Social and Personal

The season's run of dances, receptions, Kensingtons and euchre parties has slackened in speed, and people have stopped again to gather up the lines of family union and family tradition. University students have rushed home to join in festivities over the turkey and the pumpkin pie. Men have deserted their clubs, and the claims of society have yielded to those of family. Next week the gay race will be resumed, to continue until the Christmas holidays present another check. In the meanwhile this has been a week of quiet mirth, and the diversions offered are rather substantial than gorgeous in their nature.

One of the daintiest and most successful parties of the university social season was given by Kappa Sigma fraternity Tuesday evening in honor of Carl L. Shuff and Leonard H. Robbins, two visiting charter members. The affair was modest and was the more enjoyed because of its simplicity. The fraternity rooms were tastefully decorated with palms and flowers, and the ceilings were festooned with the colors of the society, old gold, blue and maroon. Curtained, half shaded "cozy corners," designed by a member of the chapter, proved almost as attractive as the smooth dancing floor. Appropriate refreshments and excellent music from Miss Willoughby's orchestra aided materially in the success of the occasion. The following visitors were entertained: Professor and Mrs. Barbour, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wilson, Misses Manning, Whiting, Custer, Woodward, Woods, Hammond, Stuart, Hazelwood, Maycomer, Stuart, Hammond, Cunningham, Hayes, Bridge, Weller of Omaha; Messrs. Hallett, Elliott, Kingsbury and Rehlander.

The Pleasant Hour Club gave their opening party of the year, Friday evening at the Lincoln hotel. It has been the custom in times past to extend the first party as a reception to any of the young members who have been married during the past year. On this occasion the function was to be in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Lottridge, but in consequence of an accident to that lady, making it impossible for her to attend, the custom was foregone. The attendance was about forty couples, among whom were expected the following out-of-town guests: Miss Anderson visiting Miss Mae Burr, Miss Rhinehart visiting Mrs. George Woods, Miss Weller of Omaha visiting Mrs. Lottridge, Mr. Will Hayward and sister of Nebraska City. Hagenow's orchestra furnished music for the evening.

The Kappa Alpha Theta fraternity entertained in a most happy manner Wednesday evening for Miss Jane Douglas, of St. Joseph. They rigged up the band wagon for a sleigh ride by moonlight through the town and after the frolic repaired to the home of Miss Jane McFarland where hot coffee and sandwiches were served. Afterwards dancing was indulged in to a late hour. Those were present: Misses Ruth Wilson, Ellen Douglas, Lida Miller, Jane Douglas, Emily Weeks, Ella Wort, Frances Cunningham, Harper, Foster, Low, Eugenia Getner, Edgwin, McFarland, Jessie McLand, Hill; Messrs. Paul Weeks, Crandall, Lehmer, Collet, Brown, Pascoast, Van Vollen, Harvey, Reiney, Davidson, Lee, Hill, Sherman. Mr. and Mrs. Will Hardy chaperoned the crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Kimball gave a reception Monday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eames of Chicago. A small number of the hundred and seventy-five invited guests fronted the savage storm that blew, and the occasion developed into a charmingly informal affair. Mr. Eames, who will in the future preside over the piano department of the conservatory, entertained those present by a lecture on Norwegian folk-songs, which he illustrated attractively with music. Ices were served in Mr. Eames' studio by Misses Emily Perkins and Eleanor Raymond, both of whom were gowned in pink. The decorations were pink and white chrysanthemums.

John C. Cox and Miss Katherine Moran were married Wednesday at Havlock with the most graceful wedding ceremonies. Rev. Father Albert of St. Patrick's Catholic church, united the two. Miss Lulu Krone acting as bride's maid, and James P. Cox, brother of the groom, as best man. The bride was gowned in a charming little travelling costume for the wedding trip which will be extended for two weeks through the east. After the ceremony, breakfast was served to about sixty guests at the home of the bride's mother. On their return, the two will be at home to their friends at 1042 C street.

A very dainty reception will be given this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Selleck. The house will be decorated with palms and chrysanthemums. The reigning tones of the dining room being a delicate blending of green and white. Coffee will be served by Mrs. A. W. Lane, ices by Mrs. Bruner. They will be assisted by Misses Elizabeth Wing, Joy Webster and Belle Upton. Miss Alice Wing will help in receiving the guests. One of the expected guests is Mr. James Woolworth, of Ohio, the uncle of Mrs. Selleck.

Mr. Jacob Maxwell and Miss Mae Hawkins were married on Wednesday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin, Father Nugent conducting the ceremonies that united the happy pair. The house was profusely decorated with palms and chrysanthemums, the dining room with carnations and roses. A delicious little wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony. Mr. Maxwell is the son and private secretary of Congressman Samuel Maxwell. The young couple will spend the winter in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. M. Wylie, of North Fourteenth street, gave a joint birthday party in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Nellie Smith, and Mr. Will Wollet, of Quincy, Ill., who is visiting in Lincoln, last Saturday evening, their birthdays occurring upon the same day. Delicious refreshments were served in the dining room, which was artistically decorated with carnations and roses.

Mr. George Hamlin, who is the soloist for the second Philharmonic orchestra concert, a few weeks ago gave an entire recital of Strauss songs at the Grand opera house in Chicago, which is owned by his father. The work of the artist received the highest commendation from the critics. Lincoln people may
