Social and Personal

The popularity of kensingtons is waning in Lincoln notwithstanding the fact that several very charming ones have been given recently.

If by the word "Kensington," is meant a party to which the guests take their sewing the word is a misnomer, for work is rarely taken. The few exceptions appear to be in the case of the owners of pretty sewing bags made of handsome material and possessing jeweled tops, or some other attraction for the fair possessor to toy with while she chats away the afternoon. No one thinks of sewing and why should one? Ladies go to parties for relaxation why not have it? A pleasant game of cards rests one, sewing has the reverse effect, then why not the former?

Some one says cards are demoralizing, and that people play for the prizes and cheat, but they do not as a rule; this is a mistake. And then prizes are given for guessing games at the meetings of church circles, and at kensingtons too, where games are introduced for amusement, and everybody knows that ideas and answers are exchanged. Therefore while kensingtons are nice and guessing games sharpen the wits, card parties have both characteristics and are restful as well.

Married at St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church Thursday at three o'clock, Miss Hannah Gertrude Culbertson to Mr. Samuel James Bell, Dr. Fletcher L. Wharton performing the ceremony. Promptly at the hour appointed six little girls in white swiss frocks emerged from a side door and passed down the aisle to meet the bride. They were Alice Brooks, the ring bearer, Florence Woods, carrying the bride's bouquet of bride roses, Roberta Gould of Bellwood, Beth Munger of Plattsmouth, Dorothy Baker and Fannie Wood. When they neared the door they separated and allowed the matron of honor, Mrs. George Krawl of David City, to pass between them, then closed ranks again and followed her to the altar, preceding the bride who entered upon the arm of her father, and the procession passed slowly down the aisle to the wedding music from Lohengrin played by Prof. Hadley. The party was met at the altar by the groom and his best man Mr. George Krawl of David City. The Episcopal service was used, the bride being given away by her father. After the service was over Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as the party proceeded to their carriages. The church was decorated with many palms. The ushers were Mr. Jesse Culbertson and Mr. Rex Bell. After the wedding a reception to seventy five guests was given at the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Griffith J. Culbertson. The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson, Mr. and Mrs. Bell and Mr. and Mrs. Krawl. Mrs. Culbertson wore a toilet of black silk. The bride's gown was of ivory white liberty satin en train and she wore a tulle veil. Mrs. Krawl, who was a bride of but a day, wore her wedding gown of white taffeta. Mrs. Culbertson was assisted in the drawing-room by Mesdames Wood and Brooks. The diningroom was decorated with pink carnations and smilax. It was presided over by Mrs. George Gould of Bellwood and Miss Snow of David City, who were assisted by Misses Eva Snell and Pearl Wycoff. The bride received many beautiful presents. Mr. and Mrs. Bell left at six o'clock for Denver and other western points and after three weeks will be at home to their friends in David City, where Mr. Bell is a well known business man, being engaged in the grain business and is a member of the electric light company. Guests from other towns who attended the wedding were Mrs. George S. Gould, Mrs. Amos Gould, Miss Roberta Gould, Miss Helen Hewitt of Bellwood, Mrs. Raymond of Utica; Mrs. Frank Snow, Miss Snow, the Misses Etting, Mr. and Mrs. George Krawl, Miss Bunting. Mrs. Charles Meyers, Miss Meyers, Mrs. Hughes, Mr. Bell and Mr. Rex Bell of David City.

The City Improvement Society held its regular fortnightly meeting on Thursday morning at ten o'clock in the parlors of the commercial club rooms. The president, Mrs. Langworthy Taylor, was in the chair. The secretary being absent, Miss Harris was made secretary. The president suggested that the work of the summer be diversified by the addition of an educational department. The study of city charters, and of the relative power of the mayor and council in this country and Europe, was recommended. One of the chief objects of the city improvement societies is the cultivation of acquaintance between the residents of the city and the city officials. The women believe that this acquaintance and sympathy can not fail to increase the interest of the citizens in the work and aims of all faithful and able officials. For this purpose and others kin to it the excisemen, councilmen, health officer and chief of police are to be respectfully invited to visit the society and answer the questions of the women whose earnest desire is to aid their efforts to make Lincoln a cleaner and better city.

In view of the fact that Miss Florence Tompkinson has resigned as General secretary of the Young Womens Christian Association of this city. The young women living in the Y. W. C. A. building who have known her most intimately and have highly appreciated her worth and work, have passed the following resolutions:

Resolved. That after close association with Miss Tompkinson for the past eight months we have recognized in her an admirable Christian woman, a thoroughly competent secretary, and one who has won the esteem and confidence of those who have come in contact with her.

Resolved. That we deeply regret that she has seen fit to sever her connection with the association and we are sure the association will feel a great loss in her departure.

Resolved. That we extend to her our best wishes for her future success in any field to which God, in his Providence, may call her, and assure her that we will follow her in her life work with our prayers.

Married on May 9th, at half past six P. M., at the home of the bride's parents, 1724 J street, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gingery. Miss Almira Gingery to Mr. H. P. Kauffmann. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. P. Aylsworth
