Miss Mary Levi of New Orleans is visiting her aunt Mrs. Ackerman, at 1212 J street. Misses Francis and Ellen Gere and Mrs Lottis Whedon are guests of Miss Cora Cropsey in Fairbury. Miss Grace Ashton left on Tuesday for St. Louis, where she will be the guest of Miss Mabel Lange. Miss Olive Latta gave a charming dinner party for a few friends after the Philharmonic concert, for Mrs. Packard who is a Theta. Miss Marie Hoover who is with Mrs. Plank in New York, will go from there to Boston for the present. John Phillips of the Burlington city ticket office has gone to the City of Mexico to spend a two weeks' vacation. Misses Gertrude and Tina Bradt of Beatrice are in the city for a few days the guests of Mrs. O. M. Stonebraker. Mrs. P. W. Plank is expected soon to return to Lincoln. Mr. Plank left for New York this week in order to accompany her home. Mr. G. Stevenson and Mr. J. Gallagher returned Monday from Beatrice, where they spent Christmas with Mr. Stevenson's parents. Prof. F. M. Fling and wife left Monday for Cleveland, O., where Prof. Fling will read a paper before the American historical society. The Castleman Club gave a delightful party Wednesday evening in the L. L. I. Armory. Their next party will be December 13th in the same hall. Albert F. Woods of the department of vegetable pathology of the agricultural department at Washington returned to his post Monday after visiting his relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. Ackerman's friends surprised them last week on the evening of the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding. Beautiful gifts were presented. The evening was spent informally. Mr. A. W. Bassett and Miss Ethel Howell of Havelock were united in marriage at the home of the bride's brother in Havelock on Friday, by Rev. W. H. Pr Scott. They will make their home in Lincoln. Company D., N. N. G., gave a delightful dance at the armory, 1024 O street Tuesday evening. About twenty five couples were present and all had a delightful time. Their reception room is very cozy and the hall just large enough for their enjoyable parties. Mrs. Archibald Scott gave a charming reception Thursday afternoon in honor of Misses Lillian and Grace Stoute, a borough of Plattsmouth. About one hundred guests called between the hours of two and four. Miss Clara Leese assisted in receiving the young people. The rooms had been very artistically trimmed with holly and cotton, which set off with good effect the white organdie gowns of those who assisted in serving. In the sitting room was a punch bowl presided over by Miss Anna Howland assisted by Misses Helen Miner and Helen Hoover. The tea table was presided over by Misses Winifred Hill and Winifred Norvel who were assisted by Misses Gertrude Chambers and Jennie Erb. Mrs. Scott is a pleasing hostess and looked well after the entertainment of her guests. James Keith formerly of Lincoln, but now of Trinidad, Colo., is in the city. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sawyer gave one of their characteristic and hospitable New Year's parties on Friday evening. Dr. George E. Howard talked to the guests about "New England Feasts and Holidays." The ladies of the Jewish temple entertained the Sunday school children in a very pleasant manner Monday, in Courier hall. The children spent the afternoon in dancing, playing games and an impromptu program. Each child received a dainty gift and a bag of candy. Many of the absent ones were also kindly remembered. Miss Ella Crawford gave a reception Monday night for Prof. George Williams of Ithaca, N. Y. The evening was spent with games and music. Prof. Williams left for Norfolk Tuesday, where he was united in marriage with Miss Elsie Robertson at high noon. They will make their home at Ithaca. Mrs. Maude Mullen White, formerly of Lincoln but now of New York City, gave a nine course luncheon for her husband's sister who attended LaSalle Seminary at Auburndale, Mass. The guests were eight LaSalle girls one of whom was Miss Mae Burr of Lincoln. The tables were decorated with pink flowers and candelabra. After the luncheon the party went to see John Drew in his charming play "A Marriage of Convenience." Miss May Honeywell entertained at high five on Tuesday afternoon in honor of Misses Hayes and LaSalle of Beatrice. Miss Viola Gray won the first prize and Miss Katherine Fiske of Beatrice the second. Light refreshments were served. The guests were: Misses— Nell LaSalle, Daisy Sabin, Katherine Fiske, Teresa Salee, Viola Gray, Emma Outcalt, Laura Houtz, Winnie Hill, Florence Maule, Beth Marshall, Ida Hoffman, Edna Harpham, Rose Foster, Misses— Mabel Hayes, Ret'a Moody, Tina Bradt, Blanche Hargreaves, Henrietta Hawley, Jessie Lansing, Florence Putnam, Marguerite Winger, Adelloy Whiting, Margaret Whedon, Frances Maule, Eila Harper, Laura Fiske, Ethel Hooper. Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Campbell have instituted an innovation in Lincoln society. They have set apart Thursday evenings during the season for their "at home" evening. It is intended to make this evening musical as well as conversational and any friends who wish are asked to bring their music with them to help make an interesting evening. This sort of entertainment borders on the salon, but is not exactly like it. It is strange that no one has thought of this before. Mrs. Plank last year had something like it, but she usually invited a few guests on a certain evening of each week to enjoy the new music. Mrs. Campbell's is an improvement in that she invites all of her friends to come any Thursday evening. This is another step toward the metropolitan. It is certainly very gracious of Mrs. Campbell to open her home in such a cordial way,
