SOCIETY

'Tis the week before Christmas,
and all of the time
I have hunted for parties
and functions that rhyme
With society, but nobody cares for dinners and
nobody cares for cards,
When Santa Claus is coming and presents are bought by yards.

Tabitha Home.

There are eighty children in the Tabitha Home. Everyone interested in orphan children, and there is no one who will admit that they do not appeal to him, should send to the First Congregational church today or on Sunday money, new toys or old ones to help make a Christmas for these eighty clean, polite, little boys and girls, whose frugal fare makes them healthy, but it is plain to satiety. Clothing, picturebooks and food will be appreciated by Mr. and Mrs. Heiner, by the sweet sisters, and by the little children who have forgotten the feeling of their mother's arms. Give to God's little children who have been forsaken by their mothers and fathers.

Jacques-Baldwin.

Miss Kitty Anna Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Baldwin, and Mr. Martin Jacques were married Wednesday evening at half past seven in their beautiful new home at 1645 D street. The wedding was simple but very effective. The Hagenow orchestra was stationed in the upper hall and played the Mendelssohn wedding march. Katrina Jacques and Margaret Klinker, gowned in white and carrying baskets of hyacinths and ferns, acted as flower girls and preceded the bride and groom. The wedding party came down the handsome stairs and into the parlor, where they stopped before a bank of palms and holly. The Reverend Martin performed the ceremony before about fifty friends and relatives, using the ring service. The ring was carried by Katrina Jacques in the heart of a large white lily.

After congratulations, refreshments were served to the wedding party. The entire house was decorated in bright red and green holly, the parlors being gay with the holly and a beautiful vase of white hyacinths stood near the bark of palms. The ceiling of the dining room was draped in tulle, the color of the red berry of the holly and was caught to the walls of the room by bunches of holly. The room was lighted by candelabra holding red candles. Ices and coffee were served by Miss Armstrong and Miss Cochrane, assisted by Misses Huntington, Casebeer, Gage and States.

The bride wore a dainty gown of white imported suisse over white taffeta. The waist was elaborately trimmed with fine tucks and lace. A tulle veil was caught by a diamond pin, and a bouquet of bridal roses completed the toilet.

The wedding reception occurred from half past eight until ten o'clock. The guests were met in the hall by Mrs. Elias Baker and introduced to Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Baldwin and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jacques. Mesdames C. M. Jacques, Parsons, Raehlander, Laddy Clark and Miss Holland assisted in receiving.

No wedding trip was taken. Mr. and Mrs. Jacques took immediate possession of their new home and will be at home to their friends after January 1st.
