

cut from periodicals were exposed. Miss Agnes Smith, of Crawfordville, Ind., guessed the largest number of pictures and took the first prize and Mrs. J. B. Trickey won the consolation prize.

The entertainment given on Wednesday night by local talent under the direction of Charles B. Kendall was very well presented. The words of Longfellow's "Evangeline" were read from a stage box by Mr. Kendall, who came to Lincoln to direct the presentation of the poem. The tableaux and pantomime by which the lines were illustrated had all the simplicity and charm of the verse. Miss Mae Burr was Evangeline and I have heard many compliments upon her performance. The cast included Fred Cooley, Arthur Walsh, August Hagenow and Mr. Seemark. Hymns were sung behind the scenes by a quartette composed of Misses Maude Oakley, Henrietta Hollowbush and Messrs Tuttle and Williams. Miss Oakley also rendered a beautiful solo in the deathbed scene. The entertainment was given for St. Luke's Episcopal church.

The ladies of the Congregational church gave a very pleasant reception in the church parlors on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. W. B. Ogden and Mrs. B. F. Bailey were directly responsible for the good program and chocolate served the callers. Miss Kingsley was the chairman of the literary overture and Mrs. Bowen led the discussion on the club woman in the church and Miss Kingsley closed with a few practical words on the church's need of club women and the club women's need of the church. The social life of this church is stimulated by the presence of Mrs. Mann, the pastor's wife, whose social gifts are supplementing Mr. Mann's efforts in uniting the members of a church which has suffered somewhat from lack of interest.

On Wednesday evening the members of the B. B. card club enjoyed a bowling party. Mrs. S. Wessel and Mr. Blum were the victorious players. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames L. J. Herzog, Speier, Wessel, Kaensky, and C. Meyer; Mr. Simon Mayer, Miss Mayer, Miss Friend, Mrs. Schlesinger, Miss Seligsohn, Mr. Schlesinger, Mr. Glick and Mr. Greenbaum.

Mrs. G. L. Laws gave a tea on Wednesday evening for her niece, Mrs. James, of Richland Center, Wisconsin. Those enjoying Mrs. Laws' hospitality were Mrs. James, Mrs. J. C. Kier, Mrs. B. R. Cowdery, Mrs. M. B. Meserve, Mrs. Will Hardy, Mrs. M. B. Reese, and Mrs. George H. Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Marshall gave a seven o'clock dinner for Mrs. Charles O. Robinson. The guests were Mrs. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Buckstaff and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hargreaves.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. R. N. Howell gave a very pleasant Kensington for her sister, Mrs. Miller, of Princeton, Ind. The house was prettily decorated with chrysanthemums and roses.
