(The following report arrived too late in the week for publication in last week's issue):

The closing session of the Woman's club of Lincoln was held Monday afternoon. It was a business meeting devoted to the election of officers and reports from the different departments and committees. Owing to the rain the attendance was small. The following officers and delegates were elected: President, Mrs. Bushnell; first vice president, Mrs. Welch; second vice president, Mrs. Gund; rec. sec., Mrs. Bagnell; cor. sec., Mrs. I. N. Baker; treas., Mrs. Lee Arnett; aud., Mrs. W. C. Henry. Delegates to the G. F. W. C., Mesdames Eames, Plummer, Milton Scott and Miss Elliott; alternates, Mesdames Piper, Lahr and Rehlender. Delegates to the state federation, Mesdames F. A. Brown, H. W. Kelly, W. M. Morning, H. H. Wheeler, M. A. Newmark, Guy Brown, W. C. Henry and Miss Brackett; alternates, Mesdames Hibner, Metcalfe, Heron, Orcutt, Lyman, Richardson and Wiedner. The retiring president, Mrs. A. W. Field, who has given much time and thought to the club for the past two years, was given a rising vote of appreciation, while the new president gracefully and gravely accepted the new position. In her farewell speech Mrs. Field recommended the appointment of a room committee which should serve in relays, thus relieving the president of the responsibility of opening the room, dusting, arranging the chairs, etc. Reports were presented from the various standing committees, and the child study department was authorized to affiliate with the National Association of Mothers, which will hold its annual convention in Des Moines May 22. Mesdames Able, H. H. Wheeler and J. W. Johnson were elected delegates to this congress. The secretary's report showed the addition of two departments—music and French—both of which are in a flourishing condition. The current events department exhibited two framed pictures which it had purchased to present to the public schools. The treasurer's report showed $419.28 received the past year, this added to the balance remaining from last year makes a total of $574.32, leaving $100.92 for next year. The secretary reported the present membership as 380. So closes one of the most successful years of the Lincoln Woman's club. The retiring president having served the time limit, in an informal talk thanked the members of the club for the sympathy and kindly cooperation which had been hers the past two years.

The meeting of the Omaha Woman's club on Monday, April 30, was largely attended, and the original and delightful program which the English literature department furnished was enthusiastically praised. Mrs. F. H. Cole, the leader of the department, announced that as students of literature, she wished to bring before the club gentlemen well known to the literary and musical world of Omaha. The ladies then had the pleasure of greeting Mr. Will Maupin, who is well known to the many readers of the World-Herald through his "Limnings." Mr. Maupin read a number of selections, "The Better Half Awheel," "Whip Behind," "The Old-Fashioned Prayer Meeting," "The Modern Maid" and "Hello, Pop." There is a delightful individuality about Mr. Maupin's verses, and his readings were heartily endorsed. In response, he gave "Santa Claus," and by special request, "Old Olmstead's Violin" and "Exposition Days." Mr. C. C. Hahn is the modest author of two books, "In Cloisters Dim" and "The Wreck of the South Pole." He has written also many verses which have not been published in book form. He read "The Monk and the Mother Bird," "The Children are Coming Home," "Alone," "The Monk's Prayer" and "The Invocation to the Saints." Mr. Hahn's verses are in direct contrast to Mr. Maupin's. They have a tinge of melancholy and a sweetness and pathos best enjoyed by oneself. Mr. Oscar Gareisson sang "My Crucifix." It must be highly gratifying to know that such a tremendous noise was brought forth by kid gloves entirely. The beautiful words of the song are Mr. Hahn's; the sympathetic and exquisite music is the composition of Mr. Landsberg, who played the accompaniment. The program closed with a witty address by Mr. Thomas Kelly on "Popular Songs from a Literary Standpoint." Mr. Kelly said the popular songs of Scotland are of heather, highlands and herrings. Germany has its student songs, Italy its songs of rich, red wine, Spain sang of Toreadors, France of its army, Ireland of love and sorrow, while America was under the spell of the "coon" song. He scored the popular songs of our day as "unmitigated rot," and called upon the Woman's club to banish the trashy
