SOCIETY

The weather of late has been speculating upon the vogue of green and all 'out-doors' apparently has gone into the monopoly. Women have passed many agreeable hours in hat-growing conservatories, while tempting Eves have sweetly shown the gay straws and flowers of spring. Man is supposed to be in oblivion at this season of the year. Theoretically he has nothing to do with Easter gowns and hats and freshly papered walls. Even the funny paper leave him almost entirely alone, except for the ever-wearying jokes upon milliner's and dressmaker's bills. This generosity is altogether too large-minded for certainly there are many who come home now in trepidation as to the impression their spring hat will make upon their respective families. And there are many suits, as well as gowns, of lighter shades that have an appearance as if fresh from the tailor's hands.

In London what is called the "dress" or "church parade" is certainly startling, at least the idea of it is. It happens some Sunday morning, when you have settled your mind upon Westminster and thereby duly approved of your judgment some one will be certain to ask, "and are you going to dress parade?" You answer, "Oh no indeed" and that "that remark is a little too cynical, even now." Whereupon you are made to understand that after service it is quite the proper thing to promenade in Hyde Park, that those who have titles and those who do not have them, those who are carriage bred, and those who go on foot, all walk, and all in gay feathers on Sunday after service. New Yorkers are taking up this custom and on sunny Sundays one may find in Central Park many a fine dame.

Miss Noren of McCook, gave a progressive crokinole party on Saturday evening for her Lincoln guests, Miss Garten, Miss Gregory, Miss Welch and Miss Cochrane. The house was very pretty and fragrant with the abundance of carnations that was to be found everywhere. The progressions were marked with small rings gayly tied with ribbons. After the progressions, chicken aspic, brown and white bread sandwiches, olives, coffee, frozen pudding, cake and bon-bons were served. Then the Lincoln young ladies and the young men and women of McCook made rapid conquests as regards acquaintance, the hours flew and the party was of the past all too soon. Miss Gregory and Miss Welch returned Sunday in great spirits after their two days' pleasure. Miss Garten and Miss Cochrane remained. On Monday evening Mrs. McCard gave a card party in their honor and on Tuesday evening Mrs. Barnett entertained for them at cards.

On Saturday evening Mr. Charles Gregory gave a stag party for Mr. Steven Langworthy of Seward. Those invited were: Mr. Archie Haecker, Mr. Dan Sherman and Mr. Seeley Clark.

Mrs. A. A. Scott and Mrs. Harpham will give a reception on Thursday, April Nineteenth.

Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Ladd will give a luncheon on Tuesday, April tenth.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Maggee of University Place, did homage to their tenth anniversary on Monday evening. The tin idea was carried out thoroughly and uniquely. The invitations were printed on tin foil and wrapped in narrow stripes of tin. Tin horns made a striking decoration for the house. These with an Easter lily were presented to each guest before he found his way homeward. Miss Robinson and Miss Fuller head in several delightful piano numbers. A cooling drink, butter milk and sweet milk in bright tin cups was offered to the guests and later a two course luncheon was served. Those present were: Doctor and Mrs. Wharton, Mayor and Mrs. Winnett, Messrs. and Mesdames Poynter, Graham Violet, Ayers, Grant, Watkins, Floy, Hotaling, J. H. Spencer, Summerlad, Schwake, and Tebbetts. Misses Love, Fuller and Roberts, and Doctor B. L. Paine. Mr. and Mrs. Maggee were presented with a beautiful cut glass berry bowl and many pieces of tin-ware.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Davis of 902 L street, are soon to move to Alliance, Nebraska. A number of friends came in Saturday evening, to wish them good fortune and happiness in their new home. A numerous course luncheon was served. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Mark Hoover, Freeland, A. Hayes, Ed. Rolfmeyer, Foss, and L. C. Davis. Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. W. Wilkineon, Mrs. Stackton, Mrs. E. Stackton and Mrs. Stewart. Misses Mabel Stewart, Lena Smith, Mary Davis, Helen Stewart, Anna Smith, Fannie Adams, Beesie Rolfmeyer, Dora Adams, Ella Stanfer and Daisy Adams. Messrs. George Davis, Seth Smith, Tom Davis, John Adams, John Davis, Jr., Milton Rolfmeyer, Natt White, George Whennett, Walker Davis, Eugene Hayes, Charles White, Ralph Smith and Glen Smith.

Mrs. Weeks invited a few friends informally for a cup of tea with Madame MacLean on Thursday afternoon. Madame MacLean leaves Saturday for Iowa City.

Mrs. W. C. Phillips entertained a few people at luncheon on Friday. The invited guests were: Mrs. Plummer, Mrs. S. G. Dorr and Mrs. Pirie.

Mr. Eames has been in the city a few days this week. He has been in charge of the elevator at Holdrege for some time.

Miss Katherine Naughton left Lincoln for Chicago on Wednesday. She has been the guest of Mrs. Ed. Fitzgerald this winter and has made warm friends here.
