BENJAMIN F. BAILEY, M. D.

Benjamin F. Bailey, M. D., has been for fifteen years one of the best known physicians in Lincoln. In addition to his large practice he is a prime mover in the Sanitorium company located at Normal, is president of the state board of health and also president of the American Institute of Homeopathy. Besides these positions he has been at the head of the state homeopathic association.

He was born in Littleton, N. H., under the shadow of the White mountains. After a thorough academic preparation he graduated from Hahnemann Medical college in 1881.

He soon had a lucrative practice in Manchester, N. H., but threatened pulmonary troubles drove him westward and he settled in Lincoln fifteen years ago. He soon formed a wide acquaintance and quickly became popular in social circles. Friends he attracts in great numbers on account of his cultured manners and loyalty to acquaintances.

In his profession Dr. Bailey takes high rank. He has been the head of the state homeopathic society and is at present president of the American Institute, the national organization.

He presided at the fifty-fifth annual session held at Atlantic City June 20 to 24 of last year. The attendance was large and the meeting was the most successful one in the history of the organization.

Dr. Bailey is the youngest man that ever held the Institute presidency and it may also be remarked that he is the first presiding officer chosen from the region west of the Mississippi.
