SOCIETY

The leaves have grown more yellow this week, tumbling with their habitual autumnal alacrity. The silver head of Mein Herr Frost has greeted the seven o'clock riser on several occasions and society has smoothed her brow and napped with dreams of last week's gleanings and pleasures.

At four o'clock in Trinity Cathedral on Tuesday afternoon Miss Ura Louise Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Kelly of Omaha, and formerly of Lincoln, was married to Mr. Raymond Marvin Welch, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Welch of Lincoln. As the cathedral was filling with the hundreds of guests, Mr. Butler, the organist, played wedding music. The church bespoke its blessing and good will in the always restful, refreshing combination of white flowers and green leaves. Fresh bouquets of white carnations and southern smilax tied with white ribbons were fastened to the pews. The triumphant Lohengrin chorus announced the approach of the wedding party. The ushers, Mr. William Hayward, Mr. Edgar Morsman and Mr. Arthur Cooley, came first. Then the bridesmaids, Miss Helen Weish alone, Misses Georgia Lindsay and Marie Crouse together, and then the maid of honor, Miss Houtz. After the maid of honor, came the bride on her father's arm. At the altar they were met by Mr. Welch and his best man, Mr. George Palmer. The ceremony was solemnized by Dean Fair. Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" was played during the quiet, solemn moments of the service. Both bride and groom have spent childhood and some grown-up days in Lincoln, and there are many and many who would send them greetings of happiness and joy. The bride was a wonderfully lovely bride, in a gown of white chiffon over liberty satin, the bodice being of real lace, and skirt handsome with a fine flounce of Duchesse lace, besides gimpures of chiffon. The bridesmaids' gowns were most handsome and effective, each being particularly suited to the maid who wore it. There was much fluffiness of chiffon and tulle, with aesthetic touches of real lace. The maids wore hats of panne velvet and tulle and carried bouquets of Suanonia. The bride gave pearl and turquoise brooches to her maids, and the groom presented the best man and ushers with dragon jeweled scarf pins. At half after four Mr. and Mrs. Kelly were at home to the bridal party, relatives and a few intimate friends. The house was bright with meteor roses, which looked on and smiled their approval of the grace and charm of the bride and congratulated the groom. The dining room was one reception to red. Here white and green prevailed. The dark polished table, handsome with a Duchesse lace centerpiece, and doilies and white carnations. The gifts were magnificent, and there were many of them. Mr. and Mrs. Welch left at 7:40 Friday evening for Boston. They will be at home after the third and fourth Wednesdays in December at 3518 Harney street, Omaha.

Miss Lola Love and Miss Eva Fuller. Prominently placed on the piano was a picture of Miss Alice Shepard, violinist, who had been suddenly called home by illness on the day previous. In an adjoining room a delicious frappe was served throughout the evening from a cozy corner of Turkish draperies, presided over by Miss Lulu Cook and Mrs. Wells. In the refreshment rooms fluted coils of crepe paper in carnation pink swung from the chandeliers, making a very attractive canopy over the table, which was lighted also by pink candles. Miss Lulu Crawford and Miss Avy Merriam presided and were assisted by Misses Frances Ingham, Zoe Gladden and Ora Starr, Miss Julia Ingham presiding at the flower table. About two hundred guests, consisting of the university faculty, council officers and conservatory pupils and their parents, participated in the pleasures of the evening, which were brought to a delightful close by two numbers from the Wesleyan male quartette.

On Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. William R. Kelly gave a red dinner at the Millard hotel, Omaha, to the bridal party and out-of-town guests. The table was arranged in the shape of a T, and was brilliant with the glow of light and gorgeous with huge baskets of red roses and ferns. The imported name cards added much to the already beautiful table. The happiness, too, of the bridal couple was a pleasant setting for the handsome dinner. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Cornish of New York, Judge and Mrs. Sanborn and Mr. and Mrs. Hartin of St. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Welch, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Houtz, Miss Welch and Miss Houtz of Lincoln, Mr. Kelly and Mrs. Cochran of Los Angeles, California, Mr. and Mrs. Clapp, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, Miss Lindsay, Miss Crouse and Miss Cooley, Mr. Cooley, Mr. Morsman and Mr. Welch of Omaha, and Mr Hayward of Nebraska City.

Married, on Wednesday evening, at the residence of the bride's parents, 1301 Q street, Miss Myrie Boynton to Mr. Harry C. Zehrunge, Dr. Fletcher Wharton officiating. The bride's gown was white French batiste, trimmed with valenciennes lace. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The drawing room was in pink and white roses, ferns and palms. The mantle was banked and bouquets were everywhere. After the ceremony a luncheon was served by Misses Laura Whaley and Vera Meyers of Osceola, Misses Cynthia Johnson, Daisy Fritz, Grace Johnson and Ella Anderson. Master Forrest Tebbets ushered the guests into the house. Mr. and Mrs. Boynton were assisted by Mrs. Zehrunge, mother of the groom, Miss Nellie Zehrunge, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Tebbets and Mrs. C. L. Eaton. Miss Alice White played the wedding music. Mr. and Mrs. Zehrunge will be at home after November 15th, at 924 South Eighteenth street.

Kappa chapter of Delta Gamma gave a dancing party Friday evening at the home of Miss Margaret Honeywell in honor of the freshmen members, the Misses Abba Bowen, Hortense, Clark, Marie Weesner, Lelia Hunt, Louise Tukey, Lillian Robeson, Jessie Moore and Belle Hamilton. The house was gay with flowers, and dancing gave
