

Bartley and Moore. Messrs. Wilson, Martin, Streeter, Ewing, Ducker, Lee, Howard, Painter, Mansfield, Woodruff and Phillipps.

A reception was given on Tuesday evening at the A. O. U. W. hall by the Lincoln lodge No. 1, Sons and Daughters of Protection, to the delegates of the grand lodge in session here. Judge E. P. Holmes welcomed the guests of the evening and Mr. E. E. Howard of Edgar, responded to the welcome. Dr. Teeters of Omaha, and Mr. Cosgrave also spoke. Later there was a banquet and dancing. Several hundred people were present.

The next Artist's recital of the Matinee Musicale will be given on Monday evening, April the twenty-third, at the armory. Miss Nellie May Morrill, a pupil of Clarence Eddy and of Guilman, will give an organ recital. She will be assisted by a ladies' chorus under the direction of Mrs. P. V. M. Raymond.

The Denver Times says that Mrs. Mary Rouse will give her regular annual breakfast to the choir boys at St. John's on Easter morning at the crypt of the cathedral. Mrs. Rouse was a very constant and active member of the Episcopal church when she lived in Lincoln. It appears from such items as the above which are printed from time to time in the Denver papers, that she still devotes her time and energy to the service of her church.

First Church of Christ (Scientist), Fourteenth and K streets. Arthur C. Ziemer, C. S. First Reader. Sunday morning services at 10:30; subject, "Probation After Death." The sermon consists of the reading of selections from the Bible and the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health, With Key to the Scriptures." Wednesday evening meeting at eight. The public is cordially invited.

The Lotos club met with Miss Harris on Thursday. Mrs. Morgan Brooks read a paper on Stoicism. Lotos decided to retain membership in the general federation and the treasurer collected the ten cents per capita. Fortnightly will meet with Miss Harris on Tuesday.

Miss Garcelon of Boston, a cousin of old Governor Garcelon of Maine, is visiting Mrs. N. S. Harwood.

Miss Morrill the organist, will be the guest of her cousin, Mr. C. H. Morrill.

It is with sincere regret that the friends of Mrs. Mary Manning learn of her resignation. For seven years she has served well and faithfully in her position in the State University. She goes in the fall to study under Doctor S. H. Clark of the Chicago University and later on she will go to the Genevieve Stebbins School of Expression in New York. Her many friends wish her success.

Colonel J. J. Kelly and Mrs. Kelly left on Friday, April the sixth, for California. They expect to be gone a year or more.

On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson entertained the Good Times High Five club for Mr. M. E. Shepherd. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Homer Scott, James Martin, W. K. Dye, E. L. Church, J. A. Anderson, E. L. Conger, Cunningham, Loyed, Shepherd, William Ritter, C. H. Moehler, Harvey Mathews, C. H. Carpenter, Grey, Tower, Moehler, Doctor and Mrs. Horsford. Mrs. E. P. Newell and Mrs. Carpenter. Misses Ella Axelsson of St. Louis, and Flora Townsend. Messrs. Shepherd, Hogg, Dawson, Riley and Mr. Joe Smith of Beatrice. Mr. and Mrs. Grey won the royal prizes and Mr. and Mrs. Moehler won the consolation prizes. After the cards Miss Townsend's playing was greatly appreciated and Mr. Dawson gave pleasure with his guitar. Mrs. Anderson served a three course supper. She was assisted by Mrs. Dye, Mrs. Church, Mrs. Anderson, Miss Hazel Church and Miss Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Wright will give a red dinner on Saturday evening. Covers will be laid for twenty. Among the invited guests are: Governor and Mrs. Poynter, Messrs. and Mesdames Oliver Rodgers, D. A. Campbell, H. H. Wilson, E. H. Barbour, R. E. Moore, A. S. Raymond and A. E. Hargreaves.

What protests the Lincoln newspaper offices would receive if the society reporters turned in the names of belles and beaux who go to balls and theatres together. All the telephones would be "busy" the morning after with bad-tempered subscribers stopping their papers. But the St. Louis papers are in the habit of recording without reproach these temporary and permanent attachments. Monday night Miss Ada Rehan and an excellent company presented "The School for Scandal," in St. Louis. Tuesday morning's Republic contains the following "society notes" which the young society set of Lincoln is invited to consider. Everybody knows, of course, that this season Jim Black is going with Daisy Chain, but we are too provincial to publish it in the newspapers.

Benjamin O'Fallon and James O'Fallon arrived before the orchestra began to play and occupied their favorite seats on the front row.

This would read in Lincoln, Mr. Thomas Ewing and Colonel Wilson sunk into their customary seats at the Oliver, fourth row from the front, right.

Miss Pauline Gehner came with Gustav Nieman. Miss Gehner was in old rose and white satin.

Miss Camille Mendel sat in the parquet, to the right. She wore gray crepe and white lace applique.

Isaac N. Hedges brought Miss Ethel Richards.

Miss Daisy Pannill and Harry Blodgett were on the left of the circle, with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Pierce as neighbors.

Miss Lucille Overstolz and her escort were on the left of the parquet. Miss Overstolz wore pink taffeta, with a white pompon and taffeta in her hair.

Charles Senter escorted Miss Adele Bollman, who wore fawn cloth, white satin and pink panne.

Miss Clara Bain and her escort were on the right in the parquet, near Mr. and Mrs. Will Elliott.

Miss Blanche Drey, who has recently returned from Europe, came in late with Ben Behr. Miss Drey wore black net with a large picture hat of black lace.

Miss Daisy Bond and her escort were in the central parquet. Miss Bond wore pastel blue cloth with tucked guimpe of white satin.

Mrs. Frederick Lehmann came with two ladies and sat on the left of the parquet.

Doctor Leon Harrison had several ladies with him in the front parquet.

The Retort Discourteous.

He boarded a Broadway cable car and sat down beside a woman passenger. He had indulged in cocktails and high balls not wisely, but too well, and his intoxication was apparent. With a scornful air the woman passenger inched away from him. The intoxicated newcomer moved along until he was again close beside her. Again she inched away, and again he followed. Her next move brought her to the end of the seat, and a second later he was at her side. Then, turning to him, she exclaimed angrily:

"Sir, if you were my husband I'd give you a dose of poison."

For a full minute he gazed at her meditatively. Then he slowly and solemnly replied:

"Madam," he said, "if I were your husband, I'd take it."—Town Topics.
