Social and Personal

It is rather a mournful statement, but the art of speech has sunk into decadence. People no longer come together for the mere sake of carrying on brilliant and epigrammatic conversations. Appeals are made less to the intellect, more to the senses. In the striking and elegant arrangement of flowers, in the happy handling of colors, in the delicate preparation of food, society has made great studies. But conversation has languished—continues to languish. The day of those great and graceful women of history, Madame Recamier, Madame De Stael, Madame Maintenon, seems to have gone by. Our receptions come nearest to the old French salon. But the crowded, breathless, receptions of today are often a mere travesty of that dignified and ancient institution.

Mr. and Mrs. George Woods gave a large card party Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Florence Rinehart, of Lafayette, Indiana. The halls and parlors of the house were decorated with palms and pink and white carnations. In the dining room red roses were strikingly arranged. Refreshments were served late in the evening to the following guests: Messrs. and Mesdames Nelson C. Brock, Carl Funke, W. M. Leonard, J. B. Wright, S. H. Burnham, A. G. Beeson, R. J. Green, D. D. Muir, Mark Tilton, D. E. Thompson, W. B. Hargreaves, Oliver Rodgers, E. E. Brown, L. C. Richards, Mesdames Thomas W. Griffith, C. O. Robinson of Chicago, Balantyne of Washington, Jennings of Chicago, Miss Price and Miss Rinehart of Lafayette, Ind., Messrs. Guy B. Hurlbut, John T. Dorgan, Joseph Grainger.

Mr. Turpin entertained a troop of friends Tuesday evening by a dancing party, given in honor of Mr. Frank L. Miller, at Turpin's hall. Mr. Miller has been the city ticket agent on the Rock Island railway for some time past. He is now leaving for Chicago, where a higher position has been extended him. Those attending the very successful affair were: Misses Putnam, Ricketts, Harrison, Tukey, Houtz, Douglas, Cochran, Custer, Rissler, Macfarland, Randall, Cole, Jaynes, Johnson, Richards, Clark, Spurck, Oakley, Douglas of St. Joe, Miller of Omaha; Harrison of Beatrice, Weller of Omaha; Messrs. Honeywell, Miller, Sheldon, Mason, Sawyer, Sherman, White, Whitmore, Paine, Whipple, Kind, Turpin, Will Clark, Mueller, Tukey, Haggard, Ricketts, Pannocost, Sheldon, Welsh, Clark, Edmiston, Watson, Butler, Baldwin, Butler.

The Delta Tau Delta fraternity gave a Pan-Hellenic dancing party, Friday night at Turpin's Hall. Miss Willoughby's and Wollet's orchestras furnished music for a large crowd of University young people, who danced late and enjoyed a thoroughly delightful evening. A number of pretty gowns were worn and the scene was a gay one. Those present were: Misses McMennomy, Laura Bridge, Gertrude Macomber, Jaynes, Watkins, Garten, Maude Macomber, Tukey, Cole, Jackson, Whedon, Hammond, Houtz, Hargreaves, Hayes, Richards, Burt, Hamilton, Graham, Crowell, Andrews, Jessie McFarland, MacMillan, Jane McFarland, Randall, Wirt, Schwartz, Morgan, Weeks, Douglas, Harper, Cunningham, Clark, Vancil, Millar, Wilson, Wiggernhorn, Gettner, Margaret Winger, Helen Wood; Messrs. Sumner, Tukey, Sherman, Abbott, Mueller, Stone, Mansfield, Brown, Manchester, Crandall, Collett, Haecker, Harry Shedd, Hayes, Sawyer, Bartlett, Harmon, Wahn, Rainey, Lau, Cramb, Adams, A. E. Sheldon, Manley, Whitmore, Marley, Whipple, Kind, Barnes, King, Yojes, Baumann, Cleland, Weeks, Brown, Christensen, Weaver, Calvin, Atwood, Donald Atwood, Folsom, Kenard.

The Round Table club met Monday evening at the home of Rev. F. S. Stein, to speak on the subject: "Newspapers; to What Restrictions Should They Be Subjected." Mr. C. O. Whedon led the discussion, which was carried on at length and with spirit. Later an elegant lunch was served. Chancellor MacLean and Dr. Emlin McClain of the Iowa state university law school, were guests of the evening. One of the members not often present of late was Colonel William J. Bryan, who spoke for comparative license in that brilliant and charming manner with which even his opponents can find no fault.

Mrs. George Woods gave a card party Wednesday evening to a number of the younger society set. The house was beautifully decorated with red roses, and delicious refreshments were served. The guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Cartice, Lottridge, Woods, Howe, Marshall, Wheeler, Rector, Houtz, Mallilieu, Mohrenstecher, Fitzgerald and Woods; Misses Hollowbush, Harrison, Bea Harrison, Burr, Tukey, Omaha; Putnam, Marshall, Griffith, Weller, Omaha; Woods, Rinehart, La Fayette, Ind.; Messrs. Zehring, Baldwin, Mason, Low, Shedd Hurlbut, Grainger, Chapman, Smith and Gittens.

The Cotillion Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Buckstaff. Dr. Ladd led with Mrs. Loveland, the guest of Mrs. C. H. Wilson. There were a number of graceful figures. The first was a cake-walk and went by the name of Mr. Primrose's Favorite. In another the dancers circled about a table heaped with flowers, chose one each, and danced with the lady who held the corresponding flower. Mrs. C. L. Burr and Mrs. Lew Marshall distributed the pretty favors. One of the guests of the evening was Mr. Bradshaw, of Des Moines.

Mr. Roberson, who gives an illustrated lecture at the Oliver on Tuesday night, is the son of the manager of Dunn's Commercial Agency at Omaha. He is a friend of the very popular Mr. Blish, of Lincoln, under whose auspices he comes here. No part of the world is more interesting to Nebraskans just now than Manila. Mr. Roberson has a very fine instrument and his pictures of places and people are life size and very clear.

A circular has been received from Miss Sarah Wool Moore, who formerly occupied the chair of lecturer on Art, History and Criticism in the State University, announcing that she is about to take up lecturing and art classes in Brooklyn, New York. Miss Moore is very kindly remembered here in Lincoln. Mrs. George Woods gave a tea Thurs-
