SOCIETY

Society with card parties, kensingtons, dances and receptions fills the week. Although this is the week before Christmas people seem to have time to entertain and on two days of the past week there have been as many as five different parties. Perhaps our glorious weather has something to do with so much gaiety. Entertainments have the same general character, possibly we have a better time at one place than we do at another, but we go to kensingtons, dances, card parties and receptions the year around. In one of the eastern cities where a lady entertained, there was a little variation from the usual routine. Possibly this lady feared that society was weary of kensingtons and like, so she gave an auction party. The guests on their arrival were presented with a list of twenty articles for sale and an envelope of beans to pay for them. Each article was carefully wrapped and the name of the package given in puzzling indirection on the list. For example:

Special auction sale, by order of Sheriff.

Study of a head—cabbage.
 Irish bric a brac—potato.
 Patent skirt-lifter—chocolate mouse.
 Woman's miltum in parvo—hairpins.
 Maid of Orleans—stick of molasses candy.
 Profanity educators—hammer and nails.

No more perfectly appointed reception has been given during the season than the one given on Friday evening, December 14th, at Walsh hall by Mr. and Mrs. George Fawell in honor of Major and Mrs. Stoney. The hall never looked prettier. The decorations were white and yellow. Large yellow butterflies of tarlatan almost concealed the radiators and chrysanthemums and ferns covered the tops. The chandeliers were draped in tarlatan and the lights covered with yellow shades. Mrs. Fawell was gowned in blue crepe de chine with Turkish embroidery on white velvet. Mrs. Stoney was attired in a handsome gown of white satin with waist of embroidered yellow chiffon. The dining room was elaborately decorated in pink and white. Loops of pink tarlatan were festooned from the chandeliers down to the table. Large American Beauties were in the centre of the table and near the edge were pale roses in crystal vases. Mr. and Mrs. Fawell were assisted by Mesdames W. C. Thomas, E. P. Ewing, Howe, Yates, Wright, Griffith, Pitcher, Clark, Tefft, Ladd, W. A. Green, I. M. Raymond, John Fawell, Misses Elsie Fawell, Cowdery and Mr. John Marquette.

Mrs. Hutchin's scarlet kensington on Monday brought together Mesdames Bartlett, Stephenson, Rees, Babcock, McCreery, Turner, Turner, Aitken, Kellogg, Riesser, Wharton, F. A. Brown, Doty, Henry, H. K. Burkett, Steckley, Albot, Lynch, Leavitt, Tipling, Watkins, Beeson, Wells, Maloney, Robbins, Schwake, Hill, Leese, Moore, Everetts, Berge, Munson, McPhee, Barker, Miller, Atwood, Sears, Parks, Hackney, Tuttle, Parke, Butler, Shinn, White, Casebeer, Witter, Wells, Turner, Morse, Rawls of Creston, Iowa, Sohus, Hamilton of Ft. Madison, Fountain of South Bend, Ind., Lawrence and Hale. The company played at guessing the names of the famous individuals whose portraits were exhibited. Mrs. E. R. Wells and Mrs. R. M. Turner recognized the greatest number of the celebrities and in cutting for the honor Mrs. Wells won.

Beta Theta Pi fraternity gave a subscription party last Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Buckstaff. The dancing hall was festooned with the fraternity colors, pink and blue, and over the alcove where the musicians sat hung the shield-shaped fraternity pin. Punch was served all the evening. The subscribers and their guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames G. A. Adams, Frank Woods, H. P. Lau, Fred Cornell; Misses Richards, Jenkins, Anna Hammond, Clara Hammond, Post, Hayes, Mabel Bennet, Wirt, Morgan, McHenry, Douglas, Robinson, Agnew, McPhee, Andrews, Thomas, Burruss, Honeywell, Louise Fukey, Ethel Fukey, Cole, Robinson, Bonnell, Emmons, Chapin and Nance; Messrs. Rehlaender, Ricketts, Schick, Buckstaff, Ustick, J. H. Bell, Clarke Bell, Roth, Everett Blackman, McKillip, Richards, Norval, Broady, Holmes, Musser, Anderson, Montgomery, Marquette, Price, Ames, Cox, Frank Reim of Fairbury, and Dr. White.

Chancellor and Mrs. Huntington gave their annual dinner to the graduating class of the Wesleyan university on Wednesday evening. The rooms were decorated in the university colors, brown and yellow, and sunflowers. The dining room was decorated in the class color, purple. English violets added to the beauty of the table. The members of the class present were Misses Atkins, Abbott, Love, Perkins, Evans, Fuller, and Roberts; Messrs. Ruch, Atkins, Zinnecker, Stillwell, Foreyth, Gerhart and Crago.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jones and Mrs. W. Hunter gave a large reception last Tuesday evening at the home for the friendless. The rooms were artistically decorated in roses and palms and the lights covered with pretty red shades. The guests were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Jones and to Mrs. Hunter by Prof. Maggi. Dr. and Mrs. Wentz, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen assisted in receiving. Mrs. Jones' gown was of black silk and lace; Mrs. Wentz, pink and green silk; Mrs. Hunter, black silk with tucked yoke of light blue. Misses Leese, DeTour, Howland, Loomis, Morris and Mrs. Stewart assisted in serving.

Mrs. C. H. Morrill entertained a large number of friends very pleasantly Wednesday afternoon. Roses and carnations were tastefully used for decorations. Those present were Mesdames Caldwell, Beesey, McCreery, Pound, Lyman, Wecke, Garter, Louis, Hammond, Tibbets, Teeters, Robbins, Stein, Davis, Stephens, Folom, Bruner, Ricketts, Butler, Peters, A wood, Patrick, Wendling, Wallace, Hindman, Fosler, Burlingim, Andrews, Wolcott, Kirker, A. C. Richards, Turner; Misses Pound and Haskell. Misses De Lashmatt, Amy Robinson and Minnie Morrill assisted in serving.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Morrill entertained a large number of people Wednesday evening. High five was played and Mrs. Burnham and Mr. Barbour were awarded the prizes. The guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Taylor, Wilson, Barbour,
