Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Greer celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last Wednesday evening at their home on North Thirtieth street. The preliminaries were arranged and under the management of the ladies of Farragut Relief Corps, of which Mrs. Greer is a member. The following is taken from a Rock Island, Ill., paper:

"There was a wedding at the Methodist church at Muscatine, August 3rd, last, in which Rock Island was interested, but the news of the happy event was kept secret until Saturday, when Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Smith announced to their relatives that they had furnished a flat in the Hurst block on Twentieth street and would at once go to house keeping. Mrs. Smith, before her marriage, was Miss Agnes Julia Leveen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Leveen. The groom is a well known Rock Island typo, who is now identified with the mechanical department of The Argus. The couple have a host of friends, all of whom will unite in wishing them well in their wedded life."
