HEADQUARTERS FOR WOOD AND COAL
HUTCHINS & HYATT.

Monday evening. The porch was decorated with palms and sunflowers, and was furnished with rugs, pillows and divans. Punch was served during the evening and a two course luncheon also was served at eleven to the twenty-five guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Maxwell gave a most enjoyable party on Tuesday evening, complimentary to Miss Oakley and Mr. Clark. American beauty roses were used in both house and porch decorations. Refreshments were served on the porch, and music was furnished by Miss Oakley, Miss Hoover, Mr. Clark and Mr. Thatcher. The guests were Misses Oakley, Hoover, Burr, Mount of Omaha, Nance and Gahan; Messrs. Clark, Backus, Thatcher, Richards, Joyce, Montgomery, Powers, Fitzgerald, Armstrong, and Daugherty; Messrs and Mesdames Leonard, W. B. Wilson, Walter B. Hargreaves, Crittenden, Buckstaff, F. W. Brown, Yates, Fitzgerald, Irvine, Ladd, Lewis Marshall, McDonald; Mesdames Fitzgerald, Muir, Smyser, Griffith and Ashton of Grand Island.

Miss Oakley gave an elaborate breakfast to her bridal party and a few other friends on Wednesday. The house was lighted with green candles, and the table decorations were in green and white. Thirty-six guests were present. On Wednesday evening Mr. Clark entertained at dinner at the Lincoln. Here also the table decorations were in green and white. Twenty-four guests were present on this occasion.

The merchants of the city have arranged for a complimentary concert by the Pawnee City military band, to be given at the auditorium Tuesday evening. No admission will be charged, but tickets will be in the hands of those who subscribe to the fund, for distribution to the patrons. Pawnee City sends to Lincoln the oldest and probably the strongest amateur musical organization in the west. The instrumentation will be forty pieces, including the reed sections so much admired in the great bands of Innes and Sousa. A program of a very high standard is promised, and the citizens of Lincoln are to be congratulated on the opportunity of hearing this popular Nebraska band under such favorable circumstances.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Hussong and Miss Margaret Hallett spent Sunday at Milford with Mr. and Mrs. E. Hallett and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Lahr, who are camping at that place.

Mrs. Henry E. Lewis entertained Monday evening at five o'clock tea for her daughter, Miss Edith. The table was set on the lawn, which was enclosed with canvas. The following were the invited guests: Mrs. John S. Reed, Miss es Garten, Welch, Honeywell, Hamilton, Belle Hamilton, Webster, Polk, Mulligan, Watkins, Cochrane, Richards, Outcalt, Burnham, Abbott of Grand Island and Bowen of Omaha.

If you are a man and it is too hot or too far to go home to lunch, don't starve yourself and don't eat a cold lunch,—go to the Palace Dining Hall, 1130 N street, where you can get a hot meal, well cooked and well served, for 25c. If you are a woman and your cook leaves you without notice, don't despair; take your family to the Palace Dining Hall. Sunday dinners a specialty.

Miss Stuart and Miss Melinda Stuart entertained informally on Friday evening in honor of Miss Ashmun of Atchison and of Mr. C. F. Steckelberg. Progressive games furnished the entertainment, and after refreshments were served several musical numbers for violin and piano were acceptably rendered by Miss Stuart and Mr. Sieckelberg. Those present were Misses Turner, Henry, Gladys Henry, Ashmun, Marshall, Risser, Houtz, Richards, Thomas, Burruss, Bess Burruss, Morrill, Stuart, Melinda Stuart; Messrs. Rickett, Edmiston, Henry, Barber, Mudge, Kimball, Wehn, Funke, Bartlett, Andrews, Steckelberg, Cook, Stuart and Dr. Orr.

Miss Emma Hedges entertained about thirty members of the Young Women's Christian Association on Thursday evening with a trolley ride ending with a watermelon party at her home at Thirty-fourth and Q streets. The large lawn was decorated with Japanese lanterns, and supplied with seats, rugs and hammocks. The evening was spent in playing games.
