GUESS?

It is difficult to guess where the eye of your needle is, or any object that you wish to locate, when your eyesight is defective, unless it is fitted with the proper lenses to suit your particular defect of vision. We will test your eyesight scientifically, free of charge, and fit it with eye glasses or spectacles that will give you new eyesight.

Social and Personal

Married on Tuesday, September 20, Mr. Elliott J. Cheney of this city to Miss Blanche Jones, at the residence of A. G. Waman of Falls City. Rev. M. Cunningham Borria officiating. Mr. Cheney is a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Cheney, who live on a beautiful farm near this city. For years they lived in Lincoln and operated the farm at long distance. Of late years they have resided on the farm and have been very much missed by their friends in Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Cheney will live on the farm.

Wednesday at noon Miss Ellen M. Elison and Mr. George M. Fountain of South Bend, Ind., were united in marriage at the home of Mrs. H. M. Casbeer, the sister of the bride. The wedding was a very quiet one only the family and Dr. Hindman, the officiating clergyman, being present. The house was decorated with palms, ferns and roses. The bride wore white carrying the ceremony which was most beautiful and impressive. The going away gown was an exquisite imported cloth of soft mauve with white corded silk facings. The wedding breakfast immediately followed the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Fountain departed on the 2:15 train for the east. They will reside at South Bend. The bride has a large circle of friends in this city, having lived here for a number of years prior to the two just past. Mr. Fountain is interested in the South Bend Journal, both as owner and editor, and, is also, at present clerk of the district court.

Married, on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, in St. Theresa's Pro-Cathedral, Miss Mary T. Mullen to Mr. Nicholas Lawlor. The wedding ceremony was elaborate and very impressive. The bridesmaid, Miss Katherine Mullen, sister of the bride, entered first alone in a gown of green Irish poplin over cerise with cerise trimmings. She carried meteor roses. She was followed by the bride on the arm of her father, Mr. James Mullen. She was gowned in a blue and white foulard trimmed in white chiffon and pearl and carried a large bouquet of pink roses. The groom and the best man, Mr. A. L. Girard, and Rev. Father Nugent, met the wedding party at the altar. The nuptial mass followed. Miss Rice presided at the organ and rendered beautiful music during the wedding ceremony. The altar was decorated in roses. After the ceremony the wedding breakfast was enjoyed by a few relatives and friends at the home of the bride's parents, 1821 M street. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Lawlor departed on a wedding tour of Colorado. They will be at home after November 1 at 2433 O street. Mr. Lawlor has sung in the choir at St. Theresa's Pro-Cathedral for several and Miss Mullen has been the organist. They have an unusually large and devoted circle of friends who were able to heartily congratulate the newly wedded pair.

On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Baptist church was solemnized the marriage of Miss Minna Lee Millar and James Stanley Matthews, of St. Louis, Dr. Rowlands officiating. Palms formed a background of greenery and the altar rail was draped in smilax with white roses gleaming among its dainty tendrils. While the organist, Mr. Easterday, played the Lohengrin wedding march the bridal party entered and took their places before the altar. The ushers, Dr. Craig, Peter Law, Charles Eckerman and John Millar were followed by the four bridesmaids. Each walked alone. Miss Lida Millar, who was first bridesmaid, was gowned in pink mousseline de sole over pink taffeta and carried pink roses. Miss Alice Fuller wore a dainty yellow gown of mousseline and carried crimson roses. Miss Grace Sauls, gowned in white organdy over yellow also carried crimson roses. Miss Grace McMillan of Omaha, in a white organdy over pink, held a bunch of white roses, which was received by the happy pair. During the reception several flash light pictures of the bride and groom and their attendants were taken. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Matthews left for a tour in the east. When the bride's roses flew softly down the stair case, tradition hath it that they were caught by Miss Daisy Cochran. Further deponent saith not Mr. and Mrs. Matthews will reside in Atchison, Kan.

June may still claim to be the month of roses but this week's events point to the conclusion that September garners her share of the weddings. The recorder of the week's momentous chronicle vaguely recalls a resigned couplet of one Kipling, just the end of a fragment. Let me see, it runs so:
"—and the heart of a man to the heart of a maid,
As it was in the long ago."

Mrs. Fred Hallett entertained informally on Friday afternoon Mrs. E. W. Curtis and Miss Curtis of Stoughton, Wis., Miss Taylor of Lafayette; Mesdames E. Hallett, Frank Lahr, James Jarrett, D. P. Sims, Bert Davis, Wallace Crandall and Miss Margaret Hallett.

Members of St. Paul's Methodist church gave a farewell reception to their pastor, the Rev. Halstead, on Monday night. The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with flowers and set with divans and rugs. The refreshment tables were covered with vines and flowers. Mr. A. R. Talbot, Mr. J. M. Burks and Mr. Peter MacNicol, addressed to the pastor appreciative speeches. Dr. Halstead goes to Terre Haute, Ind., and retires from active ministerial work. He has made many warm friends both in and out of his parish, who regret to see him leave.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Holmes left on Monday for Kearney, where they will spend a few days before going to New York, where they will sail on October 15 for Paris, where Mr. Holmes will
