The Girls' Minstrel show was given last night at the armory, and was a social as well as a financial success. The hall was decorated profusely with the university and fraternity colors. Most of the men's fraternities had reserved sections which were marked off with their particular colors. The show itself, the first thing of the kind ever undertaken here, was a success and delighted the audience. The make-ups were good. Their appreciation gave a zest to the players and the whole entertainment went off smoothly.

Mrs. C. F. Ladd will give a Kensington Saturday afternoon. This is the first of a series of afternoons. Her guests will be Mesdames Billmeyer, Reese, H. B. Thompson, Bignell, Bartlett, M. E. and R. A society editor of the New York World was assigned by his chief to give a dinner at Delmonico's to Chuck Connors, of Doyers street fame, and to some very swell gentlemen of the 400, each of the guests, when the dinner was over, pursuant to a previous secret understanding with the editor, to write for the Sunday World a criticism of the other's table manners. The repast was to be an elaborate one, and the pair were to be given full scope in their personal criticisms. The editor wended his way to Fifth avenue, and there had little difficulty in finding a gentleman of social distinction who was averse neither to a good dinner at somebody else's expense nor to airing his opinions of Mr. Connors' table manners. The success of the enterprise seemed assured. Nothing remained now but to go after the "tough mug" of Doyers street. Chuck was found
