LITERARY NOTES.

Mr. Robert Donald, the editor of the Municipal Journal, of London, contributes to the American Monthly Review of Reviews for November, an important article on "Trusts in England," describing the modus operandi of effecting industrial combinations there, and giving specific instances of many such combinations formed within the past two years.

"The Political Beginnings in Porto Rico" is the subject of an article in the November Review of Reviews by Dr. John Finley, the new professor of politics at Princeton. Dr. Finley traveled nearly 300 miles through the island last summer—the greater part of the way afoot. His conclusions regarding the possibilities of the Porto Ricans are encouraging.

Among the principal illustrated articles of the Magazine Number of The Outlook for November are, "Up from Slavery," the first instalment of an Autobiography by Booker T. Washington, with portrait and many other illustrations; "American Educators in China," by George B. Smyth, President of the Anglo-Chinese College; "The Emperor of Austria," by Irenaeus Prime-Stevenson, based partly on the recent seventieth birthday celebration of the Emperor; "Nearer the North Pole," by Sofia Bompiani, an account of the achievement of the Duke of the Abruzzi in reaching a point nearer to the North Pole than man had before attained; "The Sulu Archipelago," by Phelps Whitmarsh, Special Commissioner of The Outlook to the Philippines; another instalment of Mr. Hamilton Wright Mabie's "William Shakespeare," dealing with the later tragedies; a story by Charles W. Chesnutt, author of "The Wife of His Youth;" full and numerous book notices, the usual weekly history of current events, and editorials on important topics complete the Number.

The November number of The Household is exceptionally noteworthy. The cover, drawn especially for The Household, is executed in two colors, and tells a pleasing story of Colonial days and ways and is in itself a work of art. Under the new management, The Household of Boston, Massachusetts, promises to become one of the first in the field of magazines devoted to home interests.

Thomas Wentworth Higginson contributes an article entitled "The Mould of Fortune," in the November Household.
