

effect being completed with pink lamps and pink carnations in profusion. The large bay window in the second parlor was skillfully draped with national flags and colors which are especially prominent now. Under this bower Miss Daisy Cochran served. Boston punch. She was assisted by Misses Helen Welch, Helen Harwood, Jessie Lausing and Laura Bridge who were gowned in white. The dining room was especially beautiful. It, too, was decorated in pink, the pink shades of the candelabra giving that delicate tint to the whole room. Here Miss Katherine Woods served the ice cream and other dainties. She was assisted by Misses Ethel Tukey, Fannie Cole, Joy Webster, Clara Watkins and Selma Noren, who were all gowned in pink. Hagenow's orchestra seated behind a screen of palms furnished sweet music during the hours of reception. The affair was complete in every detail, and many were the compliments which the hostess received on the success of her afternoon.

Miss Mame Carson, formerly of Lincoln, daughter of the late John L. Carson, was married at Kansas City, Mo., on Wednesday, May 18th, to Mr. F. D. Rollins of Columbia, Mo. The wedding ceremony occurred in the parlors of the Midlands of Kansas City. The bride's gown was a tailor made cloth with touches of white, with hat in complimentary colors, and she carried violets. The wedding party stood under a gigantic palm whose branches made a canopy above the bride and groom. The parlors were done in green and white. Only the near relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Rollins were present. Lincoln people received their cards Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Rollins are now in St. Louis where they will spend two weeks before going to their home in Columbia. Mrs. Rollins has been an important member of society here for several seasons and she will be very much missed. The announcement was a surprise to her Lincoln friends who will be glad to know that Mr. Rollins is a man of wealth and position, liked and respected by all who know him. Mrs. Rollins has many warm friends in Lincoln who wish her happiness while regretting her departure.

Mrs. O. W. Webster's home was the scene of a brilliant reception Tuesday afternoon. About two hundred guests called during the receiving hours. Mrs. Webster was assisted in receiving by Mesdames Black of Bloomington, Meissner of Liberty. Mesdames E. E. Brown and H. A. Babcock assisted in entertaining in the parlors. The dining room and parlors were decorated in pink and the refreshments served were pink. The dining room was presided over by Mesdames O. M. Thompson, T. C. Munger, W. E. Hardy and M. I. Aitkin. A mandolin orchestra seated in the bay window and screened by palms furnished the music. Upstairs the walls were draped in the national flags and colors. Punch was served by Mesdames Lormor and Guthrie assisted by Misses Edna Harley, Margaret Winger, Winifred Hill, Hazel Lormor and Gertrude Chambers. The young ladies were gowned in white and wore picture hats and with their brilliant surroundings the effect was decidedly charming.
