The table was entirely white save for the green ribbons and green candles, the flowers used being white carnations. Just before leaving on their wedding trip to St. Louis, Mrs. Patrick threw her bouquet of Beauties, which was caught by Miss Morse. Mr. and Mrs. Patrick will be gone ten days or two weeks, when they will take up their residence on the ranch near Nickerson, Nebr., though their friends hope to see them in Omaha frequently, where several homes are open to them at all times.

Mrs. Edmund Minor Fairfield has sent out cards for two days "at home" on the 17th and 24th.

Chancellor E Benjamin Andrews has promised Superintendent Carrol G. Pease that he will address the Omaha teachers some time in February or March.

The second of the series of cotillions came off a week ago at the Metropolitan Club and was carried through with a snap and a vim that made it a tremendous success. Mr. Dodge led, aided by Mrs. Lyman. Mrs. Lomax distributed the favors which were very pretty. Calendars with oriental heads in colors on them, china figures, dainty little French, facsimile pictures framed in black for the girls; and for the men, miniature lamp posts scaled by red and black devils, skull watch holders, ivory tipped pencils, and bunches of cigarettes. The cotillion opened with a march and as girls and men separated the former to the right and the latter to the left at the end of the hall, Mr. Dodge and Mrs. Lyman stood there each with a pack of cards, which they dealt out one to every girl and man as they passed. Then the matching of cards began which decided the matter of partners for the first three figures. There being several extra men those who drew the jokers of the pack danced "rover." The next change of partners was effected by blind-folding the men, placing them in a circle in the centre of the hall, the girls forming and moving in another circle around them till at the sound of the leader's whistle the girls stopped still and each man reached blindly out for a partner—if he didn't "peek" first. The third progression was made by forming a circle round the hall, the men each on one knee, while the girls waltzed in and out around them till the whistle sounded and whoever was found kneeling in front of them at the moment was the fortunate man and partner for the rest of the evening. A foot ball figure and a hurdle race with a rope made it lively for awhile. Among those who danced

Mr. and Mrs. Will Clark and daughter Gertrude, arrived at the Madison on Wednesday morning from Washington. Mr. Clark was on his way to San Francisco, where he sails on the Grant Wednesday for Manila, as assistant auditor of the Filipines. Mrs. Clark and daughter will remain here, expecting to join Mr. Clark next fall.

Mr. Clarence Thurston, who has been with the United States commission at the Paris exposition, sailed for America on the Friesland last Saturday and is expected here shortly. After a brief visit with his family.

Mrs. D. H. Wheeler, jr., will give a buffet luncheon for Mrs. E. M. Fairfield next Saturday, the 19th.

Mrs. Clement Chase gives a five o'clock tea next Wednesday for Mrs. E. M. Fairfield.—The Excelsior.

Died, Mr. Ezra Plummer aged ninety-five years on Wednesday morning at the home of his son Eli Plummer 2504 O street. The funeral was held yesterday and the body was interred in Wyuka cemetery.

Died: Sunday evening at half past six o'clock at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. Q. Bell, Mrs. Nancy Burlingim, of pneumonia. Three children survive the deceased—Mrs. Bell, Mr. W. E. Burlingim of Omaha and another daughter in Monmouth, Vermont. The funeral was held on Monday. Mrs. Bell took her mother's body back to Illinois.

Died: Ruth Alena Little, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Little. She was born in Lake Charles, Louisiana, January 12, 1802, and passed away last Friday, January 11, a few hours before her ninth birthday. She was a sufferer for six years with consumption of the spine, and during the last six months confined to her bed, but though constantly suffering was always thoughtful of others.

Died—At her home, 1601 Locust street on Wednesday night, Mrs. Lena Mann, wife of Mr. Fred Mann. Her infant died two days before the mother. She leaves two little daughters three and five years old. The tragedy of a mother's death who leaves two desolate and forever lonesome and despoiled little children is an awful mystery.

can procure space for women exhibitors, which is generally all given to manufacturers and large producers who have influence. The woman's building in Chicago was to have been used for administration, reception and official ceremonies, but as women were practically shut out of the exposition it was opened to their exhibits at the last moment, although in opposition to the first intention of the board.

"I would advise the women to see that the classification contains a class for 'decorated porcelain, china; pottery, tiles, etc., entirely apart from the class of 'pottery and china, either with or without decorations.'" This class should be placed in the liberal arts department, with embroidery on linen, silk, etc., etchings, book covers, etc., and thus give an opportunity to install good combined exhibitions of women's work all together.

The Missouri World's Fair committee, appointed at the Joplin meeting of the State Federation of clubs, consists of capable and experienced club women, well able to take charge of the work which devolves upon them. Their names follow:

Mrs. Julia E. Ellison, Kirksville.
Mrs. S. E. Woodstock, Kansas City.
Mrs. Luella St. Clair, Columbia.
Mrs. Elizabeth Rothwell, Moberly.
Mrs. Josephine A. Carey, Joplin.

The following preamble and resolutions were presented at the St. Louis Wednesday club's last meeting and unanimously carried:

"Whereas, The distinctive characteristic work of woman as woman, is of such a nature that it can not be represented in public exhibit; and

"Whereas, On the other hand, her work as a human being, that is, such work as she does in common with man, should be exhibited on equal terms with and judged by the same standards as his; and,

"Whereas, In such exhibits the best work of women is always associated with men, while it is only their less successful efforts which are classed as "woman's work;" and,

"Whereas, In social evolution progress is from separated interests to united interests, and in the evolution of the World's Fair progress is from men and women's exhibits to human exhibits; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the Wednesday club instruct its delegates to present to the conference at Kansas City the preceding preamble and the following resolutions for action in that body:

"Be it resolved, That the club woman of the Louisiana Purchase states petition the World's Fair legislative committee to so amend the pending World's Fair bill as to strike out such clauses as provide for a special woman's department; and be it further

"Resolved, That the Wednesday club instruct its delegates to vote for this resolution, and to urge them to use their full weight of influence on every possible occasion against the establishment of a separate department of woman's work."

The Stromsburg Woman's club held its last regular meeting Friday, December 29th, at the home of Mrs. A. M. Little. After the discussion of current events, the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. L. Johnson. There being no business to transact, the procedure of the lesson in American history was in order, the topics embracing the settlement of Connecticut, Georgia, the Carolinas, New Hampshire and the French Explorations of the West. After our study of four years in English history we decided to again review the history of our native land at this especially appropriate period when the last few years have been so productive in the making of history—a time when every loyal American should desire to be thoroughly conversant with the annals of his own country. Our club work has never been as interesting or fully profitable. We are now able to carefully appreciate the relation of cause and effect, in the progress of our country with those across the seas. In the six years' history of the club there has never been as great an interest manifested in its study departments. New and helpful members are being added who contribute cheerfully of their time and abilities to help make our organization one of the solid study clubs of the federation. A new social feature has been introduced this year which has proven very agreeable and profitable. Once a month some member entertains the club at an Open Meeting in which a program is rendered and light refreshments served by the hostess. Six outside ladies are invited each time in the name of the club. Two of these enjoyable afternoons have already been given at the home of Miss Coleman. The first, an Afternoon in Art, in which the old masters and their work were thoroughly reviewed. At the second meeting, Friday, January 4th, the club read and discussed the poem Evangeline which deals with the period of history previously passed. Music and singing concluded the pleasant hours and the guests and members express themselves as delighted with these entertaining and helpful afternoons. We become better acquainted and develop the social nature as well as the intellectual faculty; these combined constitute the true club idea. The next program, an Afternoon with American Poets, will be given this week.

The Twice-a-Week Republic.

Every Monday and Thursday a newspaper as good as a magazine—and better for it contains the latest by telegraph as well as interesting stories—is sent to the subscriber of the "Twice-a-Week" Republic, which is only $1.00 a year.

The man who reads the "Twice-a-Week" Republic knows all about affairs political, domestic and foreign; is posted about the markets and commercial matters generally.

The women who read the "Twice-a-Week" Republic gather a bit of valuable information about household affairs and late fashions and find recreation in the bright stories that come under both the heading of fact and fiction. There is gossip about new books and a dozen other topics of especial interest to the wide-awake man and woman.
