Pink ices and wafers were served upstairs in a room decorated with pink roses by Miss Pauline Burkitt of Cleveland, assisted by Miss Nolan of St. Louis and Misses Putnam, Cochrane, Hollowbush and Gahan. The reception was followed by an informal dance.

Miss Clara Walsh has returned from Europe, where she has spent the last eighteen months in traveling and in visiting the art galleries of Spain, France, Italy and Germany. She also studied with several well known artists in Paris, and was honored last summer by having one of her pictures hung in the Paris salon. This picture which is entitled "La Jeune Fille," is a portrait of an Italian girl. Another painting of Miss Walsh's which was greatly admired is a portrait of a young girl looking down at a cent which she holds on her open palm. This picture is called "Le Petit Sous." Many other beautiful paintings which give evidence of the true artist nature were brought home by Miss Walsh, some of which are taken from nature, and some are reproductions of the masterpieces of earlier artists.

Ladies who are planning to attend the state federation of Women's clubs at Wayne next week can leave Lincoln over the Elkhorn at 7 A. M., change cars at Fremont and arrive at Norfolk at 12:05. Dinner may be procured there and at 12:50 another train will leave for Wayne, arriving at two o'clock in the afternoon. It is possible to leave Lincoln at 1:45 in the afternoon, arriving at Norfolk at 7:20 in the evening. There will be no train out until 6:30 in the morning, arriving at Wayne an hour later. Returning, one can leave Wayne at 6:40 in the evening, remain all night at Norfolk, leave at 6:20 the next morning and arrive in Lincoln at 10:35 A. M. Another train leaves Wayne at 9:40 in the morning and reaches Lincoln at 6:05 in the evening. This gives nearly two hours for dinner at Norfolk.

Miss Ruth Bryan gave a dinner on Friday evening in honor of the pledged members of Delta Gamma, also to celebrate her sixteenth birthday. The members of Delta Gamma planned to initiate the pledges on this occasion and interrupt the dinner, but Miss Bryan very cleverly outwitted any interruption of the dinner by issuing the invitations for seven o'clock and privately informing the guests that the time was really six. When the members of the initiation arrived at seven o'clock the guests were securely sipping their after-dinner coffee and were quite ready to be initiated. Six young gentlemen were guests with the six pledges.

Miss Edna Bullock, who was recently elected secretary of the Nebraska library commission, is seriously ill with typhoid fever at Olympia, Washington. The crisis of the disease is now passed, however, and it is probable that Miss Bullock will be able to enter upon her duties in November.

Organ Recital.

On last Friday evening at the University chapel Mr. John E. Butler, organist of Trinity cathedral, gave an organ recital. Although the organ is badly out of repair and squeaks atrociously, Mr. Butler's technique and musical taste conquered, and the evening was one of unusual enjoyment to the large number of musicians present. The organ is the most solemn instrument there is. If there were no churches the moment a master's hand touched the keys which sends the air rushing through the big reeds everybody who heard would immediately begin to think of very solemn things: religion, death, resurrection, and be moved by unnamed depths of feeling.

A large organ holds a note and lets go of it reluctantly, and thus is peculiarly fitted to hymns and the solemn tunes whose movement is slow. For this reason it is somewhat difficult to interest a large number of people in organ music.

Mr. Butler's reputation and a public which Mrs. P. V. M. Raymond has educated into an appreciation of the possibilities of organ music filled the lower floor of the large university chapel. Chopin's Funeral March was orchestrally impressive. This magnificent march which begins with tones of stricken, hopeless dejection and rises to a paean of triumph over the grave and mortality, Mr. Butler played with a deep conviction of Chopin's meaning. The March Militaire was interpreted with the precision, sureness and brilliancy characteristic of this musician's work. Miss Turner, who has a voice of great power and sweetness, sang "To Sevilla" and "With Verdure Clad." She was recalled twice and sang very artistically and with much musical feeling "Loch Lomond" and an April song.

Mr. Butler plays the piano as well as he does the organ, which, in an organist, is a rare accomplishment. Persons with no taste in particular and no education in particular listen to his interpretations of Schumann, Schubert, Beethoven and Chopin with a pleasure and profit directly the result of the interpreter's sympathy and knowledge. As a composer Mr. Butler is not without distinction, and he renders his improvisations with the added fervor always inherent in the creations of one's own mind. The program is appended:

- Prelude and Fugue.....J. S. Bach
- Vorspiel to Lohengrin.....Wagner
- To Sevilla.....J. Dessauer
- Miss Bessie Turner.
- Overture, Semiramide.....Rossini
- Intermezzo, Forget-me-not...Macbeth
- March Funebre.....Chopin
- Stars.....Franco Leoni
- Miss Bessie Turner.
- Pilgrim's Chorus.....Wagner
- March Militaire.....Gounod-Archer
- Les Preludes.....Liszt
- Mr. J. E. Butler.
- Miss Anne Stuart, accompanist.
