SOCIETY

The wedding of Miss Clara King Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison, to Mr. Janvier Woodard Jones, was celebrated at high noon on Wednesday, at the family residence on Seventeenth and G streets. About fifty guests and relatives were present. The ceremony took place in the drawing room, the doors being closed until the wedding party was stationed amid a bank of palms. Hagenow's orchestra played softly while Doctor Hindman performed the ceremony. Miss Edith Jones of Denver was maid of honor and Mr. Wilfried Smith acted as best man. The entire house was in green smilax and white flowers, Easter lilies were in the drawing room and brides roses in the library. The bride has always been considered one of Lincoln's most beautiful young ladies and looked very charming in white chiffon over white taffeta, and trimmed in insertion and pleatings of chiffon. She carried a bouquet of Easter lilies. Miss Jones wore a white swiss mull trimmed in taffeta and lace. The wedding breakfast was served on small tables each table being decorated in bridesmaid roses. Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for Chicago for a short wedding trip and will be at home after April the Second at Wayne, Nebraska.

acted in tableaux by Mrs. C. I. Jones, Mrs. Noble, Mrs. Waite, Miss Hartley, Mr. Noble, Mr. Candy and Mr. Hartley. The evening proved a great success. Supper was served in the dining room in true Dutch style. The table was in blue and white and coffee was served by Mrs. Howells. Partners were found for supper by matching dissected windmills. Holland flags and colors decorated the house. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Garten, Van Brunt, Scott, Lindley, Waite, Hill, Haynes, Kirker, McCreery, Jones, Van Brunt, Hindman, Campbell, Noble, Baker, Hartley, Candy and Davidson.

Despite the extreme cold weather on Wednesday afternoon a large number of guests gathered at the home of Mrs. Mark Woods to meet Miss Johnson of Evansville, Indiana. Mrs. Pace, Mrs. Woods and Miss Odell received in honor of Miss Johnson. The house was prettily decorated with smilax and palms. Ice was served in the library amid a bank of palms and red hangings, by Mrs. Dorgan, who wore a very becoming gown of red silk. Candy hearts were given with the ice. Miss Carson, Miss Foster and Miss Cochran assisted in serving. Red also predominated in the dining room where Mrs. George Woods and Miss Marshall poured tea and coffee. Battenburg lace covered the dining room table. The room was lighted by red candles and a beautiful bunch of red carnations was in the centre of the table. The cakes were heart shaped and Tiny Eugenia Pace presented each guest with a dainty silver heart as they left the dining room. Mrs. George Riesser, Miss Watkins, Miss Putnam and Miss Kelley assisted in serving. Mrs. Pace wore a black and lavender grenadine trimmed in mouseline. Mrs. Woods looked very charming in pink silk poplin trimmed in black applique. Miss Johnson was in a pretty gown of blue organdy with cream applique and pink velvet trimmings. Miss Catherine Odell wore a white organdy with lace and ribbon trimmings.

Mr. Donald Atwood entertained in honor of Miss Hanna of Kansas City, on Wednesday evening. Valentines were on the walls and the guests matched valentines to find partners for supper. The refreshments carried out the day as near as possible. The following were the guests: Misses Tukey, Hayes, Agnew, Garten, Cole, Jackson, Loomis, and Hayes. Messrs. Sherman, Hill, Tukey, Johnson, Hayes, Atwood and McCreery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McMurtry entertained informally in honor of Mrs. Seitz of Philadelphia, on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Harley gave a delightful reception in honor of Mrs. Jones of Denver, on Friday afternoon. The afternoon was very informal, the friends of Mrs. Jones were so delighted to have the opportunity of renewing old acquaintanceship that no other form of amusement was necessary.
