences have been made up largely of the better class of theatergoers, and that at each performance there are many ladies, fully one-third of the entire audience, occupying the seats. The veriscope and pictures, which form by long odds the most remarkable entertainment ever given, will be seen at the Funke in September. The veriscope and the pictures make a complete evening's entertainment, running two hours and ten minutes.

Edwin Milton Koyle has been paid the unusual compliment of having his play "Capt. Impudence" published as a story. A well known publishing house of New York City announces that they have bought the right and that the book will appear on the news-stands in September.

Call at 140 south 11th, and get the best meat in the city. Al. Walker, prop.