

THEATRICAL.

THE OLIVER.

"The Little Minister" will be presented by Charles Frohman's company at the Oliver, Tuesday evening, November 14.

This is the beautiful comedy by Mr. J. M. Barrie, founded on his own novel of the same name. The play ran for exactly 300 nights in New York, to an unbroken succession of capacity audiences every time the curtain went up the theatre was packed to its last inch of standing room. Reginald "Lady Babbie" and the simple, smiling snares in which she caught the heart of Rev. Gavin Dishart, are as fascinating on the stage as in the book, and presented by Charles Frohman's company the piece wins the same splendid attention and popularity here that it has everywhere. Seats on sale Monday at 9 a. m. at advance prices.

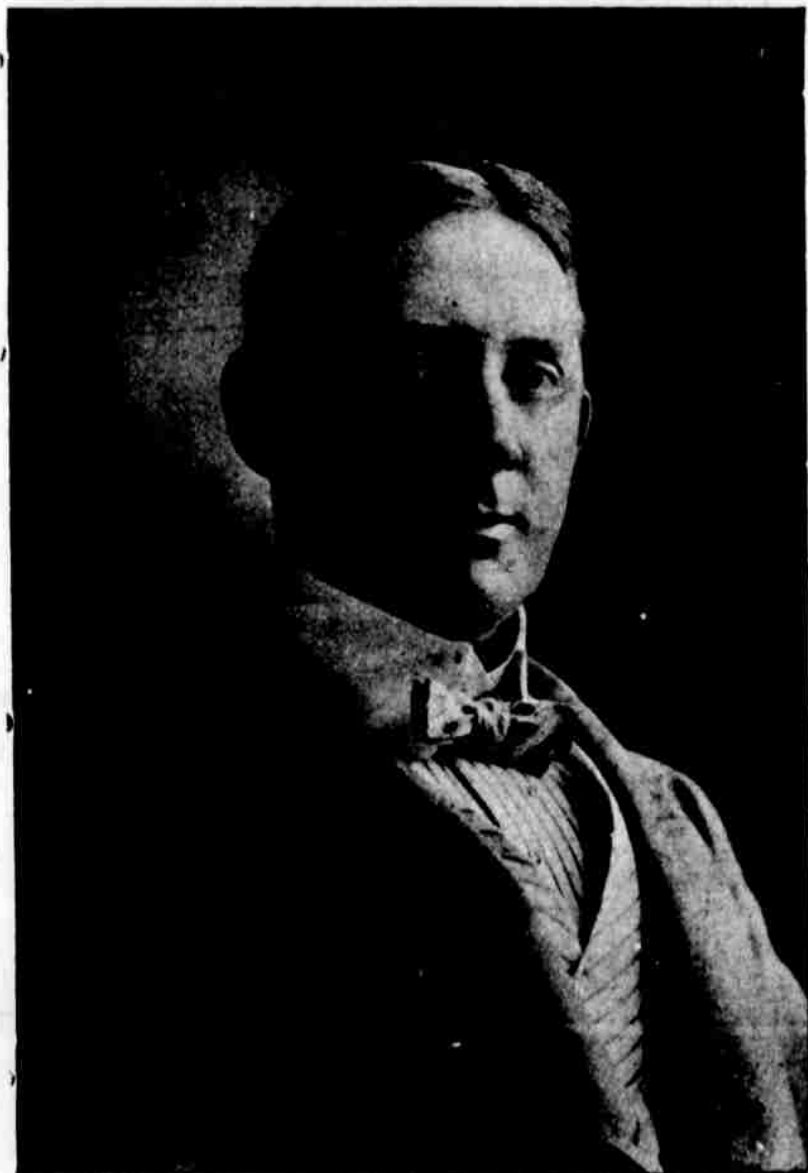

A coming engagement at the Oliver Theatre next Thursday evening Nov. m.

of Clarence, the actor, in his new romantic play, "The Royal Box," which he adapted from Dumas, so cleverly that the New York critics say it has all the merit of originality. "The Royal Box," with Mr. Coghlan and the same company which has been appearing in New York, are booked for the Oliver Friday evening, November 17. Prices from $1.50 to 25c. On sale Wednesday, 9 a. m.

THE FUNKE.

"For the Love of a Girl," the opening bill of the Chase-Lister Theatre Company, is a clean, moral and refined society comedy drama in four acts, carrying a very strong plot, representing the true love of an American girl. There is a vein of clean cut comedy running all through the piece, and during the intermission between acts the very latest high class specialties will be introduced.

"You," said the attorney for the defense, addressing the chief witness against the accused, "you are the man ber 16th will appeal most strongly to the lovers of laughter. It is the engagement of Jacob Litt's company which will present Grant Stewart's new comedy "Mistakes Will Happen." There is fun all the way through "Mistakes Will Happen," there is a laugh in every line; and it is good, clean fun—fun of a kind that a man can take the ladies of his family to enjoy without the fear of bringing the blush of shame to their faces. The comedy was one of the distinct hits of the past season. Charles Dickson heads the cast. Sale of seats opens Wednesday at 9 a. m. at regular prices.

Mr. Charles Coghlan, the famous English actor, first came to America under the management of Augustin Daily in 1876. He played Henry Evelyn in "Money." At that time he was recognized as the leading actor of the English stage, having been for many years the leading man at the Prince of Wales' theater, London, refusing an offer of leading man at the Lyceum theater, a position accepted by Sir Henry Irving. Mr. Coghlan was born in Paris, and he first played a part in French. His mother now lives in New York with her well known daughter and sister of Charles, Miss Rose Coghlan. He has made the bit of his career on the stage in the part who found the body of the dead person, I believe?

Yes, sir.

"Now, tell the jury the circumstances." "Well, sir, I was going down the street and I heard shots fired. Then I saw a man running away, and then I found the body of Bill Jones. He was dead, with two bullet holes in his head, and I at once suspected that something was wrong."
