SOCIETY

Christmas week was devoted to family dinners and receptions. Perhaps the most important event of the week was the reception by the Nebraska Art association in the art rooms of the university library building. It was the first of the art exhibit, to be held until the sixteenth of January.

The opening night of the art exhibit of the Nebraska Art association on Wednesday evening was a brilliant reception in the university library building. Everyone had an opportunity of enjoying the paintings but it was primarily a social function. As the guests entered they were received by Prof. Hodgman who introduced them to Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hall, Governor and Mrs. Poynter, Chancellor and Mrs. Andrews, Messrs. and Mesdames Burnham, Barbour and John B. Wright. Mesdames Lambertson and A. S. Raymond served ices from the north end of the hall assisted by Misses Sherwood, Ellen Gere, Frances Gere, Cochran, Palmer, Raymond, Louise Burnham and Fawell. The lights went out about ten o'clock and the bewildered guests found their wraps by the light of evanishing matches and a friendly candle or two. Before the lights went out, Mr. Gere congratulated the committee on bringing to Lincoln the best exhibit ever hung here. President F. M. Hall, thanked all those who had so promptly become members of the association and congratulated them on their discrimination. He reviewed the history of the Haydon Art club which had developed into this more comprehensive association. Chancellor Andrews expressed his appreciation of the really interesting exhibit and his hope that a strong art department might be developed in the University.

Mrs. F. A. Brown entertained a large number of her friends very pleasantly on Thursday afternoon, December twentieth. Large vases of pink and white carnations graced the mantels. Mrs. Brown was assisted by Mesdames Steckley and Scott. Those present were Mesdames Phillips, Field, Gardner, Scott, Kelllogg, O'Neill, Casebeer, Foster, Morse, Lawrence, Talbot, Usher, Bish, Miller, Stephenson, Steckley, Houtz, Lindly, Labr, Henry, Everts, Tilton, Walter Davis, Hill, Garten, Harting, Bignell, Ayers, Wells, Robbins, Blackburn, Wharton, B. Richards, Arnett, Reese, Tibbets, McCreey, Porter, R. C. Scott, Harpham, Plummer, Nelson, Doty, Berge, Kirker, Riser, Lee, Hoover, Garoutte, Burkett, Jones, Hamilton, Hutchins, Turner, J. C. Harpham, Revick, Watkins, Clarke, D. Lewis, F. Harris, Gilliam, Guenzel, Stull, Wright, Weir and Schwake; Misses Winifred Kelly, Tibbets and Lindly.

Reverend Reade of St. Theresa's pro-cathedral gave an elaborate dinner on Christmas night to the University students and ushers of the church. Graceful palms, ferns, holly and chandeliers covered with soft colors made the dining room look all the more attractive. The guests were Messrs. Mullen, McLaughlin, O'Gara, Barry, Sutton, Mahoney, Schoppe, Neville, Mikele, Bensing, F. W. Barry, O'Shea, Gabel, Rev. Bernard, Rev. Hayes and Rev. Reade.

Arthur Dobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Dobson, celebrated his eleventh birthday very pleasantly last Saturday afternoon. All of his little friends were invited and each was presented with a little gift from a Christmas tree in the centre of the table. Those present were Sarah Outcalt, Henry Burnham, Dorothy Watkins, Marion Watkins, May Dierks, Fred Dierks, Eunice Regnier, Ester Ferris, Frances Ferris, Bertha Snider, John Boyce, Chester Cook, Bessie Cook, John Walker, Rachel Baldwin, Dick Outcalt, John Nelson, Paul Ernst, Herbert Grainger, Earl Mosher, Cecil Randall and Paul Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Tibbets and Miss Tibbets gave a musical on Friday evening, December twenty first, which was enjoyed by a great many of their friends. Mrs. Tibbets was assisted in the drawing room by Mesdames Hill and Barbour, and Misses Howland and Haggard. The program:

Allegro vivace assai, fr. G major qr.—Mozart.

Cello solo—Gavotte, in D major—Popper; Charles Hagenow.

Declaration, The Mill—Fr op. 192, R. ff.

Aria—My Heart at Thy Dear Voice, fr. Samson and Delilah, Saint Saens; Miss Reynolds.

Andante Cantabile, fr. op. 11—Tchaikow-ky.

Violin solo—Capriccio Valse, Wieniawski; August Hagenow.

Canonetta—Victor Herbert; Traumeri, Schumann.

The Minor Chord—George F. Mager. Drinking Song, fr. Lucrecia Borgia, Donizetti.

Flow Gently, Sweet Afton—Old Scotch, Miss Reynolds.

Piano quartet—Scherzo, Reissiger.

A brilliant reception and dance was given by the Elks on Friday evening, December twenty first, at their new club rooms. The rooms are beautifully furnished and smilax and palms added to the splendor. The Elks in the receiving line were Messrs. and Mesdames George Fawell, Maushan, Bryan, D. E. Thompson, Funkhauser and Guenzel. Dancing chased the time until one o'clock.

Mrs. J. T. Leese entertained on Friday afternoon, December twenty first, in honor of Miss Mary R. Campbell, whose marriage to Dr. Major has lately been announced. Cards decorated in holly were given to the guests on which they wrote a greeting to Miss Campbell. As the guests departed they surprised Miss Campbell with many handsome gifts of linen.

The Four Fours club spent a delightful evening with Mr. and Mrs. Eites on Friday, December twenty first. Those present were, Messrs. and Mesdames Lloyd, Platt, Conford, Losey, Mawe, Weir and Bielefeldt; Misses Williams Thompson, Mrs. Reddish and Mr. Anterson.

Miss Mabel Richards entertained in honor of Miss Harley on Thursday. The guests were Mesdames H. H. Harley and C. Folsom; Misses Harley, Edna Harley, Clara Hammond, Heaton, Ellen Gere, Frances Gere and Ford of Des Moines, Iowa.

Mesdames Charles and Henry Mayer will entertain at cards Wednesday afternoon, January second, at Mrs. Van Brunt's home, 1635 H street.

Married, Miss Jessie C. Thompson,
