THE OLIVER.

William H. West announces to his many friends that in his big minstrel jubilee neither time, labor nor capital has been spared. This company in its entirety appears at the Oliver today, matinee at 2:30, evening at 8:15. Richard J. Jose, with the beautiful tenor voice, is making a tremendous hit in Paul Dresser's martial ballad. "The Blue and the Gray." John P. Rodgers, the celebrated basso profundo from the Italian opera at Milan; Joseph Garland, and Herbert Ansdell are the stars. The comedians are Carroll Johnson and Fred Warren; the olio acts by the Luken brothers, the three marvels, Tommy Hayes and David Meier. The spectacular features are the most elaborate ever seen in minstrelsy. It is entirely free from suggestiveness or vulgarity throughout. Matinee prices, 25 and 50 cents; evening, 25 cents to $1.00.

"Blessed is the man who gets wisdom from another man's experience." "If you have not wealth by patrimony, you must get it by matrimony;" "Whether a man marries or not, he will dread it;" "A woman is like a wild bear; if you fear her, she will be merciless and cruel, but if you brave her, she will be submissive and kind;" "Money belongs not to the person who has it, but to the one who has wit enough to get it," are some of the epigrams in "Other People's Money." Hennessey Leroye tries to accomplish any deal to possess other people's money so long as it does not land him in prison. He has multitudinous schemes for securing wealth by advising and fleecing his clients. At the Oliver on Wednesday, March 21st. Seats on sale Monday.

THE FUNKE.

Monday night an eastern repertoire company, sailing under the title of Myrkle and Harder company and supported by two well known New York stars, open a week engagement at the Funke in Charles E. Callahan's beautiful society drama, "The Hoosier Heroine." This organization is said to be far above the average attraction. It has not been its custom to use what is known here as the "ladies' free ticket," but as it has been the custom of the opera house to do so with week stands, it will conform to the custom on the opening night only. Prices for the week will be 10, 20, 30 and 50 cents.
