Mr. W. B. Ogden left Lincoln for the east on Wednesday, after disposing of his partnership in the firm of Funke and Ogden to the senior member. The departure of this fine and loyal gentleman from Lincoln is a poignant regret to all who have enjoyed his courteous friendship. Mr. Ogden has lived and labored in Lincoln for fifteen years. His willingness to serve a friend and the old fashioned value he placed upon friendship has been an inspiration to the members of the, in reality, small circle which surrounds every man. But even Mr. Ogden's casual acquaintances will miss the rare courtesy and unflinching generosity which characterized his commerce with them. As soon as he decides upon a location and disposes of his house here, his family will follow him.

The Twice a-Week Republic.

Every Monday and Thursday a newspaper as good as a magazine—and better for it contains the latest by telegraph as well as interesting stories—is sent to the subscriber of the "Twice-a-Week" Republic, which is only $1.00 a year.

The man who reads the "Twice-a-Week" Republic knows all about affairs political, domestic and foreign; is posted about the markets and commercial matters generally.

The women who read the "Twice-a-Week" Republic gather a bit of valuable information about household affairs and late fashions and find recreation in the bright stories that come under both the heading of fact and fiction. There is gossip about new books and a dozen other topics of especial interest to the wide-awake man and woman.
