Mrs. Charles Frank Harpham and Mrs. Alfred Archibald Scott gave a white reception Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harpham, from three to six o'clock. The house looked charming. The door was opened by a butler splendid in white satin and a powdered wig. Each caller said Oh! as she entered. Such freshness, such daintiness, such whiteness! The arches in the hall were hung with airy white draperies and wreaths of white roses and Easter lilies. There were white rugs on the floor and the balustrade of the stairway was wound with white bunting. The guests were first shown upstairs to a room where Miss Risser, all in white with powdered hair, seated under a white canopy, served a refreshing frapped fruit. She was assisted by Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Suter, Miss Leese, Miss Hill and Miss Scott of Ashland. Roses and smilax were wound around the chandelier and strands of white flowers hung from the curtains. The guests then descended to the hall where they were met by Mrs. Callen Thompson, who directed them to the receiving party in which were Mrs. Harpham, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Pierce of Chicago and Mrs. Wilson of Omaha. The receiving ladies were all gowned in white and wore their hair powdered. Mrs. Harpham's gown was an effective white dotted silk muslin. The waist was made with a yoke trimmed with a dainty lace guipure. On the skirt were many lace ruffles. Mrs. Scott wore a fluffy gown of white Swiss muslin. The corsage was shirred with frequent handsome lace entre-deux. In the drawing rooms and in the library were white roses, carnations, ferns and palms. The chandeliers were wrapped in roses and lilies and on the floors were white rugs. Those assisting in these rooms were Mesdames Frank Hall, Allen W. Field, A. D. Wilkinson and F. H. Hill. Mrs. L. C. Richards showed the guests into the dining room which was of the whitest white. On the walls was a graceful frieze of soft white material. Smilax and roses were wound in and out in the scroll work above the door; the chandeliers were prettily decorated and the draperies were effective with their garnishing of white roses and lilies. Mrs. Sheldon Raymond, with her accustomed dignity and grace, served the ice. She was assisted by Mesdames Henry P. Eames, Manahan, Freeman, Misses Poynter, Weeks, Odell and Olive Shute. The table centre was Battenburg lace and a bowl of lovely bride roses. White ices, cakes and bonbons were served. Mrs. Munson invited the ladies from the dining room into the library and from there Mrs. Atwood guided them to the Grecian room which was on the second floor. In the Grecian room there were white divans and cushions all about. The walls, quite covered with white roses and smilax, formed a beautiful background to the women gowned in the soft, graceful, Grecian robe. Mrs. J. H. Stephens served Grecian tea and orange straw. She was assisted by Mrs. Arnett, Miss Dolly, Miss Hartley and Miss Kelly. All the women assisting Mrs. Harpham and

Mrs. Scott were gowned in white and wore their hair powdered. The Ideal Mandolin orchestra played during the reception hours. The music was in touch with the tone-color of the afternoon, "Lo! I thought all in white".

This evening Mrs. Harpham and Mrs. Scott give a card party at the home of the former. The evening is given in honor of the ladies who assisted them on Thursday afternoon, and their husbands. Six-handed euchre is to be the game. Those invited are Messrs. and Mesdames J. H. Stephens, Atwood, H. H. Wilson, L. D. Munsen, Sutter, Nelson, Lee Arnett, James Manahan, Spier, J. C. Harpham, C. A. Robbins, Mark Tilton, R. B. Wilson and Walter Davis.

Newton and Paul Campbell gave a dancing party to some of their friends on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woods entertained the Good Times Euchre club on Wednesday. The club particularly enjoyed life last evening after its intermission during part of lent.

The Congregational club gave a quarterly dinner party on last Tuesday evening in the dining room of the church. At the three other banquets the congregational sisters are not expected, but on this occasion they were invited both to prepare the banquet and to dine with the members. The club also did the handsome thing by allowing the women to have both the first and the last word. Although Mrs. A. S. Raymond did not expect to preside, the toast mistress being absent she took her place and introduced each speaker with a few gracious and well chosen words. After a savoury banquet, Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Winchester, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Hartley, Mrs. Doane and Miss Harris responded to toasts. After the last word the men folks elected President, Prof. Swezey; Vice president, Mr. George A. Loveland; Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. T. C. Seacrest. Ex. Com. Mr. D. E. Green, Dr. Stevens, Mr. O. T. King and Mr. Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Schwind gave a spring dinner party on Tuesday. The dining room and table were in roses and violets. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. M. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Waite, Mr. and Mrs. Winger, Mrs. Strother and Mr. Milton Schwind.

The public is cordially invited.

Mr. Richeson gave a series of dancing parties this week for the pupils in his various classes. His decorations were elaborate, and both the dance given on Monday and the one on Wednesday evening were very successful affairs. The flower programs were dainty bits of cardboard. Mr. Richeson's carnival season has been thoroughly enjoyed by his pupils.

The Bryan Home Guards gave a ball on Monday evening at the Auditorium. The Auditorium presented a very gay fete-like appearance, with its festooning of bunting and the number of flags used in decoration. There were frequent portraits of Mr. Bryan on the walls, also one of Abraham Lincoln. A flag lighted by electricity made a most brilliant display of light and color. The evening was opened by a musical program given by Hagenow's band. About ten o'clock the dancing began. The grand march was led by Adjutant General Barry and

Mrs. Wente, Mr. James Manahan and Mrs. T. S. Allen, who were preceded by Lieutenant Eager and Lieutenant Pace in uniform. There were about two hundred people present. Ices were served during the evening. Credit is due the various committees for their careful direction of affairs.

There is a certain young lady in Lincoln whose charms have caught the eye of two of Omaha's prominent society devotees of the other sex and each of them has lately been concocting excuses for frequent trips to the city by Salt creek without the knowledge that his rival knew of his attentions to the aforesaid dame. One of them recently discovered the other, however, and was in turn discovered in the same breath, and it was all due to the fact that somebody's telephone is on the same circuit with some other body's. Upon taking down his telephone, Mr. A. heard the following brief bits of conversation between a young married lady of Lincoln who was visiting in Omaha and Mr. B: Mr. B—"Whew! Is that so?" Mrs. C—"Yes. And he was down again last Sunday and took a long walk with her all the afternoon." It is said that Mr. A and Mr. B met the next Sunday afternoon in Lincoln and the old adage that "three is a crowd" was painfully verified.—Omaha World-Herald.

Miss Garcelon, of Boston, who is visiting Mrs. N. S. Harwood, is a member of the Castilians, a woman's club which has devoted the last ten years to the history, literature and institutions of Spain. Each year the club publishes two books containing the research and conclusions of the previous year. There are now in the Boston public library twenty volumes on Spain contributed by the Castilians. These books, containing full bibliographies, are edited with the thoroughness and conscientiousness of Boston women, and are a valuable addition to the knowledge of Spain.
