Social and Personal

The brilliant reception given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Rodgers to a large number of guests was the principal event of the week in society circles. The elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers on Twentieth and F streets, was elaborately decorated. The parlor was done in green and white, palms and lillies being used. The sitting room was decked with great quantities of red carnations, and the library was in green and white. Mrs. Rodgers wore a handsome pink crepe gown with lace. Her jewels were turquoise and diamonds. She was assisted in the parlors by Mrs. S. H. Burnham, Mrs. John B. Wright, Mrs. W. B. Hargreaves, Mrs. J. H. McMurry and Mrs. W. C. Wilson, all in charming evening toilettes. The dining room was very beautiful. A large centerpiece of pink roses was on the table and above it, suspended from the chandelier was a large ball of the same fragrant flowers. Festoons of sunilax on the table were caught at the corners with bows of pink satin ribbon, and pink shaded tapers in silver candelabra lighted the room. Mrs. D. A. Campbell poured coffee and Mrs. G. M. Lambertson served ice, both being attired in white. These ladies were assisted by Miss Harwood, Miss Oakley, Miss Raymond and Miss Righter, whose gowns matched the color scheme of the room. An orchestra stationed in the hall played during the evening, a pleasing accompaniment to the conversation:

Thursday afternoon Mrs. H. K. Burket and Mrs. T. M. Burket gave a very successful kensington at the home of the former. When the guests had arrived a mandolin club played a few measures from twenty different familiar melodies, and the ladies were asked to guess them. Mrs. M. W. Folsom named eighteen of the tunes correctly and won the prize. A luncheon was served at small tables, the ladies progressing with the courses, two at each table changing with each course. The house was beautifully decorated with hyacinths, roses, palms and tulips. Those present were Mesdames A. J. Streeter of New Windsor, Ill., Foster, Talbot, Hambleton, Leavitt, Burlingim, Manss, Watkins, Schwake, Wells, F. W. Hill, Horton-Steckley, Wharton, Risser, Heaton, Tippling, Sobus, Garoutte, Casebeer, Nelson, Landy Clark, Bell, Hutchins, Morae, Kier, Robbins, Porter, R. A. Holyoke, Harter, Moyer, Folsom, Ansley, Bignell, Morning, White, Lahr, Rieger, Le Gore, Richards; Misses Allen, Biltgen, Rawls, De Laschmutt.

Misses Frances Cunningham gave a dancing party last evening for about thirty friends at her home on Euclid avenue. The floors were canvassed and good music added to the pleasure of the guests. The house was decorated with palms, and scarlet and cream bunting. Ice and punch were served throughout the evening. The following were present: Misses J. Macfarland, Jess Macfarland, Getner, Jackson, Jaynes, Woods, Eckle of St. Joe, Hammond, Wilson, McHenry of Iowa, Morgan, Wirt, Edgren, Honeywell, Randall, Miller, Foster, Sabin of Beatrice, Cunningham, Wiggenhorn, E. Cunningham, Winger, Weeks, Hill, Douglass. Messrs. Irwin, King, Matson, Sumner, Honeywell, McCreery, Brown, Whipple, Chapin, Harvey, Tukey, Davidson, Harmon, Weeks, Pancoast, Dales, Kormeyer, Milenz, Broady, Engle, Norton, Crandall, Steine, Mudge, Hill. Miss Cunningham will give a second party this evening.

Miss Agnes Mulry and Mr. W. Paul Fitzgerald, entertained at cards and dancing on Tuesday evening, a delighted company of young people. "Mount Emerald," the handsome suburban home of Mrs. Fitzgerald, was aglow with lights, and gay with flowers and music. Progressive euchre occupied the attention of the guests until eleven o'clock when beautiful prizes were awarded the victors, Misses Outcalt and Bridge, and Messrs. Swartz and Hanson. A luncheon was served at round tables in the dining room, after which dancing was enjoyed in the drawing room and pool in the billiard room, according to the taste of the guests. Those present were: Misses Bridge, Hammond, Harwood, Gallatly, Whiting, Whiting, Harley, Ricketts, Hargreaves, Holbrook, Burr, Cochrane, Winger, Oakley, Macomber, Macomber, Risser, O'Connell, Raymond, Richards and Outcalt; Messrs. Reed, Hawksworth, Dunroy, Bischoff, Cosgrove, Raymond, Tukey, Hayes, Edmiston, Butler, Butler, Honeywell, Hanson, Richards, Sawyer, Wehn, Swartz, Liebmann and Bartlett.

The gentlemen of Plymouth Congregational church enjoyed a banquet Tuesday evening in the church dining room. About forty men were seated at the four tables decorated with palms and carnations. The dinner was served by young men of the church. Rev. Doane, pastor, and Mr. Jacob Youngblut planned the affair to promote sociability among the members. The program:

Music—Male quartet.

"Our Sociable Possibilities," Mr. J. A. Devore.

"Our Financial Possibilities," Mr. L. Bruner.

"Our Spiritual Possibilities," Mr. A. E. Sheldon.

Bass solo, Mr. B. V. Hill.

"Our Public Worship," Mr. D. E. Green.

"Our Bible School," Mr. James Rivett.

"Our Mid-Week Service," Mr. H. A. French.

Music, Male quartet.

"Our Boys and Young Men," Mr. S. A. Sanderson.

"Our Benevolences," Mr. W. A. Sellick.

"Effective Christianity," Rev. John Doane.

Mrs. E. R. Morrison entertained the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution on Friday afternoon. Short reports of the convention of the D. A. R. recently held in Washington, were given by Mrs. J. C. Harpham and Mrs. Morrison, the one telling of the business the other of the social features. At the convention Mrs. Angie F. Newman was elected one of the vice presidents general to take the place made vacant by Mrs. John M. Thurston. Mrs. George Fowel of Omaha was made state regent for Nebraska, Mrs. J. R. Haggard having declined reelection. In the dining room which was decorated in the colonial colors, blue and buff, Mrs. Van Brunt and Mrs. Rankin, assisted by Misses Smith, Henry and Harpham, served luncheon.
