ALLURING.

Dear Jack: I do think its just horrid
 To have you still slaving in town!
 I know that the weather is torrid,
 The Avenue shutters are down;
 I know that your clubs are dull places;
 There's nothing for you to explore;
 I know you don't care for the races,
 And vaudeville roofs are a bore.

You can't be so dreadfully busy—
 I'm sure they don't need you at all!
 (Why, Jack isn't angry now, is he?)
 Come up, dear, and stay until Fall.
 There's golf, if you like the amusement;
 There's a hammock down under the trees;
 Do you ask any further inducement?
 I'll drive to the station. — Louise.

Horses Shod with Straw.

In Japan most of the horses are shod with straw. Even the clumsiest of cart horses wear straw shoes, which, in their cases, are tied around the ankle with straw rope, and are made of the ordinary rice straw, braided so as to form a sole for the foot about half an inch thick.

The Traveler's Right to Fresh Air.

A wise justice in Lyons, Wayne county, has decided that a railway in this state is bound to carry fresh air free, as well as bicycles. A woman traveling on a train complained that the air was bad. The conductor tried to open the window in the usual way, but was unable to do so, and refused to get a crowbar to pry it open, whereupon the suffering woman smashed the glass with her parasol. The conductor then had her taken into custody on a charge of insanity. A doctor examined her and pronounced her rational. Her defense was that she had paid for her transportation and was entitled to fresh air with it. The justice thought so too, and discharged her. It is possible that this precedent may cause all the railway companies considerable trouble. If it be good law that when car windows are not in working order the passenger may smash the glass, better care will be taken to see that all the windows in the car can be readily moved up and down.—Auburn Advertiser.

Another Name for "Leg."

Frederic Locker in Patchwork tells a story in illustration of the unwillingness among certain circles to allude to such a thing as a leg. A girl goes in hot haste to fetch a doctor for her sister, who, she says has broken a limb.

"Which limb is it?" says the doctor.
 "Oh, I can't tell you which limb," says the girl.
 "But you must," replied the doctor.
 "Is it the limb she threads her needle with?"
 "No," says the girl. "It's the limb she wears her garter on."—Ex.

One of our greatest living physicians says that the equatorial regions are the healthiest and most enjoyable parts of the earth for man to live in.

Pebble-Like Beans.

A curious case of "mimicry" has been noticed on the coast near Manilla, in the Philippine islands. The seeds of a bean fall among quartz pebbles, and so closely resemble them in shape, size, color, luster, hardness and stratification as to be distinguishable from them only by a very close examination. The beans range from a third of an inch to an inch in size, and vary greatly in shape, some resembling well-rounded beach pebbles and others mimic pebbles that have been broken across. The color varies from dark to light drab, some with a greenish tinge, while others resemble pebbles of chalcedony or crystallized quartz. Nearly all show a series of dark bands, suggestive of stratification. All are hard, and clink when shaken together.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

England Best Lighted.

The English is the best lighted coast in the world. Of the 335 light houses in existence, 5 are scattered round England's rocky coast some of the lights being so powerful that they are visible twenty miles out at sea.
