

A GREAT SPECIAL JUNE SELLING EVENT

COMMENCES IN OUR COMMODIOUS ESTABLISHMENT MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 11th.

The May business was the heaviest we ever before did, and we intend to make June THE BANNER MONTH OF THE YEAR. Very special prices have been made on

SEASONABLE MERCHANDISE

Prices that cannot fail to crowd our Store each day.

New and Artistic Millinery at sweeping reductions.

Low Prices on Suits and Jackets.

Popular Priced Waist Selling.

Hosiery and Underwear at Remarkable Prices.

Wash Goods at Our Usual Non-Competitive Figures.

Domestics at Manufacturers' Cost.

CHINA AND GLASSWARE AT RADICAL REDUCTIONS.

See Yellow Circular for Full Particulars.

10,000 Yellow Circulars will Be Delivered Monday. Watch for One.

FitzGerald
DRY GOODS CO.

E. Turner, Mrs. C. W. Turner and son, left on Wednesday for Spirit Lake, Iowa.

Mrs. Lee Arnett, Mrs. Merritt Blackburn and Mrs. M. C. Laymon gave a butterfly reception on Friday, from two-thirty to five-thirty. Beth Bonnell and Valley Bonnell, young butterflies, opened the door and presented the card tray. The guests were met by Miss Dalby in a striking black and jet butterfly costume, at the drawing room door and directed to the receiving party, Mrs. Arnett, Mrs. Blackburn and Mrs. Laymon. Mrs. Arnett was gowned in white mull with many parures of tuckings. Mrs. Blackburn's gown was of black and yellow liberty silk, and Mrs. Laymon wore an effective gown of black and white dotted silk muslin. The drawing room decorations were palms, syringas and graceful twistings and windings of smilax. In the library the ceiling was festooned with green and white roping. The chandelier globes were shaded in yellow with gay butterflies that had lighted here and there. There was an oriental nook from which a refreshing fruit punch was served by Mrs. Spangler in handsome, black butterfly apparel. She was assisted by Miss Robinson, gay in a black and yellow garb with butterfly wings. Miss Graham in lavender and white and Miss Edna Harley, in pale green with dark trimmings, were brilliant butterflies as they glided first here, then there in receiving the guests. In the dining room red and white were the themes of color. The ceiling was hung with red, white and blue fringed ropes. The table centre was Battenberg lace and red carnations. Miss Rice in a lovely white costume with dainty frills, served the ice. Her assistant butterflies were: Miss Mamie Miller, in poppy color, and Miss Mildred Parks in red. Miss Smith in white made with a wing effect and gold garnitures hovered near the music box. In another direction opening from the library was the butterfly bower. From the ceiling were blue and pink festoons. On the chandelier were blue and pink shades. The walls were covered with butterflies of many colors and descriptions. There were frequent mirrors upon the walls that reflected the brilliant scene. Miss McWhinnie in blue and pink was the good fairy butterfly, presenting each guest with blossoms of yellow jessamine.

Miss Bonnell in pink and white fluttered near a music box, which played gayly. All of the costumes were unique in their design and their brilliant and dashing colors gave one the feeling of having in truth joined a butterfly world.

The program committee of the Matinee Musicale, Miss Childs chairman, has arranged the following outline for next season's work:

President's Day.....	Oct. 1.
Wedding March.....	Oct. 15.
American Composers.....	Oct. 29.
Artist Recital.....	Nov. 12.
Opera Program.....	Nov. 26.
Open Meeting.....	Dec. 10.
Calendar of Song.....	Jan. 7.
Musical Contrasts.....	Jan. 21.
Artist Recital.....	Feb. 4.
Hours of the Day.....	Feb. 18.
Music of all Nations.....	March 4.
Songs of Sorrow.....	March 18.
Artist Recital.....	Apr. 1.
Flower Music.....	Apr. 15.
Open Meeting.....	Apr. 29.
Reception.....	May 5.

The leaders of the first division are: Mrs. A. W. Johnson and Mrs. Gould; second division, Mrs. J. W. Winger and Miss Shute; third division, Miss Childs and Miss Givens.

Mrs. E. H. Steckley and Mrs. E. R. Wells gave a proverb party on Tuesday afternoon at the home of the former. Mrs. Steckley's home is pretty and fresh in its attire and charming was the effect, with a number of women, in summer frocks. Each woman came dressed or decorated in such a way as to illustrate the proverb that she had chosen. Some of those most cleverly illustrated were "Penny in a pocket, good companions," "Burnt child dreads the fire," and "He who laughs last, laughs best." The last was illustrated by five heads each face more laughing than the one before. Mrs. Woodworth was the most successful in guessing the proverbs, and she was rewarded with a picture. Mrs. Wharton came second in the line of success. She was presented with a book of proverbs. A light luncheon cool and refreshing was served.

Miss Harley gave a handkerchief shower on Wednesday afternoon for Miss Ricketts. The young women gathered on the lawn, where it was pleasant to chat and laugh. The handkerchiefs were fastened on a white umbrella, which was fastened and wound with jessamine. Miss Dorothy Baker, in a white frock and pink sash, carried out from the house the luxuriously laden sunshade and presented it to Miss Ricketts. As she opened it the delicate pieces of linen and lace fluttered in the breeze. The invited guests were: Mesdames C. R. Lee, Lew Marshall, Ross Curtice, Elmer Merrill, F. W. Kind, Ackermann, Emory Hardy, H. H. Harley, and I. N. Baker. Misses Colson of Fremont, Clark, Garten, Conklin, Rice, Risser, Webster, Harwood, Broady, Grace Broady, Ames, Heaton, Thiel of St. Louis, Whiting, Adelloyd Whiting, Hammond, Clara Hammond, Kirker, Griggs, Nance, Whedon, Margaret Whedon, Frances Gere, Ellen Gere, Richards, Hawley, Houtz, Lindley, Hargreaves and Bridge.

Miss Marie Talbot gave a bicycle party on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Zella Metcalf and Mr. Casey Hamilton. After an hour's ride the gay little company returned to the Talbot home where ice cream and cake were served. The porch was festooned with red, white and blue bunting, a large music box played merrily and a refreshing lemonade was served from a great punch bowl. The lawn was festive with lanterns, rugs and chairs. Those present were the Misses Neva Hibner, Mary Minor, Cora Faulkner, Ethel Burkett, Addie Hamilton, Helen Laws, Edna Baker, Mignon Gaylord, Lila LeGore, Gratia Green, Marian Hart, Vera Bignell, Katherine Lee, Irma Sears, Wilma Casebeer, Gladys Garrouette, Annie Jones, Dorrance Harwood and Zella Metcalf. Messrs. Aldis Hibner, Herbert Post, Allan Flansburg, Ted Faulkner, John Burkett, Earl Foster, Willard Mills, Robert Warren, Laurence Tipling, Alva Gaylord, Jean Bignell, Ira Lee, Vogle Gettier, Casey Hamilton and Chester Ager.

Mrs. Edward Lewis Baker gave a kensington on Tuesday afternoon in honor of her mother, Mrs. H. M. Cooke, who has lately returned from Puerto Rico. There were bowls of fragrant roses placed in picturesque opportune places and long syringa branches here and there. A guessing game in which Mrs. Green was the most successful, occupied a goodly part of the afternoon. She was presented with a charming gift-book. In the library was an interesting collection of curios that Mrs.

Cooke had brought from Puerto Rico. A three course luncheon was served. Those present were: Mesdames Marsland, Rose, J. G. Morrison, Green, Mary Phillips, Eliza Polk, C. W. Chambers, Miller, I. E. Johnson, McCreery, Mary E. Van Brunt, R. T. Van Brunt, R. D. Stearns, C. E. Yates, Eli Plummer, F. M. Hall, W. M. Hindman and Miss Minnie Cooke.

Mrs. Blanche Keddish gave a party for Lavern Reddish—small maiden, at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. C. Lamb, 2824 Q street, on Thursday afternoon. There was gambling upon the green and fruit punch whenever there were thirsty lips. Later ice cream and cake were served at small tables. Mrs. Reddish was assisted by Mrs. Neir and Miss Nellie Hartley. Those invited were: Stella Sallenbach, Lucile Clyce, Marie Crittendon, Helen Morse, Ethel Speier, Rae Neir, Dorothy Wallace, Helen Wallace, Russel Gentzler, Herbert Diamond, Katherine Moore, Harold Clyce, Herbert Sallenbach, Edith Sheely, Leon Rugg, Genevieve Roberts, Mary St. Clair, Dorris King and Ruth Shively.

Tuesday evening at eight o'clock Miss Edna Williams was married to Mr. Orville Eddy of Minneapolis, in the Westminster Presbyterian church of Omaha. The bride is a well known musician and has been leader of the chorus and soprano soloist of the Westminster church for several years. Mr. Orville Eddy is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Eddy of Lincoln and has been a successful manager of the furnishing department of Browning & King's store in Minneapolis for eight years. The wedding party consisted of the maid of honor, two bridesmaids, the best man, the ushers and ring bearer, Master Canfield Eddy, who was a princely little boy in his brown suit and flaring collar. Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Orville Eddy were in Lincoln and Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Eddy gave them a breakfast at eleven o'clock. The flower scheme of the parlor was white roses. The guests were seated at two tables in the dining room, which was handsomely decorated with pink roses. An elaborate collation was served. The invited guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Nelson Taylor and John C. Wharton of University Place, Becker of Omaha, Burt Davis, Crandall, I. N. Goddard, James Boyd; Mrs. Moore; Miss Mamie Taylor and