bell and Mrs. E. P. Brown of the Lincoln club and Mrs. Sedgwick representing the York "Amateur Musicals Club." The members of the Matinee Musicals are much gratified to have one of their number appointed on the Board of Directors of the new federation.

The program consisted of polonaise, barcarolles and Spanish songs. A paper on "Spanish Music" was given by Mrs. W. Q. Eell, and its peculiar rhythm illustrated by a bright, fantastic piano selection. Spanish or gipsy songs were sung by Mrs. Wright, Miss Louise Miller, Miss Furnas. Miss Odell played a Chopin polonaise, and Mrs. Will Owen Jones a beautiful barcarolle, also by Chopin. A trio from Karl Merz, operetta "The Gipsy Girls," was sung by Mrs. Sanderson, Mrs. Noble and Miss Reynolds. The accompanist was Miss Maud Riiser.

The French women started a new enterprise lately, a daily newspaper called La Fronde, devoted to politics, literature, and the general news of the day. It is entirely edited, administered and controlled by women, who consider that they have the right to give their opinions officially upon all questions interesting the society of which they are members as much as the men, since women in France form a majority of the population and pay a large percentage of the taxes which they do not vote.

The editor is Madame Marguerite Durand, a woman of great weight and ability; and Madame Leopold Lacour, the chronicler of the work, writes a dainty little article in which each day is headed by a bar of music with the names of the days as notes. Sarah Bernhardt, among others, has deep interest in the paper. But now we are told that the gallant Frenchmen, afraid of its popularity, is seeking its destruction. May the pluck of our Gallic sisters be rewarded.

Stanton Sorosis held its third annual bacquet Friday evening, February 4th, at the home of the president, Mrs. A. L. Nixon. This was the fourth anniversary of the society so it was thought best to have the arrangements quite elaborate. This club at present consists of nineteen ladies. About twenty invitations were sent out, mostly to the husbands of the members. The entertainment committee who should have great praise for the complete success of the affair, arranged to serve an elaborate dinner in three full courses. Miss Gray and Mrs. McGiverin from Fremont, were the invited guests of special honor. At 7:30 o'clock, the forty guests were ushered into the dining rooms which were beautifully decorated with cut flowers, fine china, cut glass and embroidered table service. Each guest found his place by a card upon one side of which was his name, upon the other a well fitted conundrum. These brought forth much merriment. A full hour and a half was devoted to this part of the program, when Miss Austin called for the last course which consisted of large cards and pencils. Upon the cards were written the letters spelling Sorosis in a horizontal column. All were required to write a short poem beginning each line with the letters upon the card. After about fifteen minutes was absorbed in this mental effort, the productions were read. Possibly they were not all of the dactylic hexameter style, but they were decidedly funny. After this, all repaired to the parlors where two well rendered quartettes were sung. Miss Gray was then introduced and gave a very interesting parlor lecture upon "The Club as an Agency." Prizes were then awarded the successful competitors in the poetry contest, then there was more sociability until 11 o'clock when all bid the Dr. and Mrs. Nixon good night feeling that they had proven themselves royal entertainers. This year the organization has undertaken more social functions than ever before. Contrary to our fears it has not seemed to diminish but rather to increase the interest in the literary part of the work.

Mrs. Elvira Birkner of Sutton, reports: The L. L. C. met February 2nd, with Mrs. W. L. Stone. Quotations on the day were given in answer to roll call. Norman Conquest, 1068-1071, Mrs. A. Stephens.
