by the chapters. When it is considered that the society numbers now nearly twenty-four thousand members, it is realized what a tremendous power for help this number will mean."

Undeterred by war and rumors of war, the city improvement society met Wednesday in the parlors of the Union club and serenely discussed the streets and trees. Mrs. H. J. Seamark of the Park school grounds committee reported a very successful meeting of the patrons of the school and interested friends, in which it was decided to place a neat iron fence about the grounds, the funds on hand belonging to the patrons' association being set aside for that purpose. The trees which had been presented to the school had been immediately planted and made a marked improvement. Mrs. Seamark also submitted a beautiful landscape plan drawn up by Tyler and son, approved by the school board and bearing the official seal of that body. The picture will be framed and hung in the school building.

Following this report a discussion arose concerning the most suitable flower to be planted upon the school grounds. It was finally decided that scarlet geraniums massed in solid beds secured the best effect, such plants being the least likely to result in a ragged growth.

Mrs. M. D. Welch reported that thirty waste cans were being constructed and would be put in the designated places sometime between the 1 and 10 of May.

Mrs. Thomas Marsland was elected chairman of the committee on sidewalks and the president was authorized to appoint a chairman of parks.

The Hall in the Grove met with Miss Stevens, 821 E street on Friday evening. The current events were full of the spirit of war. The subject for discussion was "American art in the nineteenth century." Architecture, sculpture, decorators, illustrators and paintings were topics ably handled by Mesdames Lindley, Bushnell, Leavitt and Miss Stevens.

After an intermission the program for next year's work was discussed. Adjourned to meet in two weeks with Mrs. Smith, 14th and H streets, when the election of officers will be held and the topic for study decided upon.

The Friends in Council of Tecumseh met with Mrs. Lee Chamberlain Wed nesday of last week. The meeting was called to order by the vice president, Mrs. Brundage. After the business was disposed of Mrs. Carman took charge of the meeting and very ably conducted the parliamentary drill, proving herself a most excellent parliamentarian. Then dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Wednesday of this week the club met with Mrs. Al Shaw. After the business hour Mrs. W. Shaw very beautifully described the home life of Elizabeth Stewart Phelps Ward, from childhood to womanhood. In the discussion that followed each member gave an account of some of her books or writings. The social hour and dainty refreshments followed; adjourned to meet with Mrs. Howard, May 4th.

The York Woman's club held its regular session April 11, in the federation rooms. The closing chapters of the history of Ancient Rome were discussed, Mrs. Ferguson leader. This club has devoted three years of hard work to Ancient history and feel well repaid.

Mrs. Clark in a paper the "Beginning and ending of the Nineteenth century," reviewed some of the events which make this century one to be remembered.

Mrs. Hammond gave a review of Hugh Wynne, a historical novel of Revolutionary times. Hugh Wynne was written by S. Weir Mitchell. Mrs. Carscadden as leader of the civil government class, makes this our most interesting study and all feel grateful to her for the time and attention she gives the lessons. Club meets again in two weeks.

The Northend Woman's club met in regular session April 23. Roll call was responded to by Familiar Sayings. The principal topic for study was History upon which there was an interesting discussion. Our president rendered an excellent paper upon the subject "Women of the Revolutionary period." It was much appreciated by the club.

The remainder of the program consisted of recitations and selections of instrumental music.

The Zetetics of Weeping Water met with Mrs. Woodford April 23, sixteen members being present. Topic Shakspeare. After a number of items of business were disposed of the meeting was turned over into the hands of the leader Mrs. Race, who had selected the play of Othello and conducted the discussion
