Social and Personal

There is a drouth of social events this month. There are several young ladies visiting in Lincoln but they are being entertained in a quiet way. A number of Lincolmites are recuperating in Colorado and taking a prominent place in the society of summer resorts. Among those who have been in Colorado for several weeks are Mr. and Mrs. W. Q. Bell and family; Mrs. J. R. Webster and daughter, Joy; Mrs. Bonnell and children; Mrs. D. A. Campbell and children; Dr. and Mrs. Hindman and sons; Mrs. J. P. Maule and daughters; Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Welch and daughter, Helen; Dr. and Mrs. Hinman; Prof. Sherman and wife; Misses Grace Broady, Blanche Garten, Ruth Bryan, Nelia Cochrane, Henrietta Hollowbush. Miss Alice Maitland, Mr. Lawrence Pillsbury and Mr. Will Meyer, who now live in Denver, are often members of Lincoln parties.

The Lincoln Nebraska colony had several additions the past week and now exceeds thirty. W. Q. Bell was the first to appear. Next came Mrs. W. C. Mills and son Willard and finally Ruth, daughter of the Hon. W. J. Bryan. The latter is the guest of her schoolmate, Ruth Bell. Monday the Lincoln people to the number of nineteen picnicked under the great hanging rock, remaining until dark. Thursday evening they had the most elaborate picnic of the season. Twenty-five participated. The whole company climbed to the great rocks northwest of the village, dubbed by some "Coyote Rocks." The menu was complete to hot coffee. Then came the usual bonfire made from dead pine brush. It lighted up the whole scene and must have attracted attention for miles. The evening hours were spent in songs, sacred and patriotic, interspersed with tales and reminiscences. Then the moon silvered the fleecy clouds, then touched with a delicate gray the higher peaks finally bursting from behind the clouds in full view of the waiting company. After three cheers for McKinley, the army and navy and peace, the company wound its way slowly down the mountain. Surely no one ever enjoyed a more delightful experience. These same people have other excursions in prospect.

The following were in the party above mentioned:

Mrs. J. P. Maule, Miss Frances Maule, Miss Florence Maule, Master Harry Maule, Miss Hollowbush, Miss White of Denver, Miss Cassel of Jacksonville, Ill., Mrs. Mills and son Willard, Mrs. J. R. Webster and daughter Joy, Mrs. Finnegan and son William of St. Louis, Mr. Frank Finnegan, Miss Ruth Bryan, Miss Ruth Bell, Miss Katherine Bell, Mr. and Mrs. W. Q. Bell, Miss Marion Bell, Master John Selleck, Miss Marjorie Selleck and Mrs. Selleck.—Denver News.

The assembly grounds have been the principal source of attraction during the last week. Small parties enjoyed themselves at the grounds, and gave small picnics almost every day. One party chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Ayers and Mr. and Mrs. Piper formed a camp for a week. It was called "Camp Sunshine," and was truly sunny whether the sun shone or not. Those in the party were Misses Hagenbuch, Miller, Martha Seabrooke, Carrie Reed, Teresa Reagan, Maud Williams, Bernice White and Helen, Elsie and Jennie Piper.

Prof. George E. Howard has returned from a few months' study in the libraries of Cambridge and Boston. Stanford university grants to each member of the faculty one year's vacation out of every five. Prof. Howard has spent the year searching the laws concerning marriage in the states of the union. Much of this work has been done in the Nebraska state library. The last two or three months he has spent in the east. The book he has in hand will be in two volumes and will be a complete history of marriage ceremonies, customs and laws. In Boston Professor Howard was present as a guest of honor at a dinner given by the Twentieth Century Club and responded to a toast on "Western Universities." He will leave in a few days to resume his lectures upon history in Stanford university.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ogden's high tea served on the lawn on Wednesday was one of the pleasantest small and earliest of the summer. The guests had the honor of being served by the hostess herself and two assistants. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Beeson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hargreaves, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Tilton, Mrs. R. J. Green, Miss Price, Mr. Stull, Mrs. Scipio Dundy of Omaha and Miss Harris. After the tea, en plein air, as the evening air was chill the company sat in the deep porch and listened to some very clever musicians who played on mandolins and violin and between tunes they played games.

The wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. F. Harris was held at their home at 2011 Washington Place, last Friday night. Owing to the dark, threatening rain clouds a large number of those invited were not able to be present. However there were about sixty who participated in the pleasure of the evening. The hours passed rapidly in singing and happy speeches until refreshments were announced. A large number of beautiful and appropriate gifts were presented by the various guests.

Mrs. Matheson and Miss Scott of Omaha spent last week in Lincoln, taking the refreshing and strengthening baths at the Sanitarium. On Saturday they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Morrill and daughter also of Omaha. The party returned to Omaha on Sunday.

Mrs. J. M. Irwin, who has been visiting with her mother, Mrs. Polk, was joined by her husband on Tuesday evening and they left for a week's rest in Colorado. They will return to Lincoln again before going to their home in Quincy, Ill.

A. J. Hamilton, who was formerly a ticket broker in this city and at present a member of Company F of the Second regiment, was married to Miss Martha Koerner, at Nashville last Friday.

Mrs. Goodin and Miss Emma Goodin, of Muncie, Ind., who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Winger for several weeks, returned home on Wednesday. They were accompanied to Chicago by Mrs. Winger who will remain a few weeks visiting in Chicago and on the lakes.
